Italians Enraged By Massacre Of Airmen In Congo

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In Rome today Communist and right-wing deputies brawled in parliament over the massacre of 13 Italian airmen by Congo troops. Students demonstrated outside against the "Communist-supported cannibals."

Deputies of the MSI neo-Fascist party demanded that the government smash into The Congo on its own with force to find and wipe out the "cannibals" they said were supported by pro-Communist Antoine Gigenza, political heir to Patrice Lumumba. In the senate, Vincenzo Menghi, one of Premier Antonio Fanfani's Christian Democratic Party members, suggested the United Nations "occupy all the territory of The Congo and expel native and foreign political intriguers."

There was bitter denunciation of the 200 Malayan U.N. troops in Kindu who did nothing to prevent the Italian's slaughter. (By coincidence, Malay Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman passed through Rome by air en route to London. He said he was "shocked" by the massacre.)

In The Congo, U.N. troops took action today by sealing air fields around Kindu to cut off any possible escape for mutinous Congolese soldiers who massacred 13 Italian airmen there on a mercy mission.

Only United Nations planes, flying Malayan reinforcements into the area, were allowed use of the fields, a U.N. spokesman said.

In Leopoldville, the United Nations named Lt: Col. Bengt Lindeblad of Sweden, Lt. Col. Nil Borchgrevink of Norway and Alec Duncan-Smith of Britain to begin an investigation into the slaughter. The Congolese central government also will assign men to the joint investigation.

The United Nations rushed fresh Malayan troops to reinforce the 200-man Malayan garrison at Kindu under orders from acting Secretary-General Thant in New York.

RAYBURN SERVICES TOMORROW

President To Attend Rites For Speaker

BONHAM, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds paid their respects to House Speaker Sam Rayburn today, filing through the library named for him where his body lies in state.

Rayburn died of cancer yesterday in modest Risser Hospital here.

The speaker was dressed today in a dark blue suit. The casket was open.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be President John F. Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, both of whom will attend the funeral set for tomorrow afternoon.

PALLBEARERS

The active pallbearers will be John Holton, a Rayburn administrative assistant; Choice Moore, Fannin County judge; Buster Cole, Rayburn's legal representative; Dr. Joe A. Risser, his personal physician in Bonham; H. G. Dulaney, an administrative assistant who also is in charge of the Rayburn Library; and Robert West, a close friend from nearby Honey Grove.

Honorary pallbearers in addition to Kennedy and Johnson are Rayburn's staff; the Risser Hospital staff; some members of the House and Senate, and Dallas physicians Robert Short Jr., Ralph Tompsett, George Balla and Harold Kimmerling.

The funeral service will be heard by about 1,000 people.

(The Rayburn funeral service will be televised, and presented in the Bay Area on stations KRON (Channel 4) from 11:15 a.m. to 2 p.m., and KPIX (Channel 5) from 2:30 p.m. to 3:15 p.m.)

AT LIBRARY

Conducting the service will be Elder H. G. Ball, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church at nearby Tioga, Tex., which Rayburn joined a few years ago. The Rev. Bernard Braskamp, chaplain of the U.S. House of Representatives, will assist.

The body will lie in state, with the casket open, from 9 a.m. today until 9 a.m. tomorrow in the white marble Sam Rayburn Library.

Burial will be at Willow Wild Cemetery, three-quarters of a

Sub-Freezing Weather Hits Across County

Freezing weather hit Marin last night.

The temperature at the county fire station in Woodacre dropped to 19¾ degrees early today — the coldest reading since last February. It was the coldest point reported in the Bay Area.

Sub-freezing temperatures were reported in virtually all parts of the county.

The county agricultural commissioner's office reported some damage to some plants would almost certainly result from a freeze so soon after weather which saw thermometer readings in the 70s as recently as Tuesday. Mrs. Harold Donahoo of 56 Clayton Street in San Rafael's Bret Harte district reported her flowers killed by frost. The thermometer outside her home recorded 29 degrees at 8:20 a.m., she said.

Water spilling from fire hoses turned to ice as county firemen fought a blaze that destroyed a home in Lagunitas last night.

Thomas S. West reported two inches of ice on a bird bath in his yard at 411 Maple Street, Tamalpais Valley, this morning. He said the mercury there dropped to 23 degrees at 4:30 a.m.

Frank Garcia of 19 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia, said his thermometer recorded a low of 19 degrees. John J. Niebauer recorded 29 degrees in the Chevy Chase district of Larkspur.

Minimum readings recorded at fire houses and city halls around the county included 34 in San Rafael, 26 in Novato, 28 at Hamilton Air Force Base, 30 in Alto, 31 in Tamalpais Valley and San Anselmo, 32 in Fairfax and Belvedere, and 38 in Sausalito.

In a freak quirk of the weather, it was warm atop Mount Tamalpais while the valleys shivered. Art McKay, at the fire lookout station atop the mountain, reported the reading there was 43 degrees at 3 a.m.

A storm moving inland north of Marin tonight should break the cold snap, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted.

Water Study Of Eel River Is Promised

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Federal Bureau of Reclamation agreed yesterday to study possibility of bringing water to Marin and other North Bay counties from the Eel River on California's North Coast.

Patrick Head, bureau regional development project engineer, told a meeting of state and county officials "we will immediately, as of today, get under way" to include the North Bay counties in the current Eel River studies.

But he warned that if a pending report on the state's North Bay Aqueduct proved to be so complete as to eliminate the necessity of further study, the bureau would halt its work.

John M. Healey, chief of the northern branch of the State Department of Water Resources, told the 35 persons present, that the latest North Bay Aqueduct report is completed, but has not yet been reviewed and approved by the department director.

"We had hoped to meet with him tonight," Head said, "but he was called out of town and the meeting was postponed. We hope to complete the re-

MARIN TARS HAVE CHANCE FOR 2ND CUP

The College of Marin Tars tonight at Kentfield have a chance to capture second place in the 1961 Golden Valley Conference.

Coach Dick Read's Tars are now tied with Shasta Yuba College (2-2-1) for second place in the conference. Marin, by beating American River Junior College tonight and Shasta losing to first place Sierra College tonight, can capture runner-up spot.

San Jose May Guarantee School Jobs

San Jose Elementary School District trustees may decide to extend contracts of two of the district's administrators to guarantee their jobs in case of unification with Novato School District in next Tuesday's election.

The Novato board at a special meeting Wednesday night extended for two years the contracts of Supt. W. J. J. Smith and his two top assistants, with the extension contingent on passage of unification. Vote for the extension was recorded as unanimous. All three contracts were to expire next June 30.

Mrs. Jean Ansley, clerk of the San Jose District board, said yesterday she thought that board would take similar action on the contracts of Duane Moeller, thed istrict's assistant superintendent in charge of business services, and Miss Robin Briscoe, director of curriculum.

Both are on one-year contracts expiring next June 30.

"We owe them an extension

YOU CAN SURVIVE

What City Dweller Can Do In Attack

(Tenth in a series)

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Big cities probably are prime targets of nuclear attack.

Any city could be hit, with an aiming error of perhaps only a few miles in placing a rocket warhead in the heart of a metropolis.

The aiming errors, defense actions such as interceptor missiles, and other variables could keep the center of a city from being hit, with a suburb taking the full brunt. This is unpredictable.

With proper defense, most city dwellers and workers could be saved. Our cities are vulnerable right now because shamefully little has been done. City dwellers should be demanding action quickly, and taking individual steps to protect themselves.

Some cities have designated public shelters in basements or other areas of large public and office buildings, or factories. But few if any are yet stocked with necessary provisions to sit out the period of intense fallout.

Indeed, survey to locate the best shelter areas are still being planned, rather than long ago accomplished.

A few firms or companies have taken the initiative, and shown what is possible. For example, one company with 3,500 employes has prepared shelters in its buildings and stocked them at a cost of about $3.50 per employee.

At the University of California at Los Angeles, in two days we mapped the campus

Skipper Of Lost Boat Takes Life In Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—The skipper of a luxury sail boat that went down mysteriously Sunday night during a Bahama squall killed himself today just 24 hours after the only other known survivor of the sinking was found. (See also Storm, page 4.)

The body of 45-year-old Capt. Julian Harvey was discovered in a motel room. He had slit his arms, wrists and throat with a razor.

Besides Harvey, the only other known survivor of the sinking of the ketch Blue Bell is 11-year-old Terry Jo Duperrault of Green Bay, Wis.

She was picked up yesterday by a passing freighter and rushed by helicopter to a Miami hospital, where she is recuperating from severe shock and exposure.

Miami police said Harvey left a two-page note that did not make any reference to the yachting incident. It was addressed to a personal friend and dealt with financial arrangements and arrangements for taking care of Harvey's son, a student at a military academy here.

Blaze Leaves Family Of Six Without Home

A Lagunitas home was destroyed by fire last night while its occupants attended church services.

Freezing weather turned water from the fire hoses to ice as Marin County firemen battled the blaze in the residence of G. L. Sperry, a building contractor, on Spring Avenue near Lagunitas Road.

Firemen, called by a neighbor at 8:51 p.m., found the frame residence completely enveloped by flames.

Besides the cold, lack of nearby water supply hampered their battle against the fire. For six hours, they relayed water 2,000 feet from the nearest hydrant on Lagunitas Road to stop the spread of flames to neighboring homes.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Sperry and their four children were attending church services at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Fairfax, firemen reported.

They returned to find their home only smouldering ruins. Neighbors took them in for the night.

Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley estimated damage at $15,000. He said the blaze apparently spread from a fire left unattended in the fireplace when the family left for the church meeting at 7:15 p.m.

Non-Scheduled Airlines Need New Clearance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ruled today that all non-scheduled airlines must be cleared by the U.S. military air transport service before they carry troops in this country.

To assure maximum safety, McNamara ordered the Transport Service to investigate the non-scheduled airlines' financial and other capabilities.

The order grew out of the Nov. 8 crash at Richmond, Va., in which 74 recruits were killed in a non-scheduled carrier.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today announced the arrest of two more West German tourists and said they will be tried for spying for the United States.

Three days ago the Soviet announced arrest on espionage charges of two other West German tourists. They also were accused of working for the United States.

Official Says Truck, Rails In Competition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former Illinois trucking official supports Southern Pacific's contention that trucks are the great source of competition to railroads.

R. Garrett Phillips, an S.P. witness, told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing yesterday 53 per cent of truck traffic is unregulated and about half of it illegal.

Phillips, one time chief law enforcement officer of the motor carrier division of the Illinois Commerce Commission, estimated one in four trucks engage in activities designed to evade the law.

"The unregulated motor carrier," he said, "is rapidly becoming the greatest single source of competition not only to railroads but to regulated for-hire motor carriers."

S.P. and Santa Fe are seeking control of Western Pacific Railroad at the ICC hearings.

No Shelter

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kenney, brother of the president, has no family fallout shelter.

At a news conference yesterday night, he said he plans no shelter until a federal policy is established leading toward shelters for everyone.

"Until then," he said, "I'm going to wait."

U.S. Must Maintain Strength, JFK Says

SEATTLE (AP)—President John F. Kennedy says the United States must be willing to negotiate cold war issues from a position of strength. To preach either war or surrender, he says, does a disservice to the nation.

As the Western Allies, including West Germany, renew efforts to unify their stand toward the Soviet Union, Kennedy yesterday made clear these views:

To encourage "appeasement or war, suicide or surrender," will divide the nation, create uncertainty among allies and inspire doubt in the Communist bloc of the West's readiness to defend its rights.

"The United States cannot impose its will on others," he said. "There cannot be an American solution for every world problem."

The United States will never negotiate merely for the sake of negotiation, nor will it ever subject freedom to negotiation. But so long as vital interests and goals are clear, "we have nothing to fear from negotiations at the appropriate time and nothing to gain by refusing to play a part in them."

Talking out East-West disputes will succeed only if each side can find success in the result. In effect, neither side can expect total victory.

Although the French and others may see weakness in taking the initiative in bargaining with Moscow, "this nation cannot abdicate to its adversaries," the setting and conditions of negotiations.

Kennedy addressed 11,000 faculty members, students and guests at the University of Washington's 100th anniversary convocation.

62 Hurt At Crossing

BEECH, Iowa (UPI) — A speeding Rock Island "Twin Star Rocket" passenger train slammed into a road grader at an unmarked crossing late yesterday, injuring 62 persons, one critically.

Most seriously hurt was a passenger aboard the Houston to Minneapolis train, Henry Fox of Topeka who was in critical condition at a Des Moines hospital.

The driver of the road grader, Lyle Wellons, 58, Hartfort, Iowa, was in serious condition at the same hospital. Wellons lost part of his right leg in a similar accident 10 years ago when his grader was struck by a Rock Island freight train at another nearby crossing.

Capsule Recovered

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States recovered its 10th space capsule yesterday over tiny Tern Island, northwest of Hawaii.

The 300-pound, gold-plated capsule was snagged in the air as it parachuted from space after 18 trips around the world. A C-130 cargo plane, piloted by Capt. James McCullough made the catch at 13,000 feet.

Air Force officers said the kettle-shaped capsule contained a number of biological and radiation sampling experiments and solor cells to test the efficiency of them as a power source in space.

Land Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The unsuspecting land buyer may end up with a subdivision he has never seen in the path of a Hawaiian volcano, a California official warns.

The charge was made yesterday at the opening session of a two-day legislative hearing into alleged unsavory out-of-state land promotions.

Donald McClure, assistant state real estate commissioner, said that some properties for sale in Hawaii were located on lava waste lands. He mentioned subdivisions near the village of Kapoho which was covered by lava in a 1960 eruption.

Storms Spread

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, rain and strong winds spread across northern sections of the nation today from the Plateau region to the Atlantic Coast.

The first heavy snowstorm of the season which hit the Midwest region yesterday moved northeastward and was centered over the Georgian Bay area of Lake Huron.

Snows tapered off in most Western and Midwest areas but it was cold in most sections. Snow falls measured about six inches in Michigan and Minnesota, and four inches in Iowa and Wisconsin. Damaging rains preceded the snow in some areas.

Loses Alimony

LONDON (UPI) — Marjorie Hartford, a former cigarette girl who married the heir to the A&P food store millions, has traded a $58,800-a-year alimony income for a second husband.

The 31-year-old former wife of millionaire Huntington Hartford married actor Dudley Sutton, 28, in a civil ceremony here yesterday.

Thus she lost Hartford's annual allowance. Presumably, she still has the $280,000 cash settlement he gave her when their marriage was dissolved last February.

Still No Crab

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crab fishermen, in a price dispute with wholesale buyers, kept their boats in port for the fourth straight day yesterday.

Retail merchants and restaurateurs along crabless Fishermen's Wharf offered to pay the fishermen 30 cents a pound —five more than they are asking—to bypass wholesalers, who are offering 18 cents a pound.

But representatives of the Crab Boat Owners Assn. declined.

Fish have been kept in captivity since at least 2500 B.C. when the Sumerians maintained them in ponds for food.

Girl Plucked From Atlantic Life Raft Gaining After 81 Hour Ordeal

MIAMI (UPI) — A Blonde 11-year-old girl plucked from a life raft after 81 hours adrift in the open Atlantic gained dramatically today in her fight to recover from the experience.

A relative of the girl, Terry Jo Duperrault, said the brown-eyed child was recovering from the effects of shock and exposure and hospital authorities said she had been removed from the critical list.

The Coast Guard today ordered a formal investigation of the incident while Coast Guard ships and planes searched for more survivors of the 60-foot ketch Blue Bell that burned and sank last Sunday night.

Terry Jo's mother, father and brother still are missing along with the wife of the yacht's skipper. The child was plucked from her white cork life raft by crewmen of a passing freighter.

Lt. Ernest Murdock, who was appointed investigating officer, said a formal inquiry was decided on after a preliminary hearing yesterday. He said testimony would begin about Nov. 27.

The Coast Guard cutters and two planes were searching an area about 120 miles east-northeast of Miami for traces of the yacht or its passengers. They had found nothing by midmorning.

Still missing were Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Duperrault of Green Bay, Wis., Terry Jo's parents; a brother, Brian, 14, and Mrs. Mary Dene Harvey, 34, wife of Blue Bell captain Julian Harvey, 45, of Fort Lauderdale.

Harvey, thought until yesterday to be the only survivor of the ketch, was picked up Monday by a tanker about 25 miles from where Terry Jo was found. With Harvey was the body of a girl at first believed to be Terry Jo. Apparently it was her sister, Rene, 7.

Terry Jo, hoisted in a basket from the deck of the freighter Captain Theo into a Coast Guard helicopter and flown to a Miami hospital.

"She is serious, but I think she will make it. I think she will live," said Dr. Verdon. But he said is probably would be some time today before physicians had a clear idea of her condition.

The girl asked once for orange juice, and roused again later in the day to talk briefly with an attorney for her Wisconsin relatives.

But the attorney, who would not reveal his name for publication, refused to disclose what she had said.

It wasn't known whether Terry Jo knew the fate of her parents, or knew they were still missing.

That's what you are usually doing when you buy insurance on price. We doubt if you are really saving any money.

We never recommend any insurance to our clients on price—the first requirement is proper coverage and then we will obtain it for the lowest possible premium.

Be sure you have the correct coverage—home or business. You have heard of the fellow who had a loss and thought he was covered.

Why not let us make a survey of your insurance needs—absolutely no obligation to you.

Minuteman Is Success In Underground Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —With a swirl of fire and smoke, an intercontinental-range Minuteman missile scored its first underground launching success today. The rocket vaulted from a 90-foot pit and raced to a target area about 3,000 miles away.

The success, announced by the Air Force, advanced the day when hundreds of Minutemen will be planted in underground silos capable of surviving nuclear attack.

A rush of fire and smoke erupted from the steel and concrete hole as the missile's powerful engines ignited.

The 58-foot projectile cleared the pit in two seconds, quickly darted through the smoke clouds and pitched toward the southeast.

The second and third stages fired as planned and propelled the nose cone into a broad bull's-eye area in the Atlantic. Pinpoint accuracy was not a goal on this first successful silo firing.

The good flight signals a set-up in the Minuteman test flight program, with several more firings scheduled before the end of the year.

The Air Force needed a successful flight to make up for time lost when a Minuteman exploded seconds after the missile's first silo launching on Aug. 30.

Marshall was elected president of the group at a dinner meeting at the Gibson House in Bolinas this week. He is vice president this year.

He will succeed Don DeWolfe, editor-publisher of the weekly Baywood Press at Point Reyes Station, in the presidency.

Mrs. Emma K. Benevenga of Five Points was elected vice president; Mrs. Harriet M. Greene of Stinson Beach was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The new officers will be installed in January.

City Dweller Has Chance To Survive

for basement areas capable of accommodating about 25,000 persons, enough room for the students and faculty and personnel.

We estimate we can stock it with all necessary supplies, including a basic powdered multipurpose food which needs only addition of water, for $1 per person.

Many city buildings, factories and apartments have basement areas which could be quickly prepared to care for residents, workers and visitors.

Apartment dwellers, on their own or with the aid of the landlord can set up fallout shelters within their buildings.

Subways offer huge shelter areas for many thousands of persons, particularly in New York. Storms drains, and any tunnels, are other possibilities.

Some countries, notably Sweden and Denmark, have been developing efficient fallout and anti-blast protection shelters for some time.

In Sweden, H-bomb shelters are required in the center of every city over 50,000 population, according to reports to the House Committee on Government Operations. In Denmark, some underground garages are prepared as shelter areas.

City residents in many blocks could band together to build and supply buried community shelters, such as were described in the previous article.

Would tall buildings and skyscrapers come tumbling down, perhaps trapping people in basement shelters? Yes, under a direct hit, or possibly for some distances beyond.

But reinforced concrete buildings such as these are strong, and many could withstand blast effects. In Hiroshima a concrete building directly underneath the A-bomb withstood the blast and was essentially intact, while frame buildings were blown down over great distances.

For fallout protection alone, tall buildings offer excellent protection in middle floors, and interior areas or corridors. There, the radiation from fallout would be blocked by the concrete structures above and below.

Evacuating a big city is not the answer, unless there was advance warning of a couple of days. Colossal traffic jams otherwise could lead to serious problems or loss of life.

Planning for apartment dwellers has lagged as badly as planning and preparation of shelters in schools. Tenants could take the lead in insisting on shelter provision, and might even contribute toward community shelters. The costs run about $100 per person with fifty or more people per shelter.

Some apartments have inner corridors or spaces offering some protection due to distance and intervening walls from the exterior walls or roof. Staying there for 48 hours could reduce the exposure somewhat but such shelter is very seldom adequate.

Otherwise there seems little choice for many except closets, or improvised shelters with "walls" of books of any available material. Going to shelters in offices or public buildings might be a wiser course.

Adenauer Asks Nuclear Authority For NATO

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must be given authority to order retaliation with U.S. nuclear weapons assigned to its members —a power now held solely by President John F. Kennedy.

Adenauer told a news conference yesterday the West must enter into any negotiations with the Soviet Union from the strongest of bargaining positions. That, he said, called for strengthening of NATO military forces to permit them to wage nuclear warfare without White House clearance.

"I base this on an expert opinion by Gen. Adolph Heusinger who said that one hour may decide our fate and that the president may not be reachable to make a decision," Adenauer said. Heusinger, former chief of staff of West German armed forces, became chairman of the permanent NATO military committee last April.

At present, NATO has nuclear weapons on the European continent, but they are under exclusive U.S. control. Changes would be required in the U.S. Atomic Energy Act before the custody of the nuclear warheads could be shared with other nations.

Adenauer said that U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, "submitted a plan in September, 1960, to the previous administration but because of the elections it was not acted upon."

"As far as I know that plan now is before Kennedy," he added.

Norstad proposed to the annual meeting of the NATO parliamentarians' conference last November that "there should be a basic pool of atomic weapons with an equal voice in control of those weapons."

Korean Returning —'Encouraged'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Chung Hee Park of the South Korean military government said today he would return to Korea "immensely encouraged . . . that the United States stands squarely behind us."

Park spoke at a ceremony at National Airport shortly before boarding a U.S. Air Force plane with his party for New York.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk headed the American delegation at the formal military departure ceremony.

Larkspur Man In Hurricane Is 'Critical'

Edward Karpa, 49, of 328 William Avenue, Larkspur, caught in a hurricane in Belize, British Honduras, on Oct. 31, was last reported in "most critical condition" in a Navy hospital in Belize.

A letter was received Monday by his wife from son Daniel, 15, who was also caught in the hurricane but not injured. Karpa became ill the day the hurricane struck.

Daughter Alecia, 18, was also in a small community near Belize during the hurricane. She could not locate her father and brother after a five-day search. She then returned to the Larkspur home. The son later wrote that he and his father had survived the hurricane.

Seaton Joins Race For Governor Of Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Former Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton today became a candidate for governor of Nebraska.

Seaton became the second member of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's cabinet to seek a governorship. Former Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell lost earlier this month in a bid for governor of New Jersey.

Mother Out On Bail In Dope Ring Case

Mrs. Pauline Herrera, 31, Los Angeles brunette accused of heading a three-woman dope ring that supplied $18,000 worth of heroin to San Quentin inmates, was freed yesterday on $5,250 bail.

Inspector Donald E. Midyett of the Marin district attorney's office, who arrested her Wednesday and was ready to bring her to Marin yesterday, said she suddenly posted bail in Los Angeles. She is now scheduled to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Herrera is the mother of a 6-year-old boy and a 4-year-old girl. Her husband, Jesse, works as truck driver for a soft drink plant. She works for a plastics and rubber company in Los Angeles.

Inspector Midyett and state narcotics agents Major McBee and Steve Armenta closed in on her home Wednesday but found no narcotics there. "She denies everything," said Midyett.

A pretty blonde from Oakland, suspected as one of the couriers of Mrs. Herrera, appeared with a lawyer in Marin Municipal Court yesterday. Anne Marie Kellam, 25, won a continuance until Nov. 30. Her attorney, Louise Bernheim of Richmond, described her client as "just a minor cog in this thing."

Mrs. Kellam's husband, Albert G. Kellam, 24, is an inmate at San Quentin serving a six-month to 10-year term for forging narcotics prescriptions. However, he was not among the six inmates who have been accused of conspiracy in the dope smuggling operation.

A third accused woman, whom police want to question further, is Mrs. Marie Frances Hall, 47, of Hayward, mother of San Quentin inmate Thomas Devers, 24. Devers, serving time for receiving stolen goods, is one of the six convicts held in isolation as alleged members of the dope ring.

Mrs. Hall has hired a San Francisco attorney and is scheduled to surrender herself in San Rafael today, Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety disclosed. The D.A. said he got a telephone call from the woman's attorney, S. L. Ellison, who promised to bring her in to the courthouse this afternoon.

San Quentin officials said six ounces of heroin, in addition to marijuana and peyote, trickled into prison since the ring began operations about seven months ago.

MARINES REHEARSE MANEUVER

Despite the cancellation of President John F. Kennedy's plans to view Navy and Marine maneuvers tomorrow, a full-scale rehearsal of a Marine unit landing was staged as scheduled yesterday at Camp Pendleton. One of the more spectacular demonstrations was this simulated nuclear explosion—note Marines crouched in foreground. Kennedy is going to Texas for the funeral of Sam Rayburn and may view the Marine action Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Long Race Is Over For Oldtime Inmate

Henry Worth, known for many years in San Quentin Prison for his optimism and his exploits each year in the "Little Olympics" within the walls, has received release in death after 36 years behind bars, the San Quentin News disclosed this month. He was about 84.

Each year until failing health caused his transfer to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville in 1957, he ran the 50-yard dash against other men over 50 in San Quentin's "Little Olympics."

"His competitive spirit never faded," said an account in the inmate publication, "though the speed in his legs declined . . .He never failed to finish a race."

Records on Worth have been sent on from the prison and the medical facility to the archives in the State Department of Corrections in Sacramento.

There James Fitzgerald, public information officer for the department, delved into a file he said was "eight inches thick."

Worth was received at San Quentin on June 30, 1925, for first degree murder.

He was arrested for the fatal shooting on Jan. 10, 1925, of Thomas Carl in a cabin on the Butcher Ranch in Placer County. A friend of Worth's had been involved in a feud with Carl. Worth accompanied the friend to Carl's cabin and shot the victim three times with a .45 caliber pistol.

"Worth seemed to have no personal interest, no motive," said the deputy district attorney who handled the case.

Worth was in San Quentin from 1925 to 1950 when he was removed to Vacaville. He was returned to San Quentin in 1955—then two years later returned to Vacaville. There on Oct. 12 he died.

He told deputies at the time of his arrest he "thought" he was born about 1877 in Kansas.

He styled himself a civil engineer—"and a trapper on the side."

"We shall never forget some of his philosophy of life," said the article in the inmate newspaper. "It helped us do our time a little easier."

It didn't grow under glass

That's a lot of advertising space in the Independent-Journal. But the real measurement is not in its size but in its sales-power. It grows only because it "grows" results for advertisers. And this comes only from readership.

Your advertising works in the I-J because it lives in the warm and inviting climate of news and editorial, sports and entertainment—within the wanted world of the newspaper itself. Research shows that 2 out of every 3 Marin households take the I-J (some 92% more circulation in Marin County than the S.F. Chronicle, for instance).

But readers don't just "take" the I-J. They prefer it to all other daily newspapers circulated in Marin County on these four basic counts:

1. Readers spend the most time with the I-J.
2. Find it most often has useful advertising.
3. Turn to the I-J for retail and clothing store ads.
4. Rely on the I-J for food store advertising 42 to 1 over other newspapers.

The real advertising space we offer you, then, is the most valuable kind of all—the interested eye of the reader. It explains everything about growth —both yours and ours.

Negro Member Dispute Splits Yacht Club

The exclusive ranks of bay yachting—and of the board of directors of the Sausalito Yacht Club in particular—were sundered today in a dispute over membership of a Berkeley Negro.

A split among directors blocked admission to the Sausalito Yacht Club of the Negro, William L. Pritchard, 29, a radioisotope technician at University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, it was disclosed.

And a colleague of Pritchard's charged that the Yacht Racing Assn. of San Francisco Bay had refused to accept the University of California Yacht Club into its ranks because Pritchard is a member of the U.C. club.

Grove Nooney of Sausalito, a colleague of Pritchard's at the radiation laboratory and a member of the Sausalito Yacht Club, said two directors voted against admitting Pritchard to the club "solely on the racial issue." He said the directors, at a meeting he attended, voted 4-2 to admit Pritchard, with one director abstaining and one absent.

John Koenig Jr. of Sausalito, another member, said the rejection was strictly because Pritchard lives across the bay at Berkeley and keeps his racing yacht, the Jolly Roger, there, and because the club's membership roll is closed at 200 members.

Pritchard charged yesterday that he had been unable to obtain membership in a yacht club that belongs to the Yacht Racing Assn., and therefore could not race the Jolly Roger in events under the association's auspices.

Henry L. Rhodes, Berkeley scientific instrument manufacturer and member of the U.C. club, claimed yesterday that the Yacht Racing Assn.'s refusal to admit the Berkeley club to membership was because it had accepted Pritchard into its ranks.

Nooney said it was brought out in discussion of Sausalito club directors that if the club admitted Pritchard, other yacht clubs in the Bay Area might withdraw reciprocal privileges from it on the racial issue.

The Sausalito club's constitution has no bar against non-Caucasian members. Two members are of Oriental ancestry—one Japanese and one Chinese. But it has no Negro member.

Nooney said one member of the club, Malcolm Dewees of Sausalito, had offered Pritchard a berth on the crew of his boat, which is permissable despite Pritchard's non-membership.

port and have it ready for you by next week."

The report is a restudy of the feasibility and cost of constructing a 56 mile aqueduct from Steamboat Slough in the Sacramento River Delta through Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties to a terminal reservoir near Novato, providing water for the four counties.

Representatives of the counties present worried that the state study wouldn't give them a comparison of the cost of water from the delta as compared with Eel River water.

Healey insisted the new report "still indicates the North Bay Aqueduct is the cheapest way to provide water for the North Bay area." However, the department is "actively pursuing" Senate Concurrent Resolution 47 instructing it to "make a comprehensive survey" of the Eel watershed.

Jerome B. Gilbert, manager of the North Marin County Water District and chairman of the Eel River Assn.'s engineering committee, urged the federal study in any event. He said he had "gone over some of the state's source material and discussed it with their engineers" and felt that the state's "criteria might not be proper" and that "additional studies are reasonable."

Highway Job Let

Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael contractors, have been awarded a contract for $126,030 to construct drainage facilities and resurfacing on portions of Shoreline Highway between Stinson Beach and Bolinas Road, the State Department of Public Works announced today in Sacramento.

Drake High Work Bids Are Opened

Bids for construction of a teacher workroom and construction of a covered eating area and locker room at Sir Francis Drake High School were opened yesterday at the Tamalpais District office.

The bids were submitted for both projects separately and combined. The low bid for the workroom was Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma at $30,500. High of four was from Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, $36,987.

The low of six bids for the eating area and locker room was from Zoellner at $110,823. High bid was from Robert S. Miller Co. of San Rafael at $116,500.

Six bids were received for the combined jobs. Low was from Fostmeier at $143,300 and high from Midstate Construction Co. of San Francisco at $154,533.

Because of the nature of the two types of bids, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle and his staff were giving additional study to the bids today. Carlisle will make his recommendation to the district trustees at their regular meeting Monday.

for job protection," said Mrs. Ansley.

Board chairman Robert R. Allen said today, on his return from a trip away from Marin, that no decision would be made until the board's regular meeting on June 27. If unification passes, the district could not extend the contracts after the vote is certified. Date for certifying the election result is June 28.

Supt. Philip W. Schneider of San Jose District has a contract running until June 30, 1964.

Junior Music Club Meeting Tomorrow

Creative dance instructor Dick Ford will be the November guest of the Marin Junior Music Club at its 1 p.m. meeting tomorrow at Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Demonstrating the relationship between music and the various dance forms, Ford will improvise dances to various musical themes and rhythms.

WINDSHIELD CRACKED BY SNIPER SHOT

A hidden sniper drew a bead on a car in Kentfield and cracked the windshield yesterday afternoon, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mrs. Gordon Brown of 121 Woodland Road, Kentfield, said she was driving out of Kent Woodlands and had just turned toward Larkspur when something hit the windshield. No one was hurt.

Deputy Sheriff George Johnsen searched the area but could find no trace of the sniper. He said it may have been a youngster with a pellet gun.

Sunny Hills Zone Request Withdrawn

The request for commercial and apartment zoning of Sunny Hills property in San Anselmo, which was scheduled for Monday night before the planning commission, has been withdrawn.

Russell Spatz, chairman of the San Anselmo Planning Commission, announced today the request has been taken off the agenda at the request of Sunny Hills.

The Sunny Hills property has been the center of a controversy between the owners and the San Anselmo School District, which wants to condemn part of the land for school use.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Sunny Hills, said the request was withdrawn because negotiations with the school district are continuing "in hope of arriving at a solution acceptable to both sides."

Jordan said no agreement has been reached, "but it seemed appropriate to take the matter off the calendar as long as negotiations are continuing."

Lack Of Quorum

There was no meeting last night of the Marin City Community Services District board because of lack of a quorum. A meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the community lounge, secretary Juanita S. Cobb said.

Flood Control Group Votes To Dissolve

A majority of the 45 to 50 persons at a meeting of the San Rafael Meadows Improvement Assn. voted last night to dissolve the flood control zone set up about a year ago and have the residents vote next June on establishing such a zone.

The meeting, presided over by chairman Richard E. Laws, was held in answer to objections by residents to the county's assessing them 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the zone before they had decided how much they wished to spend.

Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said he put the 16 cents in the county budget when he found no figures submitted. He also told the group about $800 had been spent on dredging along Merrydale and the railroad tracks.

Brigham and County Supervisor Walter R. Castro told the meeting how a flood control zone is set up and maintained. Brigham said money can be assessed for maintenance but the people must vote on expenditures for new projects.

Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was present, with resolutions to dissolve the old zone and vote on a new one, but the association members took their actions on motions worded from the floor.

mile from Bonham's county courthouse. That is where Mr. Sam's beloved "Miss Lu" and seven other Rayburns rest. Miss Lucinda Rayburn, a sister, was his hostess for many years. She died of cancer several years ago.

In Washington, Rayburn's death touched off a flood of laudatory messages across the nation, but there was one saddened place where words were few—in the speaker's office.

In the outer room of the two-room suite which Rayburn occupied longer than any other man, members of his staff went about their tasks wordlessly or with the low murmurs of the bereaved.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of JOHN (JACK) PERRY who passed away ten years ago today.
Heartaches and tears, memories so dear.
Each hour of my life I wish you were here.
All to myself I think of you,
Think of all the things we used to do.
Think of the things we used to say,
Think of each happy yesterday.
Sometimes I sigh,
Sometimes I cry, sometimes I smile —
But I keep each golden, golden while all to myself.
Your loving wife

The most economical thing about the Volkswagen isn't the gas.

Cheap new. Expensive used.

For be it from us to belittle gasoline economy.
(After all, we were slightly involved with getting the whole idea started.)
But there's been a subtle twist.
Volkswagen economy has become so legendary, people are willing to pay all kinds of money for a used one.
(Even though a new one costs only $1,675.00*)
So gas itself isn't the VW's most economical factor any more.
Low depreciation is.
You can get more of your money back for a VW when you sell it than you can for any other car.
Of course, that's not the whole story.
The VW reputation for steering clear of repair shops hasn't hurt any. Nor the fact that VW owners are rarely in a rush to sell. (Why should they be? We never change the VW to make it obsolete, only to make it work better.)
The plain fact is that a five-year-old VW is worth just as much as many five-year-old cars that cost twice as much new.
Just because gas economy comes in second, let's not forget it. Day after week after month, it can add up to quite an item.
Figuring 32 miles to the gallon (and 10,000 miles a year) you end up saving a few hundred extra dollars.
You just can't help it.
That 32 miles per gallon is no pipe dream, by the way. Most people get that much. Some even more. Some less.
(Obviously, you get better mileage on a highway in Kansas than you get during the rush hour in downtown Philadelphia.)
Then there's oil.
The Volkswagen's aluminum-magnesium engine runs with so little stress and friction, you'll probably never add oil between changes.
Check any gas station attendant on that one.
(When you do buy oil, you buy it by the pint. And five pints fill it.)
The VW engine is frugal in still another way: It's cooled by air, not water.
Naturally, there's no radiator: no need for one.
And so there's no need for anti-freeze, either.
No leaky hoses. No draining. No rust. No nothing.
You don't usually think that tires have much to do with economy. But then you don't usually get 40,000 miles (or more) on a set. (Each VW tire bears so little weight, tire wear is phenomenally low.)
That much mileage is that much money in the bank.
And not at all unusual.

Air is free.

Now, if you add (or subtract) the 10% you save on insurance and remember that, by and large, a VW needs less maintenance than other cars, you get an idea of why they're so much in demand. New and used alike.
Finally, a word of caution.
Some people have a strong temptation to get economy happy with their first VW and figure their costs down to fractions of a penny.
It makes a great talking point.
But resist it.
We wouldn't want anyone to forget the other big reason for driving a VW.
Fun.

General Pays Visit To Military Academy

A colonel was in charge of of a general at San Rafael Military Academy yesterday.

The colonel, retired, is the academy's military science professor, Lee L. Alfred.

The general, active and commander of the 15th Army Corps at the Presidio of San Francisco, is Maj. Gen. William N. Gillmore, under whom Alfred served 15 months as deputy commander until coming to the academy last September.

The occasion was a review of academy cadets preliminary to today's final and biggest football contest of the season: the Menlo game, traditional since 1909 and this year engaging two undefeated teams. General Gillmore's presence as guest of Alfred was to give the boys an extra thrill.

Gillmore confessed to a special fondness for football since he was fullback at West Point all of his four years there.

"No, I wasn't all-American," he chuckled in response to a query based on his outstanding athletic reputation. "After you've been out a few years they sort of forget the details of what you did."

On graduation from the military academy, Gillmore found he still wasn't through with football for he was promptly assigned, though a second lieutenant of field artillery with a bachelor of science degree, to serve the academy as assistant football coach for the 1925 season.

After that he reported for his first troop duty in his native California, with the 76th Field Artillery at the Presidio of Monterey—which happened to be his birthplace.

During his two years of service there he spent the football season of each year coaching the West Coast Army football team.

Subsequent service has included a tour of duty with the Philippine Scouts; division artillery commander of the First Armored Divisions on the Anzio beachhead in 1944; a similar assignment with the 101st Airborne Division in France, and assignments in Japan, Korea, Thailand and Greece. He holds the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Honor, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, and Parachute and Glider Badge.

Senator In Hospital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Maurine B. Neuberger (D-Ore.) underwent surgery yesterday for removal of what preliminary examinations indicated was a cancerous growth. She was in satisfactory condition.

A tumor was removed from the wall of the large intestine during an operation at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital.

Mrs. Neuberger was elected last year to the Senate seat of her late husband, Richard L. Neuberger, who died of cerebral hemorrhage in March 1960.

Marinwood Decisions Reaffirmed

Renaldo Emini, newly elected president of the Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Assn., last night was appointed to the fire commission at a meeting of the Marinwood Community Services District board.

At the meeting, attended by about 30 persons, the board reaffirmed all the decisions it had made since the district was formed. Regarding the bond issue election planned for Jan. 16, chairman Howard Council asked whether the district wanted a three-proposition vote instead of a two-proposition measure.

About two weeks ago the board voted to ask residents to vote separately on whether they wanted to acquire land and build a community center and firehouse and whether they wanted a swimming pool.

Last night Council asked whether residents wished to vote separately on acquiring and landscaping land, on erecting a community building and on building a swimming pool.

But after some discussion Council's motion died for want of a second.

A bond issue election for more than $400,000 with firehouse, swimming pool and other facilities all in a single package-deal proposition failed in September.

Alcohol Called Major Factor In U.S. Crime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alcohol plays a major role in crime, a San Quentin prison psychiatrist reported today.

Dr. David G. Schmidt, in a talk prepared for the Commonwealth Club, estimated that 50 per cent of all new arrivals at San Quentin have a drinking problem.

And as many as 70 per cent of the men who return after violating parole have problems with alcohol.

During the prohibition era, only 7 per cent of the men who came to prison had alcohol as a factor, said Schmidt.

But the psychiatrist, who has studied thousands of alcoholics, said a return to prohibition is not the answer. And neither are jails, he added.

"The prevention of alcoholism is difficult, because it does have a satisfying effect on the individual," he said. "The emphasis needed here is to make the individual aware of the factors that are important in the organization and balancing of one's personality, so one can remain a moderate drinker and not become an excessive drinker."

Berliners Escape

BERLINERS (AP) — Seven East Berliners escaped during the night, West Berlin police reported but East Berlin police almost captured one recent refugee who was drunk at the wrong place.

The man, who fled recently from East Berlin, reeled up to the Friedrichstrasse crossing and stepped a few inches over the line. An East policeman seized his arm. Three West Berlin customs inspectors and a West Berlin policeman grabbed the man and pulled him back.

School Stand Reaffirmed By Bishops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops have declared they remain unanimously opposed to "any form of general federal aid to education that discriminates against children attending non-public schools."

This declaration yesterday was described as a reaffirmation of the bishops stand last March which was a major factor in the failure of the Kennedy administration's school aid bills to reach the House floor for debate in the last session.

In March, the bishops announced they favored federal help for parochial and other private schools as part of the general school aid program.

Some questions had been raised publicly over whether the bishops were unanimous in their position on federal aid to schools. And they had been expected only to touch on the issue in their over-all policy statement to be made public at the end of their annual meeting here.

Instead, they placed emphasis on their stand by issuing a separate statement through the National Catholic Welfare Conference — the agency through which the church hierarchy deals with matters of general interest at a national level.

The conference said the bishops had authorized the statement "in view of the concern over federal aid to education" as soon as their action had been taken, instead of waiting to include it in the general statement.

TAX EXCUSE PROPOSED FOR FIRE VICTIMS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposal that victims of the recent Los Angeles fire be excused from paying taxes on their destroyed homes is being studied by the state.

The proposal was made by the Los Angeles City Council to Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday. It asked that the state take steps to change a law that requires assessments made in March to remain in effect throughout the tax year despite any subsequent loss of value.

Such a change would have to be made by the legislature.

$1,200-Theft Reported In Corte Madera

A total of $1,200 worth of articles, including nine men's suits, were stolen from a Corte Madera home last night.

Alfred Henry Kirchner, 38, of 351 Chapman Drive, called police early today to report the burglary. He said he left home at 6:30 p.m. yesterday and returned at 12:30 a.m. today to find the house had been entered.

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said entry was through a window. Prymarks were found where the screen had been removed. The window was not locked.

Kirchner, a salesman for Ames Ford Sales of San Rafael, said the $1,200 was a "conservative estimate." Missing, in addition to the suits, were 50 blank checks, credit cards, a .22-caliber pistol, camera and lenses, and a pair of binoculars, he reported.

'Coming-Out Party' Tonight For Kaufman's In Hub City

Mozart Kaufman will hold a "coming-out party" tonight to celebrate completion of additions to Kaufman's Department Store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

Coupons will be handed out from 7 to 9 p.m. and a drawing for prizes will take place tomorrow.

The party will show how work started last April has more than doubled the size of the former premises, adding 6,300 square feet.

Of special interest is the fact that this is the first move in building toward San Anselmo's master plan in which it is expected that the city business district will eventually face Sir Francis Drake Boulevard rather than San Anselmo Avenue as at present.

Kaufman won special permission by unanimous vote of the San Anselmo City Council for extension of his store across Corte Madera Creek to the present Greyhound property which the city expects to acquire and clear, providing room for another street.

No effort was made by Kaufman to gain an entrance fronting on the Greyhound property and he went ahead with new construction with no definite assurance that the new plan would go through. His attitude has been one of faith that everything would work out.

Meanwhile he has the extra room.

Twenty-one huge pre-stressed four-by-50-foot five-ton concrete beams were put across the creek from the rear of the earlier structure as foundation for the work now completed.

Ralph E. Murphy and Sons of San Rafael did the building.

NOVATO AND SAN JOSE

Here Are Legal Steps For Unifying School Districts

(This is the last of a series of four articles on various aspects of the proposed unification of Novato Unified and San Jose Elementary School District, on which voters in the two districts will ballot next Tuesday.)

By THERON A. NEWELL

When voters in San Jose Elementary School District and Novato Unified District go to the polls in the special unification election Tuesday, they will decide whether the two districts should be unified into one new district under California law.

The legal steps for uniting the two districts are well set out in state law.

The new district would have its own set of trustees, with given authority to organize the district for the coming school year, but not to spend any money until July 1.

The new unified district could sell the bonds of any elementary or high school district of which it is composed. Therefore, the new district could sell the bonds voted by the San Jose District, but there is a legal question as to whether it could sell bonds of Novato District—since that is already a unified district, neither an elementary nor high school district.

State also favors newly organized unified districts with a "bonus," a 5 per cent override on state funds for the first year, decreasing 1 per cent each year through the next four years. This amount has been figured to total approximately $250,000 for a unified Novato-San Jose district.

The new district would also receive more money for children living on federal property than the San Jose Elementary School District does now.

The unsold authorized bonds of the Novato District, if not salable under the law, would be written off. No indebtedness for them would result.

The unification election was called after citizen groups and both school boards had given considerable study to it. This method of uniting the two districts was favored because—among other reasons—it gives the San Jose District voters a voice in choosing the board of trustees.

Trustees of the San Jose District voted unanimously in favor of unification. The Novato board voted 3-to-2 in favor, with trustees Earl Marshall and William Kirk opposing. The augmented county committee for school district organization also voted in favor of unification, 9 to 4. The state board of education approved in setting up the election.

The same issue has been defeated twice before by the voters, in January and September, 1959. Both times it carried in Novato but was defeated in San Jose. A majority in each district must approve to make unification possible.

In September, 1959, the proposal failed by only six votes in San Jose and carried overwhelmingly in Novato.

If this election fails, what then?

There are two other ways by which San Jose Elementary School District could be combined with the Novato Unified District, said Edwin L. Blackmore, assistant superintendent of schools.

One method would be for Novato Unified District to annex the San Jose District. This would require a petition for annexation signed by over 50 per cent of the registered voters in the San Jose district. The petition would be presented to the county board of supervisors, who would then set an election on it. (One elementary school district can annex another by such petition without an election, but this does not hold for annexation of an elementary district by a unified district, according to the county counsel.)

Annexation would simply do away with the San Jose District. The present board of trustees of Novato District would remain in office. The Novato board would have to honor contracts entered into by the San Jose board with teachers and administrators, and teachers in San Jose schools would retain tenure rights.

Annexation would bring no bonus from the state. The Novato board could, of course, go ahead with sale of its bonds.

If Novato District annexed San Jose, the present bonded indebtedness of each district would have to be paid off by residents of that district, unless leveling of the bonds—making all payable by the entire district—were approved by two-thirds vote at a district-wide election.

A third method of getting the San Jose District into the Novato District would be by boundary change. Because the district boundaries cannot be changed to take in the entire district, this would require splitting of the present San Jose District. The part not annexed to Novato would remain as the San Jose School District unless annexed to neighboring Dixie Elementary School District.

Edward Browne of San Francisco has been named as California Farm Bureau Federation field secretary in region eight, it was announced today by federation president Louis A. Rozzoni.

He replaces J. R. Nelson, who has served in the post for the past three years and is being transferred to region nine, which includes Alameda, Amador, Contra Costa, Sacramento and Solano Counties.

Browne, who recently completed a 10-month internship with the Farm Bureau, is a graduate of Nevada State College and attended Hastings Law School in San Francisco.

Judging of outdoor Christmas decorations for Greenbrae homes will be held on Dec. 22, announced Mrs. Patricia Willat, secretary for the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

No quorum was present at the Strawberry Recreation District board meeting Wednesday night; therefore, a new meeting date will be announced within the next few days, secretary Mrs. James W. Gowen said today.

Secondary Tests Set At Dominican

Secondary school admission tests will be given at St. Louis Bertrand Hall at Dominican Convent Lower School in San Rafael on Dec. 9, it was announced today.

The tests, administered by the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., are comparable to college entrance examinations. They are designed to test a student's ability to understand what he reads, his ability to do problems in arithmetic, knowledge of words and ability to use them.

There are no passing or failing marks. The student's score indicates how his performance on the test compares with others at his grade level.

Approximately 200 independent schools throughout the country require applicants for admission from grades seven through 11 to take the examinations.

Applications for the Dec. 9 test must be received in Princeton by Nov. 25.

Pollution Unit Moves On Houseboat Sewage

Marin County provided more work for the state attorney general yesterday when by resolution the Regional Water Pollution Control Board in Oakland instructed its staff to confer on possible legal steps to force Sausalito's arks and houseboats to quit dumping raw sewage into bay waters.

County supervisors were advised last week that the State Bureau of Hospitals is consulting the attorney general about possible termination of license of the condemned Marin County Hospital.

The water pollution board accepted a fifth quarterly progress report from the Marin County Health Department, the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and the City of Sausalito, but decided it did not show enough progress in the matter of cleaning up waterfront sewage discharges.

It directed that the next quarterly report be submitted before next Jan. 15. It should, said the resolution, ask the city and the district to include information which might be useful in case legal action is taken. The board wants names of of owners of the waterfront structures and also of owners of property to which the craft are attached.

Board members said they would like to make clear that the arks and houseboats are targets only insofar as they dispose improperly of sewage by dumping into the bay. Several firms are building and selling craft in the Sausalito area, they said, which is all right except that sewer tie-in seems lacking.

Since the board took its ark-houseboat census of last February in the Sausalito area, it was brought out, from 10 to 15 new craft have appeared. Though a sewer line has been reported under construction, nobody has been connected to it yet.

The board approved a resolution amending a cease and desist order against Belvedere to give more time to comply with instructions to discontinue raw sewage discharge. The amendment extends the time limit to next July 1, with full requirements to be met Aug. 1.

Requirements were approved as to waste discharge by R. C. Briggs and Clarence and David Leveroni onto land north of Novato and east of Highway 101.

Jr. Scout Leader Training Camp Set

A junior leader training camp of Miwok District of the Marin Boy Scout Council will open tonight at Camp Tamarancho above Fairfax, continuing through Sunday.

Patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders of San Rafael and Novato area troops will participate, with Sgt. Donald Franklin of Troop 27, Hamilton Air Force Base, being scoutmaster of the camp. Sergeant Franklin will be assisted by young men who attended a two-week junior leader training camp in New Mexico last summer.

Nicasio 'Country Auction' Should Prove Lively Affair

This Sunday's "Country Auction" at the Rancho Nicasio should provide some lively developments, to listen to Nick Kobseff who is promoting the affair from 1 to 5 p.m. for the Nicasio Mothers Club.

Among items to go on the block are antiques, homemade cakes, candies and canned goods, butter, eggs, apples oranges, live turkeys, dead turkeys, a donkey, two heifers, a bed slept in by Teddy Roosevelt, innumerable doodads and dinners at several of the Marin restaurants. Jim Fortado, a 4-H leader from Stockton, will do the auctioning.

Everyone's invited—and better bring your station wagon. There's no telling what your return cargo may be.

PAULINE PRICE who has taken over the operation of the Borden's Fountain at Fourth and Tamalpais, San Rafael, is making it available for breakfasts, hot lunches and dinners throughout the week—from 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays; noon to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

On the hot meal side she'll veer to steak sandwiches, roasts, specialties and hamburgers and says it should be a businessman's Mecca for lunches not too expensive.

New name: Dave's Fountain. Mrs. Price used to run the fountain at the Sausalito Pharmacy, has her nephew Dave Bibeau associated with her in this operation.

MONIE MULCAHY, organist at Sabella's will take off again next week on one of her President Cleveland Christmas cruises to the Orient, to return after the first of the year. This is her third trip and Angelo Sabella is getting reconciled to it as a regular occurence.

CRABS—at this writing, negotiations were still deadlocked, so maybe Franchini's West End Villa won't have its traditional crab chioppino tonight, nor Sabella's its crab retailing and fresh speciality items, advertising to the contrary. But who could tell? Ads have to be placed in advance.

THE DUCK POND at Franchini's Chateau has increased its population by some 35 fowls in the last few months—new figure is now estimated at 140. Many of the additions have been grown up Easter presents declared surplus.

Which reminds me—the grown up spectators are as numerous as the kids and just as insistent for bits of bread from the restaurant tables to use for feeding.

Now we hear that Niki Franchini has taken off this week to go skin diving in Mexico and do underwater photography.

COMMERCIAL ARTIST John Checkley of Greenbrae has 40 or 50 of his paintings on the walls of Skipper's, Sausalito—they'll be there about a month. Many are familiar San Francisco and Marin County scenes and landmarks. Some think his work resembles watercolor though it's done in oil.

Along the line look for a redecorating of Skipper's to make it like a Moby Dick waterfront place.

WES MARTIN, owner of the Ranch House, San Anselmo, says he's given up trying to match other fleshpots, entree for entree. Neither he nor his cook Jack Hansen can keep up with the new dishes, so Jack has been instructed to prepare the old dishes better than anyone else—or else.

JIM BIGELOW of Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon, says their first reservation for Thanksgiving dinner next week came from none other than the founder, Sam Vella . . . No more "dancing in the rain" this winter for Nero's Room, Nave Lanes, Ignacio. According to Bob Nave the new retractable dome is just about finished . . . Tiburon Tommie's new upstairs addition, the Maori Skyroom," is expected to be ready for a grand opening on Tommie's anniversary, Dec. 14 . . . Door and dance prizes at Cloud Five's Skyroom in Novato are popular attractions there—but so are Ruth Overly on the organ and Don Flash on the drums . . . Newest entry in the restaurant profession: Roger Phillip Poli, one week old; his father, chef at La Petite Auberge, has been passing out cigars.

San Rafael Man Struck By Auto

Karl J. Nilsen, 67, of 1206 Third Street, San Rafael, suffered a fractured leg and hip and pelvis injuries last night when he was struck by a car while walking across the intersection of Third and B streets.

He was admitted to San Rafael General Hospital where his condition was fair.

The driver, John Southmayd, 42, of 121 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, was cited for failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

Patrolman P. D. Green said Southmayd was driving west on Third Street and Nilsen was in the crosswalk of Third and B when he was knocked down. Southmayd said a car in front of him blocked his vision.

Drunken Driver Draws $193 Fine

Mrs. Barbara Kip Curtis, 35, of 614 Spring Street, Sausalito, must pay $193 fine and remain on six months probation for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced her yesterday for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 in San Rafael on Monday.

Robert Smith Bush, 29, of 41 Bothin Road, Fairfax, drew $166 fine and six months probation. Bush was caught on Fourth Street in San Rafael on Monday.

FILM FARE

A Touching Disney Tale For Rafael

By LES DARD

What's showing around Marin County this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

One of Walt Disney's most engaging pictures, "Greyfriars Bobby," comes to the Rafael Theater on Sunday.

It is the simple, touching story of the little terrier whose loyalty to his dead master won him the love of Edinburgh, a citation from Queen Victoria and a statue in his honor that still stands in the Scottish city.

All this happened a century ago. Years later, Eleanor Atkinson wrote the story in "Greyfriars Bobby," an animal classic and now a classic family film.

The plot, simply: Bobby's master, an old shepherd (Alex MacKenzie) dies a lonely death in an Edinburgh tenement, but with enough money in his pockets to pay for burial in Greyfriars churchyard, among the nobles.

The faithful Bobby sleeps every night at the grave, to the great displeasure of caretaker Donald Crisp. The dog's intense loyalty soon breaks down Crisp, then his wife (Kay Walsh), and Laurence Naismith, a bachelor restaurateur who feeds Bobby. Neighborhood children adopt the dog.

Matters come to a crisis when a policeman questions Bobby's ownership, a trial results and is carried all the way to the Lord Provost. This worthy's decision will soften the hardest heart.

Bobby is as lovable a pooch as we've seen, and every performer is admirably suited for his roles.

SEQUOIA THEATER

A thrilling battle between men and nature is featured in the adventure drama "Devil at 4 O'Clock," opening Sunday at the Sequoia.

Spencer Tracy stars as an embittered priest on a south Pacific island, who has turned to drink. Three convicts passing through include one tough-talking young atheist from Jersey, Frank Sinatra. The two immediately square off against each other.

When the island's volcano violently erupts, the natives flee and only the convicts and Tracy's closest friends volunteer to help evacuate the children in his mountain leper hospital. All involved undergo a kind of regeneration.

Performances by Tracy, Sinatra, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Cathy Lewis, Barbara Luna and Kerwin Mathews are all excellent.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Holly Golightly, the dainty, daffy Manhattan miss who behaves like a call girl but somehow clings to virtue, will steal your heart in "Breakfast at Tiffany's," now on-screen at the Tamalpais.

Audrey Hepburn stars as Holly, heading up a fine cast and a fast-paced movie almost sure to please the grown-ups. George Peppard plays a writer neighbor of Holly who manages to make the girl take a second look at life.

Patricia Neal plays Peppard's wealthy patron. Other favorites in the cast are Buddy Ebsen, Mickey Rooney and Martin Balsam.

NOVATO THEATER

Back with us this weekend at the Novato is last summer's fine treat, "The Parent Trap."

This is the Disney comedy in which pixyish Hayley Mills plays two roles—twins. It's the story of two identical young ladies who run across each other at summer camp and discover they are really twins separated in infancy when their parents divorced. They set out to undo this wrong, and really run riot.

Maureen O'Hara plays the mother, Brian Keith the father.

The second feature is "Tom Thumb."

FAIRFAX THEATER

There are a couple of gory moments to terrorize and titillate in Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho," now on the Fairfax screen.

Janet Leigh plays a larcenous beauty who steals $40,000 and skips town to join her lover, John Gavin. On the way she stops off at a motel, and strikes up a friendship with the keeper, Anthony Perkins. All this is very well, but suddenly there's murder . . . right before your eyes.

Even the good-guessers will be baffled by this one, right up until the last horrifying moments.

LARK THEATER

We've been having a big run on British comedy in the past few years, and "Dentist in the Chair" is one of the newest.

It is set in a dental college, of all places, and takes a very light-hearted view of larceny. The story concerns a crook who takes off with dental equipment in error. Trying to undo his mistake, he attempts to peddle the loot to students.

The result is barely-controlled anarchy, and some resounding slaps at entrenched authority.

MOTOR MOVIES

Jack Lemmon stars as commander of the Echo, a wreck of a ship which tangles with the Japanese during World War II. The picture is now on-screen at Motor Movies.

Ricky Nelson plays Lemmon's straight man in this Navy farce. The Echo is assigned to confuse the Japanese, and Lemmon emerges triumphant.

Co-featured is "Time Machine," a science fiction piece based on the H. G. Wells story about an inventor (Rod Taylor) who devises a time machine, takes a look at the years ahead, then comes back to somewhere near our time.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Comedy and anguish share the bill this weekend at the Tiburon Playhouse.

"Battle of the Sexes" is a whimsical British comedy starring Peter Sellers as head clerk in a sleepy Scottish tweed firm invaded by a beautiful but officious American efficiency expert, Constance Cummings.

"The Savage Eye" is a prize-winning picture that relates the year-long hell of a young divorcee (Barbara Baxley) in Los Angeles.

See you at the movies.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL FINALE AT KENTFIELD

Tars Shoot For Second Place Tonight

Second place in the Golden Valley Conference will be at stake for the College of Marin Tars tonight when they take on the American River Junior College Beavers in, the season's finale at Kentfield.

Game time at College of Marin stadium is 8 o'clock.

The Mariners, after a stunning 28-14 upset victory over Shasta College before a partisan homecoming crowd last week, now own a 4-4 season record and are 2-2 in conference play.

Going into this final week of the season, Marin is in a three-way tie for second place with Yuba College (a team Marin beat 21-20) and Shasta. Sierra College, which downed Marin 20-18 in the final three minutes of their game at Kentfield, has outdistanced the pack and is now fixed in first place with three wins, no losses, and one tie.

The record itself bespeaks the best season a Tar 11 has had since 1956 when former head coach Harry Pieper guided the Mariners to the championship and was himself named junior college coach of the year.

The win over Shasta was the first at home this season and in fact the first home victory in several years.

For head coach Dick Read, who is in his first year of junior college coaching and only a year removed from the same position at San Rafael High School, the campaign has been see-saw but highly gratifying.

"Whatever happens in this next game I am proud of this team," said Read. "True, our prospects and performance have been high and low. But the important thing is the team's desire to play football. They've never quit for a minute."

American River, while positioned at the bottom of the conference with a 1-3 record, enters this week's game with some high ideas of its own after crushing Napa College 22-6 last week. It was Napa that actually killed Tar hopes for a crack at the conference lead when it defeated Marin 28-18 at Napa two weeks ago.

At the season's start, American River was touted for a winning year. With a turnout of more than 60 players, it wasn't hard to see the reason. The Beavers, however, had trouble getting started. They were hit heavily by injuries and ineligibility. The team has picked up strength in the last several weeks, and by winning this week would draw Marin into a third place tie.

The Beavers will bring in 35 players, 10 more than Marin, and from scouting reports will considerably outweigh the Tars in the line.

Significant in the Shasta victory was the ability of the Tars to take command in the first half of play. All season long Marin has been a "second half" team, and has seemed to respond to their opponent's scoring in like kind rather than striking first and early.

The contest was by far the team's strongest showing, and there was actually little doubt of game command after the middle of the first quarter.

Probably the major figure in the win was sophomore quarterback Ron Blum, who came to full flower as a passer, runner, punter and play caller. The former Marin Catholic star, who climaxes his junior college football playing days this week, was outstanding in all departments. He completed 11 of 23 passes for 163 yards, and two touchdowns. He did all Marin's punting, averaging 49 yards per kick, and showed himself to be strong, alert and elusive in running the quarterback option play.

Most pleasant surprise for the Tars was the hard running of halfback Ron Cole, who has

49ER CAMP SHROUDED IN SECRECY

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have revamped their defensive lineup for Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears but they're keeping mum about the surprises Coach Red Hickey is working up for his offense.

One thing that seems certain, though, is that surprises are to come.

The 49er camp at Redwood City was surrounded by canvas curtains this week, guards checked everyone who approached, and even youngsters were asked to move along down the street.

For the 49ers, who haven't won a game in a month, the Bear tilt is a big one.

High in the speculation about Hickey's scheme to trap the Bears is the possibility that he may return to the T formation. The 49ers have been using the shotgun, a short punt formation, and Hickey has declared he intends to stay with it.

But that doesn't mean he has to.

With Bobby Waters, one of Hickey's three alternating quarterbacks, probably out for the season with a knee injury, Hickey must revise his offense somewhat. An injury to either John Brodie or Bill Kilmer would have the 49ers hanging on the ropes.

CLEVER RUNNER

Kilmer has been better than Brodie in the shotgun formation because the rookie from UCLA is a powerful, clever runner. Brodie, with his experience and superior passing ability, is a sharper T quarterback than Kilmer.

This raises the possibility that Kilmer may take over the shotgun portion of the 49er offense and Brodie may resume operating a revived T.

On defense, rookie Roland Lakes goes to the right end post, Charlie Krueger moves from right end to right tackle, replacing Monte Clark, and rookie Carl Kammerer goes to middle linebacker, replacing Bob Harrison. Clark has a pinched nerve in his neck and Harrison has rib injuries.

Hickey announced earlier in the week that Abe Woodson would return to the defensive backfield, replacing Jerry Mertens. C. R. Roberts will take over Woodson's job in the offensive backfield.

All-Star J.C. Gridders Named

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)— The names of members of East and West all-star football squads for the Shrine junior college all-star game here Dec. 2 were released yesterday and include these California representatives:

End Clete Baltes, Riverside, tackles Arnold Thexton., Santa Ana and Daryl Hallock, Hartnell, guard Jay Vesterfelt, Napa, centers Leon Austin, Cerritos and Roger Dabney, San Mateo, quarterback John Torok, El Camino, halfback Bob Campo, Vallejo and fullback Henry Kalama, Hartnell.

SEALS VS. FLYERS

Ice Hockey Debut In Cow Palace Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Seals, who have played 14 Western Hockey League games while waiting for ice hockey, make their for iceh ockey, make their home debut tonight against the hottest team in the league.

The Edmonton Flyers have 10 victories, a tie and two losses.

The Seals have won 4 and lost 10 on the road.

Two of the Seals' losses were at Edmonton.

Dennis Riggin of the Flyers, the leading goal tender in the league, suffered an eye injury last week and is expected to be out of action for a month.

Does that give the Seals a break? Not much. The Flyers, top farm club of the Detroit Redwings of the National Hockey League, asked Detroit for help and the Redwings sent them Hank Bassen.

The Flyers are considered the fastest club in the WHL and their trio of Roger DeJordy, Len Lunde and Chuck Holmes comprise the loop's highest scoring frontl line.

But things aren't entirely black for Coach Max McNab and his Seals.

The San Franciscans have been developing steadily if not spectacularly.

They beat the Los Angeles 3-2 Saturday night, which incensed Blade Coach George Agar to the point where he fined every Los Angeles player $100.

Which suggests something about these Seals.

League Team Lacks Center, And Fullback

The 11-man, All-Marin County Athletic League football "team" was announced this morning.

The team included three halfbacks, three tackles, no fullback and no center. Novato High, MCAL undefeated and untied champions, had three players selected and so did co-cellar team, San Rafael High.

MCAL runner-up Drake High had one player honored and along with Tamalpais and Redwood, and co-cellar team Marin Catholic had two players selected.

Old Dutch Still Leads Senior Open At Posh La Quinta

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — San Francisco's Dutch Harrison is still leading the way in the Senior Open Golf Championship as the field goes into the final 18 holes.

Harrison shot par 72 yesterday over the Eldorado Country Club course and posted a 54-hole total of 205.

Ralph Hutchinson of Bethlehem, Pa., posted the low score of the day, a 68 at Bermuda Dunes, and finished in second place with a 54-hole total of 208.

The veteran Chick Evans of Chicago came up with a hole-in-one at the 165-yard second at Eldorado, but he isn't among the top 10.

Today's 18-hole round is being played over the La Quinta Country Club layout.

Halas And Hassles Go Together; Great Showman At Kezar Sunday

HANLEY

Pro football's greatest showman makes his annual visit to Kezar Stadium Sunday. That would, of course, be George Halas, founder, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas and hassels go together like ham and eggs. He has been hissed and booed more than Erich Von Stroheim ever was in the days of the silent movies. He is an unparalleled genius when it comes to playing the villain's role, a master of sideline pantomime and a needler beyond compare.

At one time or another fans all around the NFL circuit have screamed hysterically at him. He so provoked one loyal 49er fan, named Dunn, in Kezar three years ago that Dunn rushed out of the stands and took a poke at him. Ever since Halas always has solicitously inquired, "And how's my good old pal, Dunn?"

HALAS HAS never been bashful in offering officials a bit of help on close calls, particularly along the sidelines where he loves to stroll from goal to goal. There was a time when he was suspected of having mystical powers over them, especially on his home lot at Wrigley Field.

But, even if there were any truth in that myth, it all happened in a bygone era. Certainly it was before 1960 when Wrigley Field fans saw a startling sight during the 49er-Bear game there last year—a referee stepping off a 15-yard penalty against the Bears for a sideline remark by Halas.

"THE OFFICIAL was mistaken," said Halas. "The remark was made by someone else. I merely turned to him and asked: 'You surely didn't call that official a---- ---- ----, did you?'"

Two years ago Bobby Layne and Buddy Parker were unhappy about the officiating in a 21-27 Steeler loss to the Bears. Parker spoke in words seldom used by a coach and Layne's words weren't the kind usually used by a quarterback.

"So long as Halas is allowed to roam up and down the field at will and scream at officials, the Bears will get the better of the calls," said Parker.

"I HATE TO lose any game," said Layne, "but I especially hate to lose when the Bears get away with knocking down my receivers. That seems to be an accepted custom in Chicago where they get away with anything."

Halas brushed off those squawks with a "tsk, tsk" that implied Parker and Layne should be ashamed of themselves for saying such things.

LSU Meets Over Rose Bowl Bid It Has Yet To Get

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Whether Louisiana State will accept a Rose Bowl bid—should it get one — may be decided Saturday when the university board meets in special session.

The problem will be to revamp a custom of not playing teams with Negro athletes.

The Tigers, ranked fourth in The Associated Press poll this week, already have turned down a Sugar Bowl invitation. And there has been support in some quarters to abandon the anti-interracial athletic tradition if the Rose Bowl bid comes through.

Unidentified LSU officials reportedly gave assurances to Big Five Commissioner Tom Hamilton earlier there would be no racial problem if LSU did get an offer from the Rose Bowl.

Chairman John J. Dowles of the LSU board, in calling the session, did not make public the agenda but said it was possible some member might bring up the racial issue.

NOW 49ERS ARE HOLDING SECRET MEETINGS

The San Francisco 49ers are shown as they run through secret drill behind protective canvas at Redwood City yesterday. The canvas was put up to discourage spies from seeing or making pictures from hills in background. Coach Red Hickey watches at right. Bears A Collection Of 'Who's He?' Stars

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The greatest collection of "Who's He?" football players in the country—the Chicago Bears—take the field in Kezar stadium to meet the going-no-place San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

While the Bears slaughtered foe after foe it is noticeablle that in the lineup are some guys who a decade ago, or even yesterday, weren't noticed outside Pumpkin Center.

It's all a credit to George Halas' great — and first-scouting system.

While most teams gun for the All-Americans, Halas has a system that beats the bushes for "hungry" football players. On this year's squad, for instance, are men from Florence (Alabama) Teachers, Idaho, Florida A. & M., Trinity, Morris Brown, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles State, and other schools more-or-less unknown in most metropolitan centers.

How the Bears got hold of such fine talent from small schools is a mystery to most people—but not to Halas. He has every little hamlet in the country under scrutiny one way or another.

TIP AT TRACK

"We got Willie Galimore from Florida A. & M., on a tip from a jockey at Hialeah Race Track," says Bill Fay of the Bear staff. "Phil Handler of our coaching staff was at the track one day, got the tip from the jockey—and we came up with Galimore, who is our leading ground-gainer."

The story of Harlan Hill, the great pass receiving end who now plays on the defense, probably is better known. Hill hails from Florence Teachers College in Alabama.

Clark Shaughnessy, technical advisor to the club was in the South for the Senior Bowl game. A friend told him that the best player in the South wasn't even playing in the game—name of Hill.

GREAT MOVIES

Shaughnessy sent the message to Halas, Halas asked for the movies from the school and took one look at Hill.

"He's either the fastest man ever to play football or else the competition is very slow," said Halas — and promptly signed the talented end who became the greatest pass catcher in Bear history.

Charley Bivins, a 6-2, 212 pound halfback from Morris Brown, was picked up No. 7 in the draft on the recommendation of a scout. Roger LeClerk of Trinity in Connecticut was No. 15 on the 1959 draft.

Stan Farrington, one of the club's top pass receivers, was the No. 11 selection in 1960—on the advice of a former player and a scout. He's from Prairie View, Tex., College.

And so it goes down through the list. A couple of lads from University of Idaho, Stan Fanning and Art Anderson, were chosen "just because they looked like big strong animals, standing around the 6-5 mark and weighing in the neighborhood of 250 pounds."

Which proves, of course, that your All-America clippings mean nothing when you get in the game of professional football.

Cal's Go'n'a Meet Hard Knockin' Jays

BERKELEY (AP) — California meets Kansas on the gridiron for the first time tomorrow.

The Jayhawkers come to Berkeley with a 5-2-1 record and they've won their last five in a row.

The Bears, with one victory and one tie in eight innings, are weary and figure to be heavily out-manned.

The Jayhawkers aren't bigger but they're faster and there are a lot more of 'em.

Don Pierce, a fellow who used to play center for Kansas 20 years ago, now is their advance publicity man. He reeled off the names of nine fine backs and a host of quick, hard knockin' linemen.

But he only described three men as good — quarterback John Hall, halfback Curtis McClinton and guard Elvin Basham.

"Phew," exhaled Cal Coach Marv Levy. "All three of those guys have been nominated for the coaches' All-America. Is that what it takes for 'em to be called good?"

Cal plans to start Larry Balliett at quarterback, Jerry Scattini and Jon Mason at the halves and veteran George Pierovich at fullback. Pierovich is reported ready to go full steam after injuries.

Cal devoted much of its work this week to defense and even scrimmaged, an unusual move for this late in the season.

"Most of our problems have been in connection with our defense," Levy said, "and we've been trying to correct them."

The Bears are in for a tough workout.

Suddenly Hot Cougars Take On Stanford

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford's Indian's hope to end a four-game losing streak tomorrow against a Washington State football team that's suddenly come alive.

The Cougars, with just two victories in eight games, beat Oregon 22-21 in a thriller at Corvallis last week. And they did it with a powerful running game.

The Cougars, a good passing outfit, have the nation's leading pass receiver in Hugh Campbell, a junior from Saratoga, Calif., virtually in the shadow of Stanford Stadium.

Campbell has caught 44 passes for 601 yards, topping the nation's collegiate receivers in both figures. Campbell set major college records last year, as a sophomore, when he grabbed 66 passes for 881 yards.

SOPH QUARTERBACK

A sophomore named Dave Mathieson took over the quarterbacking for veteran Mel Melin last week against Oregon and led the Cougar victory march. He threw just 10 times, completing five. Fullback George Reed tallied three touchdowns a week ago.

Mathieson will start against Stanford but Melin, who threw for 1,638 yards last year, is expected to play too.

Red Sears will be Stanford Coach Jack Curtice's quarterback. After gingerly counting his injured, a list of about a dozen, Curtice said Danny Spence and Gary Craig will be Stanford's starting halfbacks with Ed Cummings at fullback.

The Stanford defense has been better than its won-lost record might indicate. The Indians are ranked eighth among the nation's pass defenders this week, quite possibly because they do so much passing in practice.

A.F.'s FALCON FOUND—IN USN BOQ LOCKER!!

ALAMEDA (AP) — Fauntleroy, the Air Force Academy's falcon that disappeared after Saturday's California-Air Force football game, has been found.

No one at the Alameda Naval Air Station professed to know where Fauntleroy spent the past several days. He was discovered tied to a clothes rod in a closet of the bachelor officers' club there.

"It sure surprised the men," a club spokesman said. "We don't know where the falcon had been but it had been eating and drinking."

A humane society officer confirmed that Fauntleroy was in fine shape.

And the Air Force was just happy to have the mascot back.

"A fine example of interservice cooperation," commented an academy spokesman.

been a standout pass receiver throughout the season but up to this time was not noted as a runner. "It's really simple," said Read. "Cole has not run as much as the others simply because our quarterbacks have not called plays to his side very often. Blum really called on him against Shasta."

Read was also high in his praise for the Tars' offensive line play. "Our backs had some fine running room with the spaces our offensive linemen opened for them," Read said.

Other spohomores who will be playing their last game include Bob Brown, end; Bruce Robertson, fullback; Ron Simmons, end; Geoffrey (Tiny) Dunham, tackle; and Jim Fisher, halfback. Fred Corson, center, who was injured early in the year will also graduate this year. Each of the sophomores will share game captain status against American River.

The team will have to be satisfied with part time service from regulars Scott Moriarty, fullback; and Bob Whelan, tackle. Both suffered muscle injuries in action against Shasta.

Amateur Radio Club Nominations Tonight

The second nomination of officers for 1962 will be held tonight by the Tamalpais Amateur Radio Club, President Henry Alvernaz announced.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Veteran of Foreign Wars Hall on Machin Avenue in Novato. The agenda will also include a proposed change in by-laws and an auction of radio equipment.

COUNCIL ACTION

Raiders Get Home Field In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Pending construction of plush Oakland Coliseum by 1963, the Oakland Raiders today were assured of a temporary home.

By a vote of 6-1, the city council yesterday approved a plan to relocate a small area now named Exposition Field, install 23,000 seats, and bring the Raiders back to their side of San Francisco Bay.

It was believed that the cost of the re-location, $249,000, could be regained through rental to the Raiders, parking rights, flower shows and so forth.

Mayor John Houlihan said he had received verbal assurance that the Raiders would definitely stay in Oakland.

Meanwhile, back in cold Boston, the Raiders prepared for tonight's joust with the Boston Patriots. A crowd of 18,000 was expected to sit in.

The Boston coach, Mike Holovak, said yesterday that his team had been working especially hard on stopping flanker Charley Fuller, who has averaged a remarkable 25 yards per catch this year.

"We only had to look at movies of Fuller in action against New York and Buffalo to realize that he is a dangerous receiver," he said.

The Raiders have been noticeably tougher since the heart of the offensive line, Jim Otto, Wayne Hawkins, and Willie Smith returned. They have provided blocking for Tommy Flores to get off his passes.

Unfortunately, Flores' tosses have been dropped repeatedly of late by a variety of Raider receivers. Coach Marty Feldman has been stressing pass receptions in drills this week.

Lavorante Will Fight Patterson Anywhere, Anytime

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A group of Buenos Aires sportsmen have approached Paul (Pinky) George, manager of Alejandro Lavorante, with a proposal to match the Argentinian challenger with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

George disclosed yesterday that he received an offer from Lozaro Koci, a spokesman for the group, to meet Patterson some time next year if the champion is agreeable.

The South American group said they would be willing to stage a Lavorante-Patterson fight, either championship or non-title, and that it would be held at Mar Del Plata, a resort near Buenos Aires.

"We would be ready to meet Patterson anywhere and at any time," George said.

Bruins Favored Over Huskies In Big 5 Feature

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Coast football teams are in for a tough weekend of intersectional games tomorrow while toothless Washington invades rugged UCLA in the only Big Five game.

Kansas, with a five-game winning streak, meets California at Berkeley, Southern California travels to Pittsburgh and Oregon meets powerful Ohio State at Columbus.

Stanford, with a long injury list, hosts a Washington State team that suddenly came alive last week on the strength, surprisingly, of its running.

Fresno State, finest of the West's small college teams with an 8-0 mark, hosts traditional rival San Jose State before going on to the Mercy Bowl and a Thanksgiving Day date with Bowling Green.

Brigham Young is at Oregon State.

Washington, the 1960 Big Five champ, hopes to wind up its 1961 conference schedule in a blaze of glory but UCLA is a solid favorite.

Cleveland Trades Temple To Orioles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland second baseman John Temple, the only player ever selected for the all-star starting lineup in both the National and American Leagues, was traded to the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

Baltimore gave up Harry Chiti, a catcher in the minors last season, and two players to be named by Dec. 15 to get Temple, who is expected to solve one of the Orioles' problems for the coming season.

Giant Publicist In Hospital For Possible Surgery

Garry Schumacher, public relations director for the San Francisco Giants, will know in two or three days whether he is to undergo surgery for an intestinal disorder.

Schumacher entered St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco last Saturday and was undergoing X-ray examinations this week. To date no surgery may be necessary, reported Giant publicity director John Taddeucci, "but we will know for sure by the end of the week."

Also last week, a daughter, Mary Patrick, was born to the wife of Charles S. Fenney, the club's vice president and general manager, at the Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

STEVENS

They say that virtue is its own reward. That indicates that Joe Navarro, of the Sports Center in Castro Valley must be a virtuous hombre. Otherwise, well here's the tale: Joe and a friend, Al Gelyke, went fishing recently in the Suisun Bay. Action was slow until Al inadvertently knocked Joe's favorite rod overboard. All efforts to retrieve the rod failed, until the two boys who had a full day's fishing finished, started to make their last cast (Joe had rigged up a spare rod). Al hooked onto the lost outfit, brought it in, Joe grabbed it and brought the line in hand over hand. At the end of the line was a nine-pound bass. Oh, yes, Joe had a 17-pound beauty besides.

ANOTHER STORY? Sure, this one a tragedy: Roy Erwin of the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael went out after pheasants the opening weekend. Worked hard for three windy days in the Maxwell area and came home with only two of the ringnecks. Roy told me the high winds kept the dog from scenting the game and caused the birds to stay well hidden.

STILL ON a story-telling spree. This one an epic tale of a successful encounter with a bear. The hero? Edward Williams, of Mill Valley. The villian, a 300-pound she bear, five and one-half feet tall, cinnamon colored. The place? South Fork of the Feather River on the rim of a deep gorge. Ed tells it this way: "I saw clawed bark on a tree and knew there was a bear or bears about. I followed the trail about 300 yards. Rusty, my Collie dog was around a bend in the trail. My father-in-law, Mr. Johnson, was 15 yards away. I was crawling under some brush when I heard a noise. I was still on my knees but cracked my 30/30 just as a bear came running at full speed ahead of the dog. She was only 10 feet away when she spotted me and came to a halt, half turned as though to take a chance with the dog instead of me. Her head was turned half away, but I saw her eyes open wide in surprise. I pulled trigger. The bullet struck the bear six inches below the back behind her shoulder. It came out on her right side and broke her backbone. She started to topple over the edge of the gorge but some brush stopped her fall about 40 feet down. It was sure a tough job getting her up and back to the cabin. According to the officer at the checking station at the Oroville sheriff's office, this was one of the first and very few bears shot in Sutter County."

CONGRATULATIONS to Tony Barness who so far is top rod in the Reel Rod-Benders bass derby. Tony registered a 15-pound, 8-ounce striper caught in Frank's Tract on Monday. I note that Tom Sato is running second with his 12½-pounder taken in the Suisun Bay.

AS HOPED for, bass fishing on the Marin side of the San Pablo Bay has steadily improved. Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching reported 63 stripers to 18 pounds coming in on Sunday. Most of them taken from the Shell Bank. Among the local lights who made the grade are Mack McLaughlin with a pair of 12-pounders and one of 18 pounds, Fred Reiglhaut and son brought in four fish to 13 pounds from the Pump House sector and Ken Wallman and friend unloaded two legal limits to 10 pounds.

REGARDING THE action in Richardson Bay, Tony Caruso, who has been checking that area several times a day, told me only a few herring have come in. Some fish were caught (nice ones) last week, but only a few. Tony expects the seasonal run of herring to arrive any day now. Also Tony (of Caruso's place at Sausalito) reported Frank Sargent and his boat the Aileen accounted for five limits of stripers to 12 pounds taken trolling in Racoon Strait on Tuesday.

PROSPECTS FOR a grand and glorious weekend of fishing in the Bay and Delta regions are very bright. Here's hoping you get your share. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Mad Racing Whirl Still Spinning

By AL MATSON

The mad merry-go-round of racing every Sunday continues this weekend with the Corinthian Yacht Club's second Regatta in their five-race series.

The same starting time as stipulated in the first race will be in effect, i.e., initial group will get the show on the road at 11:30 a.m. and the same starting line between the Club Flagstaff and a marker buoy, approximately one-fourth of a mile to the southeast.

Weather permitting, it is quite possible that the great participation of the first regatta will be equaled; 179 starters, an all time record. This is the 10th year of the Corinthian mid winters and the heavy turnout reflects the sentiments of many of the skippers; the club pioneered winter racing and is deserving first consideration in the three-pronged campaign now underway.

To the winner goes the spoils and tomorrow night the sailors who battled their way to victory in the Small Yacht Racing Assn.'s seasonal program will descend upon the Sausalito Yacht Club to collect their hard-won trophies.

The actual presentation will be enhanced by a dinner dance, a buffet affair, will be served at eight bells. Following the award distribution, captain Dick Hart will mount the poop-deck, pipe his crew of music makers to attention and there will be dancing till the wee sma' hours.

BRAVE GRIDDER—Trevor Benedict, 13, could barely walk due to severe physical handicaps when he turned out for the Redwood Junior Giants Pop Warner football team three years ago. Because of determination and courage, next week he will play in the Boise, Idaho, Bronco Bowl Thanksgiving Day game as a star tackle for Redwood.

Marin Lad Licked Handicap To Star With Warner Champs

A plucky boy who triumphed over severe physical handicaps to become an outstanding junior football player will be making the trip to Boise next week with the Redwood Giants of Corte Madera-Larkspur, champions of the Pop Warner League.

Trevor Benedict, 13-year-old tackle on coach John Pagliaro's pennant-winners, could barely walk when he turned out for the Giants three years ago. Trev had a serious muscular ailment, but he was determined to play.

Painfully jogging around the track for the strenuous physical conditioning that Pagliaro requires, the 10-year-old hopeful "just never quit, and asked no favor either," the coach recalls.

Young Benedict's willpower gradually overcame his weakened muscles until this year he played a key role in every game, stopping virtually every smash aimed at his end of the stalwart Giants' line. His spirit was nothing less than inspiring to the undefeated eleven, which racked up nine opponents and scored 241 points to 71 while doing it.

The invitation to Boise's Bronco Bowl on Thanksgiving Day is the second for the Giants in three years. In 1959 the 123-pounders from Marin County defeated a Boise club 34-14.

Unstoppable in the North Bay, the Corte Madera-Larkspur boys are sure they'll be unstoppable in Idaho on Turkey Day.

A helping of the Trevor Benedict brand of gumption could prove them right.

More Mercy Bowl Benefits Organized

MODESTO (UPI)—Los Angeles won't be the only site for the Mercy Bowl next week.

Station K-T-U-R in Turlock and the Yosemite Bowling Alley of Modesto today announced plans for a 24-hour "mercy bowl" drive Nov. 25, the Saturday after the game by the same name will be held in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The drive here will be for the same cause, help for the injured athletes and the families of the victims in the crash which wiped out most of the Cal Poly football team last year.

KTUR will broadcast for 12 hours straight from the alley, soliciting donations. In addition, 40 per cent of all advertising revenue the station takes in during the day and 10 cents per line for all games bowled at the alley will go to the Mercy Bowl fund.

Johnny Murphy, now chief scout for the New York Mets, won 93 games and lost 53 as a pitcher with the New York Yankees.

Decorations Guild To Premiere New Christmas Event

By PATRICIA ZINN

Another first for the Art and Garden Center and Marin will be introduced on Dec. 1, 2 when the Decorations Guild at the Center premieres "Twenty-four Doors and Tea."

The new event, originated by Mrs. Frank Stratford of Ross, member of the board of directors at the Center, will feature 24 doors decorated for Christmas by the Guild. The advance look at unusual decorations will herald the start of the sale of holiday decorations and will be climaxed with the Guild's Greens Sale on Dec. 15.

Exterior and interior doors, including back and front, kitchen, powder room, nursery and Dutch will be offered in the Northgate Building from 1 to 9 p.m. for the two-day sale.

Previews of the event featured an Oriental motif and make use of such materials as wicker trees, teasels, fruits, natural pods and pine cones. Both the ultimate and the elegant in paper backgrounds are included in green rice paper, knotty pine and yellow satins.

Various members are presenting surprise issues in door decorations, all of them using the interesting paper fabric and appliques of the dried arrangements for which the Decorations Guild is so famous.

Mrs. Henry E. Picard of Kentfield, a long-time active Guild member, will decorate the tea table with her own copper tea service and tea cloth of tangerine glitter fabric with green fish net covering.

Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey, president of the Guild is chairman of the presentation. Directing the arrangement of displays on the doors are Mrs. Tuckey and Mrs. Marion Ludlow.

Mrs. Winston Jones and Mrs. Stanley Steer will decorate a Sugar Plum Tree to be shown at the sale and also later at the Greens Sale.

Committee members include Mesdames Francis L. Burt, R. P. Forster, M. W. Milot, C. J. Bergstrom.

Presiding at the tea table will be the Mesdames Hugh Middleton, R. H. Cheda, Eugene Lloyd and Fred Sloat.

Mink Coat Is More Than Status Symbol

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—When you see a mink coat in production, you will appreciate more than its price tag.

The "anatomy" of a mink coat is more than skins created into a status symbol; it also is a result of many man hours by craftsmen.

Thirty years in the industry lie behind Leo Ritter, boss and chief designer for Ritter Brothers. It was at this firm that I went behind the scenes for a look at the production of millions of dollars of luxury per year.

Let us begin with that mink coat and what goes into its making.

First comes the fur—skins sold at auction from mid-December through the end of January. At auction, they go to the highest bidder, just as a piece of fruniture or a painting would go to the highest bidder. The furrier has had a chance before the auction to inspect the skins closely.

Skins are bought either raw or dressed; raw means that they come directly from the animal; dressed, that the pelts have been cured. After purchase, the furrier grades the pelts as to quality and color, matching them in terms of their ultimate destination — coat, stole, jacket.

Say that you're the customer about to order a custom-made mink coat. First you would work with Ritter or another furrier in selecting the style. Then you would get a head-to-hem coat made up in muslin. Any changes in fitting would be in the muslin stage. From the muslin a pattern is made, using brown paper about the weight of that used for parcel post wrapping.

You would decide with your furrier the type of mink you wanted—it probably would be one of the ranch-bred mutations. Ritter said that wild Labrador is the most precious of all minks, but there are only 1,600 to 1,800 Labradors trapped a year and the mink is smaller than the ranch-bred.

Ritter said there are only five or six Labradors made a year, and it wasn't too long ago that a San Francisco store advertised one for $35,000.

You can buy a mink coat for much less. Ritter said some are available for around $1,650, but "the woman who knows what she is buying will pay a little more; say $2,950."

RANCH-BRED

The ranch-bred mink is the most plentiful fur, and the Mutation Mink Breeders Association has registered 12 trademarks as basic mutations. But its "mink color wheel" lists 34 shadings on these from the standard dark ranch to demi-buff.

Once you have selected the skins, the cutter goes to work. Gills and head are removed from the pelts; the skin is split down the center, for this way, one half goes into one side of the coat, the other half in exactly the same position on the opposite side, for perfect matching.

Each skin is numbered on the inside to the place it ultimately will go on the pattern; then another, more complicated process begins. Each section of the pelt is cut on the diagonal into strips, then sewn together again with the finest cotton or cotton - and - silk thread.

This elongates the skin: "letting it out," is the industry term for the process. Ritter said this makes for more beautiful shadings in the fur and a more beautiful finished product.

NAILED DOWN

These re-sewn strips of mink then are nailed (with nails not much bigger than straight pins) to the pattern, with the numbers on skin and pattern corresponding. The nailing is to the pattern lying flat on a wooden slab about the size of a dining room table. Once all the fur strips are in place, the board is propped vertically so a "drying" or curing and setting process can begin. This takes at least 48 hours, said Ritter.

Now, another expert takes over, trimming away any ragged edges of fur, and sewing in horizontal strips of tape so that your mink coat won't have any sag even 10 years hence. Now, the coat is "closed"—that is, the parts all are sewn together.

Then comes a cleaning in sawdust. The fur is dumped into a ripidly revolving bin of the stuff. Then it goes into a clean cylinder and a blower removes any residue.

Your mink coat now is ready for the tailors who line it and add hooks and buttons. Finally comes a pressing. A craftsman uses something like a curry comb and a warm iron to give the finished "glaze" and shape to the fur.

"By this time," said Ritter of a mink coat, "we have made anywhere from 55 to 155 animals look like one."

A JANUARY wedding is being planned by Ellen Catherine Rynders and Charles E. Fisher Jr., both of Mill Valley. (Don Faulkner photo)

Ellen Rynders To Be Bride In Mill Valley Church Rite

The engagement of Ellen Catherine Rynders and Charles E. Fisher Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rynders of Mill Valley.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rynders of Mill Valley. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, and is employed by Wells Fargo American Trust Co. in San Anselmo. She is the sister of Fred and Edward Rynders of Mill Valley.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher of Mill Valley and the brother of Mrs. Allan Kreyer of San Francisco, and Mrs. Charles Kuenzel of Cincinnati, Ohio. He also is a Tamalpais graduate and is a salesman for Dorothy E. Fisher Realty Co.

The couple plans to be married Jan. 13 at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

If Entertaining At Home Hosts Are On Hand Early

When entertaining at home the host and hostess should be ready to receive their guests in the living room at least 10 minutes before the hour for which the guests have been invited.

The guests should always speak to the hostess first, the host next, and then the other guests. When a guest brings friends, they are introduced at once to the hosts, as soon as the greeting is over. The host or hostess should then introduce these friends to some of the other guests; or, at a small party, to all of them.

At a luncheon or dinner party, the hostess starts the procession to the table with the announcement "Shall we go in?" She then guides in the guest who will sit at her right. If there are no place cards, the hostess directs each guest to his place at the table.

At a tea (or afternoon coffee) party, the refreshments may be served as soon as the first guests arrive. If there are men and women at the tea, and a host as well as a hostess, the host and the other men should wait on the women guests.

A cocktail party is the most informal way of entertaining. Refreshments are served as the guests arrive and there is no set hour at which guests must arrive.

At informal dances, the host and hostess stand within hailing distance of the door. After about 30 minutes, they start dancing and only keep an eye on the door to greet new arrivals.

At both semi-formal and formal dances, the guests are announced and the host and hostess stand by the door to receive them. At a very big dance, the guests of honor are expected to stay in the receiving line with the host and hostess for an hour or more.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D

It's Time That Parents Had Their Say On Schools

Are you satisfied with your children's schools? What changes could be made to improve them? How can schools become more effective?

Will you write to me, answering these questions?

Senators and admirals often criticize our schools, but so far nobody has spoken for us parents. We're closer to schools than the big shots. We know our children better than they do. It's time we had our say.

Put on your thinking cap. Express your opinions in detail. What especially good things have happened to your children? What bad things? Have there been odd and unexpected occurrences? What could be done to improve their education? And the education of their classmates?

Address your letters to Richmond Barbour in care of this newspaper. You might ask thoughtful neighbors who don't see this column to write, too. Their ideas will be welcomed.

Be sure to sign your letter, and give your address. Thank you, sincerely!

(A) Stuttering as such is not inherited. However, a predisposition to the emotional problems which can lead to stuttering may be inherited, one way or another. A happy, healthy, successful life is the best preventive. Take your boy to a qualified speech therapist for help.

Italians Enraged By Massacre Of Airmen In Congo

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In Rome today Communist and right-wing deputies brawled in parliament over the massacre of 13 Italian airmen by Congo troops. Students demonstrated outside against the "Communist-supported cannibals."

Deputies of the MSI neo-Fascist party demanded that the government smash into The Congo on its own with force to find and wipe out the "cannibals" they said were supported by pro-Communist Antoine Gigenza, political heir to Patrice Lumumba. In the senate, Vincenzo Menghi, one of Premier Antonio Fanfani's Christian Democratic Party members, suggested the United Nations "occupy all the territory of The Congo and expel native and foreign political intriguers."

There was bitter denunciation of the 200 Malayan U.N. troops in Kindu who did nothing to prevent the Italian's slaughter. (By coincidence, Malay Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman passed through Rome by air en route to London. He said he was "shocked" by the massacre.)

In The Congo, U.N. troops took action today by sealing air fields around Kindu to cut off any possible escape for mutinous Congolese soldiers who massacred 13 Italian airmen there on a mercy mission.

Only United Nations planes, flying Malayan reinforcements into the area, were allowed use of the fields, a U.N. spokesman said.

In Leopoldville, the United Nations named Lt: Col. Bengt Lindeblad of Sweden, Lt. Col. Nil Borchgrevink of Norway and Alec Duncan-Smith of Britain to begin an investigation into the slaughter. The Congolese central government also will assign men to the joint investigation.

The United Nations rushed fresh Malayan troops to reinforce the 200-man Malayan garrison at Kindu under orders from acting Secretary-General Thant in New York.

Sub-Freezing Weather Hits Across County

Freezing weather hit Marin last night.

The temperature at the county fire station in Woodacre dropped to 19¾ degrees early today — the coldest reading since last February. It was the coldest point reported in the Bay Area.

Sub-freezing temperatures were reported in virtually all parts of the county.

The county agricultural commissioner's office reported some damage to some plants would almost certainly result from a freeze so soon after weather which saw thermometer readings in the 70s as recently as Tuesday. Mrs. Harold Donahoo of 56 Clayton Street in San Rafael's Bret Harte district reported her flowers killed by frost. The thermometer outside her home recorded 29 degrees at 8:20 a.m., she said.

Water spilling from fire hoses turned to ice as county firemen fought a blaze that destroyed a home in Lagunitas last night.

Thomas S. West reported two inches of ice on a bird bath in his yard at 411 Maple Street, Tamalpais Valley, this morning. He said the mercury there dropped to 23 degrees at 4:30 a.m.

Frank Garcia of 19 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia, said his thermometer recorded a low of 19 degrees. John J. Niebauer recorded 29 degrees in the Chevy Chase district of Larkspur.

Minimum readings recorded at fire houses and city halls around the county included 34 in San Rafael, 26 in Novato, 28 at Hamilton Air Force Base, 30 in Alto, 31 in Tamalpais Valley and San Anselmo, 32 in Fairfax and Belvedere, and 38 in Sausalito.

In a freak quirk of the weather, it was warm atop Mount Tamalpais while the valleys shivered. Art McKay, at the fire lookout station atop the mountain, reported the reading there was 43 degrees at 3 a.m.

A storm moving inland north of Marin tonight should break the cold snap, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted.

Rayburn died of cancer yesterday in modest Risser Hospital here.

Water Study Of Eel River Is Promised

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Federal Bureau of Reclamation agreed yesterday to study possibility of bringing water to Marin and other North Bay counties from the Eel River on California's North Coast.

Patrick Head, bureau regional development project engineer, told a meeting of state and county officials "we will immediately, as of today, get under way" to include the North Bay counties in the current Eel River studies.

But he warned that if a pending report on the state's North Bay Aqueduct proved to be so complete as to eliminate the necessity of further study, the bureau would halt its work.

John M. Healey, chief of the northern branch of the State Department of Water Resources, told the 35 persons present, that the latest North Bay Aqueduct report is completed, but has not yet been reviewed and approved by the department director.

"We had hoped to meet with him tonight," Head said, "but he was called out of town and the meeting was postponed. We hope to complete the re-

San Jose May Guarantee School Jobs

San Jose Elementary School District trustees may decide to extend contracts of two of the district's administrators to guarantee their jobs in case of unification with Novato School District in next Tuesday's election.

The Novato board at a special meeting Wednesday night extended for two years the contracts of Supt. W. J. J. Smith and his two top assistants, with the extension contingent on passage of unification. Vote for the extension was recorded as unanimous. All three contracts were to expire next June 30.

Mrs. Jean Ansley, clerk of the San Jose District board, said yesterday she thought that board would take similar action on the contracts of Duane Moeller, thed istrict's assistant superintendent in charge of business services, and Miss Robin Briscoe, director of curriculum.

Both are on one-year contracts expiring next June 30.

YOU CAN SURVIVE
What City Dweller Can Do In Attack

(Tenth in a series)

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Big cities probably are prime targets of nuclear attack.

Any city could be hit, with an aiming error of perhaps only a few miles in placing a rocket warhead in the heart of a metropolis.

The aiming errors, defense actions such as interceptor missiles, and other variables could keep the center of a city from being hit, with a suburb taking the full brunt. This is unpredictable.

With proper defense, most city dwellers and workers could be saved. Our cities are vulnerable right now because shamefully little has been done. City dwellers should be demanding action quickly, and taking individual steps to protect themselves.

Some cities have designated public shelters in basements or other areas of large public and office buildings, or factories. But few if any are yet stocked with necessary provisions to sit out the period of intense fallout.

Indeed, survey to locate the best shelter areas are still being planned, rather than long ago accomplished.

A few firms or companies have taken the initiative, and shown what is possible. For example, one company with 3,500 employes has prepared shelters in its buildings and stocked them at a cost of about $3.50 per employee.

At the University of California at Los Angeles, in two days we mapped the campus

Skipper Of Lost Boat Takes Life In Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—The skipper of a luxury sail boat that went down mysteriously Sunday night during a Bahama squall killed himself today just 24 hours after the only other known survivor of the sinking was found. (See also Storm, page 4.)

The body of 45-year-old Capt. Julian Harvey was discovered in a motel room. He had slit his arms, wrists and throat with a razor.

Besides Harvey, the only other known survivor of the sinking of the ketch Blue Bell is 11-year-old Terry Jo Duperrault of Green Bay, Wis.

She was picked up yesterday by a passing freighter and rushed by helicopter to a Miami hospital, where she is recuperating from severe shock and exposure.

Miami police said Harvey left a two-page note that did not make any reference to the yachting incident. It was addressed to a personal friend and dealt with financial arrangements and arrangements for taking care of Harvey's son, a student at a military academy here.

Blaze Leaves Family Of Six Without Home

A Lagunitas home was destroyed by fire last night while its occupants attended church services.

Freezing weather turned water from the fire hoses to ice as Marin County firemen battled the blaze in the residence of G. L. Sperry, a building contractor, on Spring Avenue near Lagunitas Road.

Firemen, called by a neighbor at 8:51 p.m., found the frame residence completely enveloped by flames.

Besides the cold, lack of nearby water supply hampered their battle against the fire. For six hours, they relayed water 2,000 feet from the nearest hydrant on Lagunitas Road to stop the spread of flames to neighboring homes.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Sperry and their four children were attending church services at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Fairfax, firemen reported.

They returned to find their home only smouldering ruins. Neighbors took them in for the night.

Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley estimated damage at $15,000. He said the blaze apparently spread from a fire left unattended in the fireplace when the family left for the church meeting at 7:15 p.m.

Non-Scheduled Airlines Need New Clearance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ruled today that all non-scheduled airlines must be cleared by the U.S. military air transport service before they carry troops in this country.

To assure maximum safety, McNamara ordered the Transport Service to investigate the non-scheduled airlines' financial and other capabilities.

The order grew out of the Nov. 8 crash at Richmond, Va., in which 74 recruits were killed in a non-scheduled carrier.

Designers Turn Attention, Talent To Laundry Areas

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Designers and architects have turned their talents to laundry areas.

A manufacturer of automatic wash machines and dryers put the designers and architects to work on the problem. The reason: many new homes have no basements and laundry equipment must be installed in full view in kitchen, bathroom, utility room, hall, spare bedroom or possibly garage or covered patio in warmer climates.

Naturally laundry areas in these upstairs rooms must be more compact and attractive than in the basement.

The designers' and architects' plans for laundries in these rooms include designs for various geographical areas, houses and apartments, new and remodeled homes.

One plan calls for installation of the laundry in the dinette by replacing a built-in buffet with a laundry center wall, complete with built-in storage. Another plan, for a retirement home, features three pass-through clothes bins in the wall between hall and utility room, saving steps.

In a kitchen laundry plan, an island sink divides cooking and laundry areas, and doubles as a kitchen sink and wash tub.

Another plan involves the use of a laundry "carousel." Automatic washer, small sink and dryer are mounted on a turntable which revolves to expose a toy storage area.

Here are some of the factors designers consider in choosing the best room for a laundry area upstairs and making it attractive:

The kitchen is a practical site because it allows for interspersing washing with other jobs.

Charity-minded women who go in for bake sales as means of raising money for church or other funds, might take a cue from a group of neighbors in Syracuse, N. They don gala costumes and drive their gaily decorated and cake-laden station wagons to all parts of the city.

Ballet Aquacade Becomes Unit Of Marin General Auxiliary

After 16 years under Junior Theater sponsorship the Ballet Aquacade is now on its own as the fourth and largest branch of the Marin General Hospital Auxiliary.

The June event is now wholly a fund raising activity for the hospital, a trend that began 10 years ago when the hospital was built and the former sponsor, the Ross-Kentfield-Greenbrae Unit of Junior Theater of Marin, began to donate much of the proceeds for pediatric equipment at the hospital. However, part of the proceeds covered expenses of the free summer theater program for children. During the 10 years that the hospital has been in operation the Junior Theater donated about $10,000 to it.

Originated and directed by Mrs. Ralston Hodgson, Ballet Aquacade will present its 17th annual performance June 9 and 10.

When it was decided that the hospital auxiliary would launch the new branch, a coffee hour was held Friday at St. John's community house in Ross. Eighty-five prospective members responded and were addressed by Mrs. Hodgson, William Turner, Marin Genera hospital administrator, and Mrs. John M. Kyle, from the auxiliary.

The augmented official new branch includes Mesdames Hodgson, Douglas Pease, William Turner, Marin General Hodgson, Douglas Pease, president of Ross-Kentfield Junior Theater, William Cuneo, Gordon Cuneo, John Barrie Jr., William Costa, James Heynemann, Roger Kane, Terres Ronneberg, Fred Enemark, D. F. Morrell and Thomas Gilboy. The liaison committee from the hospital auxiliary, all former associates of Ballet Aquacade, are Mrs. Jules Becker, 1959 chairman; Mrs. Howard Burns, swim coach and Mrs. John O'Connell, production staff.

Luncheon Tomorrow

Mrs. Marguerite Layton of San Rafael is taking reservations for the luncheon that will be given tomorrow by Northern California Alumnae Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta at the Alta Mira Hotel. Miss Myrna Hughes will speak at the noon event on "Creative Teaching in the Educational System of Great Britain."

Check Floor Wax Before Buying

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Check that floor wax you're buying, warns Jean Heath of Cornell University's New York State College of Home Economics.

Miss Heath said, despite the variety available, floor waxes are one of two kinds — spirit solvent or water emulsion.

Spirit solvent waxes do not build up around the edges of a room. When the new wax is applied, it dissolves the old wax and picks up the dirt in it.

However, Miss Heath warned, spirit solvent waxes can be used only on raw wood or cork floors. They soften asphalt and rubber tiles.

Official Says Truck, Rails In Competition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former Illinois trucking official supports Southern Pacific's contention that trucks are the great source of competition to railroads.

R. Garrett Phillips, an S.P. witness, told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing yesterday 53 per cent of truck traffic is unregulated and about half of it illegal.

Phillips, one time chief law enforcement officer of the motor carrier division of the Illinois Commerce Commission, estimated one in four trucks engage in activities designed to evade the law.

"The unregulated motor carrier," he said, "is rapidly becoming the greatest single source of competition not only to railroads but to regulated for-hire motor carriers."

S.P. and Santa Fe are seeking control of Western Pacific Railroad at the ICC hearings.

No Shelter

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kenney, brother of the president, has no family fallout shelter.

At a news conference yesterday night, he said he plans no shelter until a federal policy is established leading toward shelters for everyone.

"Until then," he said, "I'm going to wait."

U.S. Must Maintain Strength, JFK Says

SEATTLE (AP)—President John F. Kennedy says the United States must be willing to negotiate cold war issues from a position of strength. To preach either war or surrender, he says, does a disservice to the nation.

As the Western Allies, including West Germany, renew efforts to unify their stand toward the Soviet Union, Kennedy yesterday made clear these views:

To encourage "appeasement or war, suicide or surrender," will divide the nation, create uncertainty among allies and inspire doubt in the Communist bloc of the West's readiness to defend its rights.

"The United States cannot impose its will on others," he said. "There cannot be an American solution for every world problem."

The United States will never negotiate merely for the sake of negotiation, nor will it ever subject freedom to negotiation. But so long as vital interests and goals are clear, "we have nothing to fear from negotiations at the appropriate time and nothing to gain by refusing to play a part in them."

Talking out East-West disputes will succeed only if each side can find success in the result. In effect, neither side can expect total victory.

Although the French and others may see weakness in taking the initiative in bargaining with Moscow, "this nation cannot abdicate to its adversaries," the setting and conditions of negotiations.

Kennedy addressed 11,000 faculty members, students and guests at the University of Washington's 100th anniversary convocation.

Big Board Members

NEW YORK (UPI) — At last count, the New York stock exchange had 3,166 member offices located in 772 different cities in the United States and in 23 foreign countries.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

62 Hurt At Crossing

BEECH, Iowa (UPI) — A speeding Rock Island "Twin Star Rocket" passenger train slammed into a road grader at an unmarked crossing late yesterday, injuring 62 persons, one critically.

Most seriously hurt was a passenger aboard the Houston to Minneapolis train, Henry Fox of Topeka who was in critical condition at a Des Moines hospital.

The driver of the road grader, Lyle Wellons, 58, Hartfort, Iowa, was in serious condition at the same hospital. Wellons lost part of his right leg in a similar accident 10 years ago when his grader was struck by a Rock Island freight train at another nearby crossing.

Capsule Recovered

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States recovered its 10th space capsule yesterday over tiny Tern Island, northwest of Hawaii.

The 300-pound, gold-plated capsule was snagged in the air as it parachuted from space after 18 trips around the world. A C-130 cargo plane, piloted by Capt. James McCullough made the catch at 13,000 feet.

Air Force officers said the kettle-shaped capsule contained a number of biological and radiation sampling experiments and solor cells to test the efficiency of them as a power source in space.

Land Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The unsuspecting land buyer may end up with a subdivision he has never seen in the path of a Hawaiian volcano, a California official warns.

The charge was made yesterday at the opening session of a two-day legislative hearing into alleged unsavory out-of-state land promotions.

Donald McClure, assistant state real estate commissioner, said that some properties for sale in Hawaii were located on lava waste lands. He mentioned subdivisions near the village of Kapoho which was covered by lava in a 1960 eruption.

Storms Spread

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, rain and strong winds spread across northern sections of the nation today from the Plateau region to the Atlantic Coast.

The first heavy snowstorm of the season which hit the Midwest region yesterday moved northeastward and was centered over the Georgian Bay area of Lake Huron.

Snows tapered off in most Western and Midwest areas but it was cold in most sections. Snow falls measured about six inches in Michigan and Minnesota, and four inches in Iowa and Wisconsin. Damaging rains preceded the snow in some areas.

Loses Alimony

LONDON (UPI) — Marjorie Hartford, a former cigarette girl who married the heir to the A&P food store millions, has traded a $58,800-a-year alimony income for a second husband.

The 31-year-old former wife of millionaire Huntington Hartford married actor Dudley Sutton, 28, in a civil ceremony here yesterday.

Thus she lost Hartford's annual allowance. Presumably, she still has the $280,000 cash settlement he gave her when their marriage was dissolved last February.

Still No Crab

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crab fishermen, in a price dispute with wholesale buyers, kept their boats in port for the fourth straight day yesterday.

Retail merchants and restaurateurs along crabless Fishermen's Wharf offered to pay the fishermen 30 cents a pound —five more than they are asking—to bypass wholesalers, who are offering 18 cents a pound.

But representatives of the Crab Boat Owners Assn. declined.

Fish have been kept in captivity since at least 2500 B.C. when the Sumerians maintained them in ponds for food.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Nov. 17, the 321st day of the year with 44 more to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1800, Congress convened in Washington for the first time. The session was held in the north wing of the capitol. The only portion of building then completed.

In 1869, the Suez Canal in Egypt was formally opened.

In 1881, Samuel Gompers organized the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada at a meeting held in Pittsburgh.

In 1951, the pro-Soviet World Federation of Trade Unions openly advocated Communist infiltration into non-Communist labor organizations to hinder Western rearmament.

A thought for the day: Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, said: "Soap and education are not as sudden as a massacre, but they are more deadly in the long run."

Shelter Controversy Danger Is Divided American People

It appears to us that the greatest danger of the current fallout shelter controvery is the possibility of serious division within the United States itself.

"Peace" proponents have designated the shelter program as a symbol, elevating it to a status in the defense picture far above its actual importance.

Proponents of shelters have therefor solidified their positions. Thus are forming two hard-shelled camps, sniping at each other over the heads of a concerned, confused and fearful general public, caught in the middle.

Lacking from the scene is any real leadership. There are scientists in both camps. There are religious leaders in both camps.

From Sacramento comes information about the need for fallout shelters from a Civil Defense office which hasn't built one for itself.

From Washington has come practically nothing, except high sounding speeches from the highest officials.

So the people are milling first this way, then that way. They are being called "immoral" and "warmongers" if they want to build shelters. They are called "wild eyed idealists" or "Communist stooges" if they don't. The terms "defeatist" and "traitor" have been applied indiscriminately by both sides on the other.

Obviously, such a situation is good neither for the peace effort, the defense effort, nor the already taut nerves of the common man.

Fallout shelters were developed merely to protect their occupants from fallout. Fallout was pointed out as the big danger of nuclear explosions as far back as the Bikini tests. And "peace" advocates were quick to point this out then.

The shelters are not designed to, nor will they protect from bomb blast, radiation, fire, lack of oxygen, or a half dozen other possible effects of nuclear warfare. They are shelters from fallout only.

If people understand what they are building and make up their minds they want to put the money and effort into this much protection, we can't see any good reason why they shouldn't. In fact we would encourage it.

At the same time, we would urge such people not to think they have done their share by protecting themselves that much.

The biggest job is to see that the shelter never has to be used.

We also would warn those who decry construction of such shelters that they haven't done all they can if they merely write a letter to Nikita Khrushchev or their congressman urging an end to war.

It's not that simple.

It is just as dangerous to write a letter and then sit back and think the job is done, as to build a shelter and then assume you've produced safety.

Bringing true peace to the world is a long, hard process. It is going to take long, hard negotiating, probably for many years. No single act, like unilateral disarmament or an uninspected atomic test ban, will bring peace.

The most important things for us to do are to calm the hysteria which has, to a great extent, been brought about by the fallout shelter debacle; to put that program in perspective, join forces again and unite our efforts in the real goal of us all — peace and freedom around the earth.

RELAX, JACK—

The Map Game At Tiburon

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Up to a year ago, one could rely with some confidence on the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan as a guide in predicting the future development of the area. On the surface, it appeared that the master plan had been enforced with the appropriate zoning and that the county board would uphold it with integrity and intelligence.

Today, Tiburon is at the cross-roads. The projected road system is disintegrating into a series of narrow, substandard cul-de-sacs. The amount of land set aside for apartments under the master plan has already been doubled and an additional 117 acres is scheduled to be heard by the county board after the Dec. 5 election.

The planned commercial zoning requirements for the business district have yet to be enforced and have been bypassed again and again by variance. Even the parking has been handled by temporary, makeshift solutions.

Irresponsible citizens now while away their time at the "map game." They draw maps chopping off the choicest parts of the peninsula tax base for annexation to adjoining communities. Even such innocuous organizations as the local chamber of commerce are fair game for the map players.

So far, the community leadership to deal with these problems has been lacking. The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce has an outstanding record of negative accomplishment over the past year. The Tiburon Coordinating Council has been inept and ineffective. The various property owner groups are myopic in outlook and geared only for spasmodic bursts of activity.

It is hoped that an increasing awareness of our immediate problems will bring an awareness that incorporation could be an effective vehicle for safeguarding the tremendous potential of Tiburon.

Incorporation should be decided by ballot and soon!

Dance Teachers Are Trained

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You are undoubtedly unaware of the fact that the ad on behalf of the Arthur Murray studio appearing in your Nov. 4 issue, has already been protested as misleading and unfair by the National Council of Dance Teachers and its member organizations.

This ad originally appeared in the Oct. 17, 1961, issue of The New York Times and was later published by other newspapers indicating a nationwide campaign by the Murray organization.

Although the ad is misleading on two major counts, I will restrict myself to one point which can be factually verified. This is a boxed note in the ad which states:

"CAUTION—Most dancing schools were started by people without adequate training in the teaching of ballroom dancing.

"At a studio licensed by Arthur Murray, Inc., you are assured expert instruction because every teacher is carefully chosen and thoroughly trained before he can qualify to teach you." . . .

Where are the facts to prove such a wild statement? On what grounds, statistical or otherwise, can the Murray managers claim that "most" independents are without "adequate training"?

In Marin County, so far as I know, the undersigned is the only independent specializing only in adult ballroom dance instruction.

Qualifications include:

1. For American Free Style, Latin, etc. Certification from: Dance Educators of America, Inc. Accredited Member No. 686.

2. For International Style —Slow Foxtrot, Quickstep, Waltz and Tango. Certification from: Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing, London, England. (Association Exam. —Commended rating, and full membership accredited No. RB 2854/20.)

3. Adjudicator for: International Style, and American Free Style—National Smooth Dancers of California, Inc., Peninsula Intl. Dance Club, etc.

Other than Marin County, I would say that what facts are available are all in favor of the independent dance teachers . . .

The small independent dance school and independent instructors do not have the funds to publicly advertise like the Murrays . . .

How then can the independents exist unless they can sell superior ballroom dancing at lower cost? Actually, the clientele of the independent is built up through word of mouth advertising. A quality teacher who can produce superior ballroom dancing does not have to use high pressure selling tactics, good dancing practically sells itself . . .

Marin Teacher Invents Colored Rods To Better Teach Mathematics

The first graders in Mrs. Ruth Travis' class at Wolfe Grade School are having fun learning math.

Instead of the usual book-learning "two plus two makes four" technique, her pupils can learn math by stacking multi-colored wooden rods upon each other. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

I watched one of her students using the rods and saw the fun and understanding take place as he felt the relationship of the numbers instead of just reading about them.

THE RODS START with a blue cube, one and five-eighths inches in size, an end with a chartreuse rod 10 times longer than the "number one rod." The 10 rods are painted so they will match colors of crayons. The children can stack up the rods and write the corresponding numbers with a crayon or draw rods on graph paper.

An example of addition by using the rods: placing a blue number one rod as a base and stacking a green number two rod on top of it, the child can place next to the stack a yellow number three rod. He can feel and see that one and two together is equal in size to three.

MRS. TRAVIS' husband, Carlton, a specialist when it comes to paints, mixed up the colors himself at home. Mr. and Mrs. Travis and their five sons and daughters, who range in age from 18 to 25, all helped in the project to make the initial rods.

Mrs. Travis has received an agreement with Skaneatles Handicrafters of New York to make more sets of "Travis Rods" for children of other schools. She has already applied for a patent and her trademark is pending registration.

Some of the rods are being made by the inmates of San Quentin Prison.

She is working on having three set sizes. Her one and five-eighths inch size will be supplemented with one-half inch and one inch sizes.

Mrs. Travis points out that not only addition is learned, but subtraction and multiplication are learned as well. The child can stack up two rows of five "number one" rods and see that there are a total of 10. To the child, this is proof positive that two times five is 10.

The first grade teacher even shows how the rods can be used to aid in teaching art and music. She is trying to make a hundred and one uses for the rods, and with her enthusiasm, I wouldn't doubt she succeeds.

NEXT SEMESTER the first graders in the Kentfield School District will be tested to find the values of this type of mathematics. One of the first grade classes in the district will have no use of the rods, but will learn math in the orthodox method.

Another first grade class will use the rods for one-half day and a third group will use the rods all day. At the end of the semester the children will be tested to find which control group learned the most.

The test will indicate whether this new technique of math teaching is better than the way most of us learned.

MRS. TRAVIS has been invited to speak at the California Mathematics Council Conference at Asilomar this weekend. She is not going to the conference ill prepared.

She has drawn up charts and graphs explaining the different uses of the rods.

It's nice to know we have this kind of person in Marin who doesn't say, "If it was good enough for my father it's good enough for me."

I have heard this much too often.

Hollywood Stars Finally Beginning To Make Opinions Heard Again

LOS ANGELES — After a long night of timid silence, partly imposed by a timid industry, Hollywood stars and writers are again coming out into the open—and expressing their opinion.

For years, their voices have been frozen by fear—and not without some reason —of being branded Communist or radical or at least controversial.

But at last they're venturing into the arena of public advocacy and doing what comes naturally to show business luminaries—to say how they feel about what they think is important.

If Bob Hope can come out against cancer, Rita Moreno and Marlon Brando and Shirley MacLaine and others have decided that they can come out against nuclear testing without risking their jobs or their box-office popularity.

THIS IS EXACTLY what they are doing.

They are calling Khrushchev's 50-megaton bomb "a crime against humanity."

They are asking the government of the United States to "press steadily for ending all nuclear tests with full international inspection as guarantee against default by any nation."

They are urging "disarmament under strict control."

They are saying to all who will listen that "if war is not brought to an end, it will bring an end to everybody."

And they plan to greet President Kennedy when he gets to Los Angeles with a real star-studded mass demonstration, Hollywood-style, to bring home their earnest and passionate appeal.

THESE ARE NOT frightfully controversial objectives. Not unless it is deemed intellectually impolite to disagree with Nehru and the other neutrals who want the U. S. to accept another moratorium on tests without inspection to see how long the Soviets will keep it.

But it is not easy for top-draw Hollywood people to free themselves from the pall of intellectual repression which has ruled the motion picture and TV industries since the "Hollywood Ten" were caught in the coils of the House Un-American Activities Committee in the late '40s.

It is not my view that these 10 directors and writers who took the Fifth Amendment rather than answer questions about Communist activities were smeared by the House Committee. Rather it was the "Hollywood Ten" who smeared Hollywood and whose actions led to the extremes which have on pain of professional punishment kept show business people from exercising their rights as citizens, to extend their views publicly on public matters.

I COUNT IT ALL to the good, wholly proper and welcome, that the intellectual blight which has gripped Hollywood for so many years is lifting and that Hollywood figures have decided to be citizens as well as artists.

We don't have to agree wtih everything they say or do, but this is the time to be willing to stand up and be counted. It may well be that control of nuclear weapons is as important as box-office rating, if that is at stake.

SARCASM SOLVES NOTHING

Do you know the origin of the word "sarcasm?" It comes from the Greek verb "sarkazo", meaning "to tear flesh."

Perhaps these dictionary definitions will give a better appreciation of "sarcasm."

"A keenly ironical, scornful, or taunting expression; cutting and reproachful language; that form of irony in which the speaker is actuated by scorn.

All of us are tempted to be sarcastic under aggravating circumstances. And we yield to the temptation at one time or another.

A biting remark at home, work or in a social gathering is bound to "tear flesh." And often the wounds are slow to heal.

It requires only a slight effort and a moment longer to blend gentleness with firmness. And you will be blessed by both God and man if you add a divine note of peace to a world sorely in need of it.

"If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man." (James 3:2)

Grant, O Holy Spirit, that I may learn to be gracious when tempted to be curt.

It Takes A Heap Of Courage To Be A Fat Man These Days

NEW YORK (AP)—It takes real courage today to be a fat man.

The fellow who packs a paunch is one of the unsung heroes of our times. He is the great nonconformist of this generation, and his protuberant tummy is a badge of distinction, a token of true bravery flaunted in the face of the calorie-counting mob.

Anybody today can be skinny and stroll the land like a rampant beanpole. All you have to do is do without what most of mankind has struggled for over the last million years—food.

The dieters who go through this agony and wind up looking like a walking exclamation point may or may not be saints. But why do they have to regard all fat men as sinners—and their mortal enemies?

Every time these emaciated wretches meet an honest fat man they poke bony finger in his chubby stomach and say things like:

"You're putting it on again, I see."

It is high time the fat men of America formed themselves into a protective society to guard themselves against detractors. They should carry a neon-lit sign on their stomachs saying.

"Please do not touch. Contents valuable."

A fat man, if left alone, is generally one of nature's noblemen. His crime, if any, is that he simply enjoys the good things of this world—and doesn't mind showing it. He is no hypocrite.

SECRETLY, he probably has a quiet pride in his large, economy-size stomach. It has many advantages. You can't beat it for showing off a Phi Beta Kappa key, and it makes a wonderful shield in pushing one's way through a crowded bus.

All fat men ask is that they be left alone to go through life enjoying peace of mind—and a piece of cake, too. Their motto is, "Live and let live."

BUT SKINNY people won't let them. Skinny people can't stand the sight of a comfortable, contented fat man.

It's about time fat men started fighting back. Our suggestion is that on a given day of each month—and at a certain hour—every fat man in America should turn around and fall down on the nearest dieter and smother him.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Early in Robert Taylor's motion picture career, the budding star decided he was being underpaid and sought a raise from the Great Mogul of the MGM studio, the late Louis B. Mayer, who could weep a bucket of tears at will. He sat Taylor down and told him, "Bob, I have two lovely daughters but no son. If I DID have a son—and I would have liked him to be as handsome, brilliant, and talented as you—I would have told him, 'Son, you are now working for a great studio that one day will make you a great, great star. Don't make the mistake, my son, of demanding a raise now."

Taylor was in something of a daze when he found himself back in the anteroom. "Well," demanded his agent, "did you get a raise?" "No," admitted Taylor, "but I got a father."

CRITICAL AFTER RESCUE — The sunburned face of 11-year-old Terry Jo Duperrault is shown against a pillow in a Miami hospital after 81 hours adrift on a life raft in the Atlantic. Doctors say she has gained dramatically and will probably live. (AP Wirephoto)

Girl Plucked From Atlantic Life Raft Gaining After 81 Hour Ordeal

MIAMI (UPI) — A Blonde 11-year-old girl plucked from a life raft after 81 hours adrift in the open Atlantic gained dramatically today in her fight to recover from the experience.

A relative of the girl, Terry Jo Duperrault, said the brown-eyed child was recovering from the effects of shock and exposure and hospital authorities said she had been removed from the critical list.

The Coast Guard today ordered a formal investigation of the incident while Coast Guard ships and planes searched for more survivors of the 60-foot ketch Blue Bell that burned and sank last Sunday night.

Terry Jo's mother, father and brother still are missing along with the wife of the yacht's skipper. The child was plucked from her white cork life raft by crewmen of a passing freighter.

Lt. Ernest Murdock, who was appointed investigating officer, said a formal inquiry was decided on after a preliminary hearing yesterday. He said testimony would begin about Nov. 27.

The Coast Guard cutters and two planes were searching an area about 120 miles east-northeast of Miami for traces of the yacht or its passengers. They had found nothing by midmorning.

Still missing were Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Duperrault of Green Bay, Wis., Terry Jo's parents; a brother, Brian, 14, and Mrs. Mary Dene Harvey, 34, wife of Blue Bell captain Julian Harvey, 45, of Fort Lauderdale.

Harvey, thought until yesterday to be the only survivor of the ketch, was picked up Monday by a tanker about 25 miles from where Terry Jo was found. With Harvey was the body of a girl at first believed to be Terry Jo. Apparently it was her sister, Rene, 7.

Terry Jo, hoisted in a basket from the deck of the freighter Captain Theo into a Coast Guard helicopter and flown to a Miami hospital.

"She is serious, but I think she will make it. I think she will live," said Dr. Verdon. But he said is probably would be some time today before physicians had a clear idea of her condition.

The girl asked once for orange juice, and roused again later in the day to talk briefly with an attorney for her Wisconsin relatives.

But the attorney, who would not reveal his name for publication, refused to disclose what she had said.

It wasn't known whether Terry Jo knew the fate of her parents, or knew they were still missing.

Minuteman Is Success In Underground Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —With a swirl of fire and smoke, an intercontinental-range Minuteman missile scored its first underground launching success today. The rocket vaulted from a 90-foot pit and raced to a target area about 3,000 miles away.

The success, announced by the Air Force, advanced the day when hundreds of Minutemen will be planted in underground silos capable of surviving nuclear attack.

A rush of fire and smoke erupted from the steel and concrete hole as the missile's powerful engines ignited.

The 58-foot projectile cleared the pit in two seconds, quickly darted through the smoke clouds and pitched toward the southeast.

The second and third stages fired as planned and propelled the nose cone into a broad bull's-eye area in the Atlantic. Pinpoint accuracy was not a goal on this first successful silo firing.

The good flight signals a set-up in the Minuteman test flight program, with several more firings scheduled before the end of the year.

The Air Force needed a successful flight to make up for time lost when a Minuteman exploded seconds after the missile's first silo launching on Aug. 30.

Marin Coast Chamber Votes Head

James A. Marshall, former county supervisor, will head the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce during 1962.

Marshall was elected president of the group at a dinner meeting at the Gibson House in Bolinas this week. He is vice president this year.

He will succeed Don DeWolfe, editor-publisher of the weekly Baywood Press at Point Reyes Station, in the presidency.

Mrs. Emma K. Benevenga of Five Points was elected vice president; Mrs. Harriet M. Greene of Stinson Beach was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The new officers will be installed in January.

The chamber adopted a resolution favoring G. J. Brady's petition for county planning commission approval of an eight-unit motel on his property south of Willow Point in Inverness Park.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Do Planning Before You Play To The First Trick

When you're wondering which suit to tackle, think of how many tricks you need and consider what the opponents may be doing in the meantime.

Do your planning before you play to the first trick.

You can take seven tricks whenever you please: two hearts, two diamonds and three clubs. You must develop two additional tricks.

It's easy to rule out the spades. You can develop only one additional trick in spades. While you're doing so, the opponents can set up and run the hearts. They will take two spades and three hearts before you are ready to take your own tricks.

NO WORK NEEDED: No work is needed on the clubs. If each opponent has three clubs, you can take two additional tricks with your low clubs. There is no harm in leading out the top clubs, but also no advantage. If the clubs break evenly, you can take those tricks whenever you please. If the clubs break 4-2, you will have to abandon the suit, since one additional club trick is not enough.

We come, by elimination, to the diamonds. Here you can set up two additional tricks if the suit breaks 3-3 or if either opponent has a doubleton honor. The ace of hearts must be left in dummy as a final entry to the diamonds.

Now you have your plan. Win the first trick with the king of hearts, and cash the top diamonds. When the jack drops, lead the ten of diamonds to set up the rest of dummy's suit.

What if the diamonds failed to break so conveniently? You would know it by the time you had tried a third round of diamonds. Win the heart return and play for a 3-3 break in clubs. You hold the clubs in reserve, in case the diamonds fail to help you.

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with one notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold:

♥ A 7 3
♦ K 10 9 5 3

What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Your seven points will not produce a good play for game even if partner has 18 points. You are interested in game only if partner can show that his hand is stronger than a notrump opening bid.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

City Dweller Has Chance To Survive

for basement areas capable of accommodating about 25,000 persons, enough room for the students and faculty and personnel.

We estimate we can stock it with all necessary supplies, including a basic powdered multipurpose food which needs only addition of water, for $1 per person.

Many city buildings, factories and apartments have basement areas which could be quickly prepared to care for residents, workers and visitors.

Apartment dwellers, on their own or with the aid of the landlord can set up fallout shelters within their buildings.

Subways offer huge shelter areas for many thousands of persons, particularly in New York. Storms drains, and any tunnels, are other possibilities.

Some countries, notably Sweden and Denmark, have been developing efficient fallout and anti-blast protection shelters for some time.

In Sweden, H-bomb shelters are required in the center of every city over 50,000 population, according to reports to the House Committee on Government Operations. In Denmark, some underground garages are prepared as shelter areas.

City residents in many blocks could band together to build and supply buried community shelters, such as were described in the previous article.

Would tall buildings and skyscrapers come tumbling down, perhaps trapping people in basement shelters? Yes, under a direct hit, or possibly for some distances beyond.

But reinforced concrete buildings such as these are strong, and many could withstand blast effects. In Hiroshima a concrete building directly underneath the A-bomb withstood the blast and was essentially intact, while frame buildings were blown down over great distances.

For fallout protection alone, tall buildings offer excellent protection in middle floors, and interior areas or corridors. There, the radiation from fallout would be blocked by the concrete structures above and below.

Evacuating a big city is not the answer, unless there was advance warning of a couple of days. Colossal traffic jams otherwise could lead to serious problems or loss of life.

Planning for apartment dwellers has lagged as badly as planning and preparation of shelters in schools. Tenants could take the lead in insisting on shelter provision, and might even contribute toward community shelters. The costs run about $100 per person with fifty or more people per shelter.

Some apartments have inner corridors or spaces offering some protection due to distance and intervening walls from the exterior walls or roof. Staying there for 48 hours could reduce the exposure somewhat but such shelter is very seldom adequate.

Otherwise there seems little choice for many except closets, or improvised shelters with "walls" of books of any available material. Going to shelters in offices or public buildings might be a wiser course.

Adenauer Asks Nuclear Authority For NATO

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must be given authority to order retaliation with U.S. nuclear weapons assigned to its members—a power now held solely by President John F. Kennedy.

Adenauer told a news conference yesterday the West must enter into any negotiations with the Soviet Union from the strongest of bargaining positions. That, he said, called for strengthening of NATO military forces to permit them to wage nuclear warfare without White House clearance.

"I base this on an expert opinion by Gen. Adolph Heusinger who said that one hour may decide our fate and that the president may not be reachable to make a decision," Adenauer said. Heusinger, former chief of staff of West German armed forces, became chairman of the permanent NATO military committee last April.

At present, NATO has nuclear weapons on the European continent, but they are under exclusive U.S. control. Changes would be required in the U.S. Atomic Energy Act before the custody of the nuclear warheads could be shared with other nations.

Adenauer said that U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, "submitted a plan in September, 1960, to the previous administration but because of the elections it was not acted upon."

"As far as I know that plan now is before Kennedy," he added.

Norstad proposed to the annual meeting of the NATO parliamentarians' conference last November that "there should be a basic pool of atomic weapons with an equal voice in control of those weapons."

Korean Returning —'Encouraged'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Chung Hee Park of the South Korean military government said today he would return to Korea "immensely encouraged . . . that the United States stands squarely behind us."

Park spoke at a ceremony at National Airport shortly before boarding a U.S. Air Force plane with his party for New York.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk headed the American delegation at the formal military departure ceremony.

Larkspur Man In Hurricane Is 'Critical'

Edward Karpa, 49, of 328 William Avenue, Larkspur, caught in a hurricane in Belize, British Honduras, on Oct. 31, was last reported in "most critical condition" in a Navy hospital in Belize.

A letter was received Monday by his wife from son Daniel, 15, who was also caught in the hurricane but not injured. Karpa became ill the day the hurricane struck.

Daughter Alecia, 18, was also in a small community near Belize during the hurricane. She could not locate her father and brother after a five-day search. She then returned to the Larkspur home. The son later wrote that he and his father had survived the hurricane.

Seaton Joins Race For Governor Of Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Former Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton today became a candidate for governor of Nebraska.

Seaton became the second member of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's cabinet to seek a governorship. Former Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell lost earlier this month in a bid for governor of New Jersey.

Mother Out On Bail In Dope Ring Case

Mrs. Pauline Herrera, 31, Los Angeles brunette accused of heading a three-woman dope ring that supplied $18,000 worth of heroin to San Quentin inmates, was freed yesterday on $5,250 bail.

Inspector Donald E. Midyett of the Marin district attorney's office, who arrested her Wednesday and was ready to bring her to Marin yesterday, said she suddenly posted bail in Los Angeles. She is now scheduled to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Herrera is the mother of a 6-year-old boy and a 4-year-old girl. Her husband, Jesse, works as truck driver for a soft drink plant. She works for a plastics and rubber company in Los Angeles.

Inspector Midyett and state narcotics agents Major McBee and Steve Armenta closed in on her home Wednesday but found no narcotics there. "She denies everything," said Midyett.

A pretty blonde from Oakland, suspected as one of the couriers of Mrs. Herrera, appeared with a lawyer in Marin Municipal Court yesterday. Anne Marie Kellam, 25, won a continuance until Nov. 30. Her attorney, Louise Bernheim of Richmond, described her client as "just a minor cog in this thing."

Mrs. Kellam's husband, Albert G. Kellam, 24, is an inmate at San Quentin serving a six-month to 10-year term for forging narcotics prescriptions. However, he was not among the six inmates who have been accused of conspiracy in the dope smuggling operation.

A third accused woman, whom police want to question further, is Mrs. Marie Frances Hall, 47, of Hayward, mother of San Quentin inmate Thomas Devers, 24. Devers, serving time for receiving stolen goods, is one of the six convicts held in isolation as alleged members of the dope ring.

Mrs. Hall has hired a San Francisco attorney and is scheduled to surrender herself in San Rafael today, Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety disclosed. The D.A. said he got a telephone call from the woman's attorney, S. L. Ellison, who promised to bring her in to the courthouse this afternoon.

San Quentin officials said six ounces of heroin, in addition to marijuana and peyote, trickled into prison since the ring began operations about seven months ago.

Nan Fowler Sings

Sausalito artist and folk singer Nan Fowler will sing folk songs at the Gallery at 17 Madrona Avenue, Mill Valley, tomorrow at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. She accompanies herself on the autoharp and guitar.

MARINES REHEARSE MANEUVER

Despite the cancellation of President John F. Kennedy's plans to view Navy and Marine maneuvers tomorrow, a full-scale rehearsal of a Marine unit landing was staged as scheduled yesterday at Camp Pendleton. One of the more spectacular demonstrations was this simulated nuclear explosion—note Marines crouched in foreground. Kennedy is going to Texas for the funeral of Sam Rayburn and may view the Marine action Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Long Race Is Over For Oldtime Inmate

Henry Worth, known for many years in San Quentin Prison for his optimism and his exploits each year in the "Little Olympics" within the walls, has received release in death after 36 years behind bars, the San Quentin News disclosed this month. He was about 84.

Each year until failing health caused his transfer to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville in 1957, he ran the 50-yard dash against other men over 50 in San Quentin's "Little Olympics."

"His competitive spirit never faded," said an account in the inmate publication, "though the speed in his legs declined . . .He never failed to finish a race."

Records on Worth have been sent on from the prison and the medical facility to the archives in the State Department of Corrections in Sacramento.

There James Fitzgerald, public information officer for the department, delved into a file he said was "eight inches thick."

Worth was received at San Quentin on June 30, 1925, for first degree murder.

He was arrested for the fatal shooting on Jan. 10, 1925, of Thomas Carl in a cabin on the Butcher Ranch in Placer County. A friend of Worth's had been involved in a feud with Carl. Worth accompanied the friend to Carl's cabin and shot the victim three times with a .45 caliber pistol.

"Worth seemed to have no personal interest, no motive," said the deputy district attorney who handled the case.

Worth was in San Quentin from 1925 to 1950 when he was removed to Vacaville. He was returned to San Quentin in 1955—then two years later returned to Vacaville. There on Oct. 12 he died.

He told deputies at the time of his arrest he "thought" he was born about 1877 in Kansas.

He styled himself a civil engineer—"and a trapper on the side."

"We shall never forget some of his philosophy of life," said the article in the inmate newspaper. "It helped us do our time a little easier."

It didn't grow under glass

That's a lot of advertising space in the Independent-Journal. But the real measurement is not in its size but in its sales-power. It grows only because it "grows" results for advertisers. And this comes only from readership.

Your advertising works in the I-J because it lives in the warm and inviting climate of news and editorial, sports and entertainment—within the wanted world of the newspaper itself. Research shows that 2 out of every 3 Marin households take the I-J (some 92% more circulation in Marin County than the S.F. Chronicle, for instance).

But readers don't just "take" the I-J. They prefer it to all other daily newspapers circulated in Marin County on these four basic counts:

1. Readers spend the most time with the I-J.
2. Find it most often has useful advertising.
3. Turn to the I-J for retail and clothing store ads.
4. Rely on the I-J for food store advertising 42 to 1 over other newspapers.

The real advertising space we offer you, then, is the most valuable kind of all—the interested eye of the reader. It explains everything about growth—both yours and ours.

Negro Member Dispute Splits Yacht Club

The exclusive ranks of bay yachting—and of the board of directors of the Sausalito Yacht Club in particular—were sundered today in a dispute over membership of a Berkeley Negro.

A split among directors blocked admission to the Sausalito Yacht Club of the Negro, William L. Pritchard, 29, a radioisotope technician at University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, it was disclosed.

And a colleague of Pritchard's charged that the Yacht Racing Assn. of San Francisco Bay had refused to accept the University of California Yacht Club into its ranks because Pritchard is a member of the U.C. club.

Grove Nooney of Sausalito, a colleague of Pritchard's at the radiation laboratory and a member of the Sausalito Yacht Club, said two directors voted against admitting Pritchard to the club "solely on the racial issue." He said the directors, at a meeting he attended, voted 4-2 to admit Pritchard, with one director abstaining and one absent.

John Koenig Jr. of Sausalito, another member, said the rejection was strictly because Pritchard lives across the bay at Berkeley and keeps his racing yacht, the Jolly Roger, there, and because the club's membership roll is closed at 200 members.

Pritchard charged yesterday that he had been unable to obtain membership in a yacht club that belongs to the Yacht Racing Assn., and therefore could not race the Jolly Roger in events under the association's auspices.

Henry L. Rhodes, Berkeley scientific instrument manufacturer and member of the U.C. club, claimed yesterday that the Yacht Racing Assn.'s refusal to admit the Berkeley club to membership was because it had accepted Pritchard into its ranks.

Nooney said it was brought out in discussion of Sausalito club directors that if the club admitted Pritchard, other yacht clubs in the Bay Area might withdraw reciprocal privileges from it on the racial issue.

The Sausalito club's constitution has no bar against non-Caucasian members. Two members are of Oriental ancestry—one Japanese and one Chinese. But it has no Negro member.

Nooney said one member of the club, Malcolm Dewees of Sausalito, had offered Pritchard a berth on the crew of his boat, which is permissable despite Pritchard's non-membership.

port and have it ready for you by next week."

The report is a restudy of the feasibility and cost of constructing a 56 mile aqueduct from Steamboat Slough in the Sacramento River Delta through Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties to a terminal reservoir near Novato, providing water for the four counties.

Representatives of the counties present worried that the state study wouldn't give them a comparison of the cost of water from the delta as compared with Eel River water.

Healey insisted the new report "still indicates the North Bay Aqueduct is the cheapest way to provide water for the North Bay area." However, the department is "actively pursuing" Senate Concurrent Resolution 47 instructing it to "make a comprehensive survey" of the Eel watershed.

Jerome B. Gilbert, manager of the North Marin County Water District and chairman of the Eel River Assn.'s engineering committee, urged the federal study in any event. He said he had "gone over some of the state's source material and discussed it with their engineers" and felt that the state's "criteria might not be proper" and that "additional studies are reasonable."

Highway Job Let

Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael contractors, have been awarded a contract for $126,030 to construct drainage facilities and resurfacing on portions of Shoreline Highway between Stinson Beach and Bolinas Road, the State Department of Public Works announced today in Sacramento.

Drake High Work Bids Are Opened

Bids for construction of a teacher workroom and construction of a covered eating area and locker room at Sir Francis Drake High School were opened yesterday at the Tamalpais District office.

The bids were submitted for both projects separately and combined. The low bid for the workroom was Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma at $30,500. High of four was from Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, $36,987.

The low of six bids for the eating area and locker room was from Zoellner at $110,823. High bid was from Robert S. Miller Co. of San Rafael at $116,500.

Six bids were received for the combined jobs. Low was from Fostmeier at $143,300 and high from Midstate Construction Co. of San Francisco at $154,533.

Because of the nature of the two types of bids, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle and his staff were giving additional study to the bids today. Carlisle will make his recommendation to the district trustees at their regular meeting Monday.

for job protection," said Mrs. Ansley.

Board chairman Robert R. Allen said today, on his return from a trip away from Marin, that no decision would be made until the board's regular meeting on June 27. If unification passes, the district could not extend the contracts after the vote is certified. Date for certifying the election result is June 28.

Supt. Philip W. Schneider of San Jose District has a contract running until June 30, 1964.

Junior Music Club Meeting Tomorrow

Demonstrating the relationship between music and the various dance forms, Ford will improvise dances to various musical themes and rhythms.

WINDSHIELD CRACKED BY SNIPER SHOT

A hidden sniper drew a bead on a car in Kentfield and cracked the windshield yesterday afternoon, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mrs. Gordon Brown of 121 Woodland Road, Kentfield, said she was driving out of Kent Woodlands and had just turned toward Larkspur when something hit the windshield. No one was hurt.

Deputy Sheriff George Johnsen searched the area but could find no trace of the sniper. He said it may have been a youngster with a pellet gun.

Sunny Hills Zone Request Withdrawn

The request for commercial and apartment zoning of Sunny Hills property in San Anselmo, which was scheduled for Monday night before the planning commission, has been withdrawn.

Russell Spatz, chairman of the San Anselmo Planning Commission, announced today the request has been taken off the agenda at the request of Sunny Hills.

The Sunny Hills property has been the center of a controversy between the owners and the San Anselmo School District, which wants to condemn part of the land for school use.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Sunny Hills, said the request was withdrawn because negotiations with the school district are continuing "in hope of arriving at a solution acceptable to both sides."

Jordan said no agreement has been reached, "but it seemed appropriate to take the matter off the calendar as long as negotiations are continuing."

Lack Of Quorum

There was no meeting last night of the Marin City Community Services District board because of lack of a quorum. A meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the community lounge, secretary Juanita S. Cobb said.

Flood Control Group Votes To Dissolve

A majority of the 45 to 50 persons at a meeting of the San Rafael Meadows Improvement Assn. voted last night to dissolve the flood control zone set up about a year ago and have the residents vote next June on establishing such a zone.

The meeting, presided over by chairman Richard E. Laws, was held in answer to objections by residents to the county's assessing them 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the zone before they had decided how much they wished to spend.

Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said he put the 16 cents in the county budget when he found no figures submitted. He also told the group about $800 had been spent on dredging along Merrydale and the railroad tracks.

Brigham and County Supervisor Walter R. Castro told the meeting how a flood control zone is set up and maintained. Brigham said money can be assessed for maintenance but the people must vote on expenditures for new projects.

Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was present, with resolutions to dissolve the old zone and vote on a new one, but the association members took their actions on motions worded from the floor.

mile from Bonham's county courthouse. That is where Mr. Sam's beloved "Miss Lu" and seven other Rayburns rest. Miss Lucinda Rayburn, a sister, was his hostess for many years. She died of cancer several years ago.

In Washington, Rayburn's death touched off a flood of laudatory messages across the nation, but there was one saddened place where words were few—in the speaker's office.

In the outer room of the two-room suite which Rayburn occupied longer than any other man, members of his staff went about their tasks wordlessly or with the low murmurs of the bereaved.

OBITUARIES

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of JOHN (JACK) PERRY who passed away ten years ago today.
Heartaches and tears, memories so dear,
Each hour of my life I wish you were here.
All to myself I think of you,
Think of all the things we used to do.
Think of the things we used to say,
Think of each happy yesterday.
Sometimes I sigh,
Sometimes I cry, sometimes I smile —
But I keep each golden, golden while all to myself.

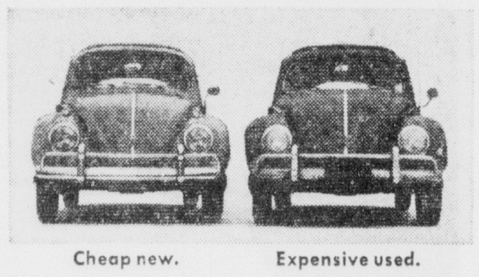
The most economical thing about the Volkswagen isn't the gas.



Cheap new. Expensive used.

For be it from us to belittle gasoline economy.

(After all, we were slightly involved with getting the whole idea started.)

But there's been a subtle twist.

Volkswagen economy has become so legendary, people are willing to pay all kinds of money for a used one.

(Even though a new one costs only $1,675.00*)

So gas itself isn't the VW's most economical factor any more.

Low depreciation is.

You can get more of your money back for a VW when you sell it than you can for any other car.

Of course, that's not the whole story.

The VW reputation for steering clear of repair shops hasn't hurt any. Nor the fact that VW owners are rarely in a rush to sell. (Why should they be? We never change the VW to make it obsolete, only to make it work better.)

The plain fact is that a five-year-old VW is worth just as much as many five-year-old cars that cost twice as much new.

Just because gas economy comes in second, let's not forget it. Day after week after month, it can add up to quite an item.

Figuring 32 miles to the gallon (and 10,000 miles a year) you end up saving a few hundred extra dollars.

You just can't help it.

That 32 miles per gallon is no pipe dream, by the way. Most people get that much. Some even more. Some less.

(Obviously, you get better mileage on a highway in Kansas than you get during the rush hour in downtown Philadelphia.)

Then there's oil.

The Volkswagen's aluminum-magnesium engine runs with so little stress and friction, you'll probably never add oil between changes.

Check any gas station attendant on that one.

(When you do buy oil, you buy it by the pint. And five pints fill it.)

The VW engine is frugal in still another way: It's cooled by air, not water.

Naturally, there's no radiator: no need for one.

And so there's no need for anti-freeze, either.

No leaky hoses. No draining. No rust. No nothing.

You don't usually think that tires have much to do with economy. But then you don't usually get 40,000 miles (or more) on a set. (Each VW tire bears so little weight, tire wear is phenomenally low.)

That much mileage is that much money in the bank.

And not at all unusual.

Air is free.

Now, if you add (or subtract) the 10% you save on insurance and remember that, by and large, a VW needs less maintenance than other cars, you get an idea of why they're so much in demand. New and used alike.

Finally, a word of caution.

Some people have a strong temptation to get economy happy with their first VW and figure their costs down to fractions of a penny.

It makes a great talking point.

But resist it.

We wouldn't want anyone to forget the other big reason for driving a VW.

Fun.

General Pays Visit To Military Academy

A colonel was in charge of of a general at San Rafael Military Academy yesterday.

The colonel, retired, is the academy's military science professor, Lee L. Alfred.

The general, active and commander of the 15th Army Corps at the Presidio of San Francisco, is Maj. Gen. William N. Gillmore, under whom Alfred served 15 months as deputy commander until coming to the academy last September.

The occasion was a review of academy cadets preliminary to today's final and biggest football contest of the season: the Menlo game, traditional since 1909 and this year engaging two undefeated teams. General Gillmore's presence as guest of Alfred was to give the boys an extra thrill.

Gillmore confessed to a special fondness for football since he was fullback at West Point all of his four years there.

"No, I wasn't all-American," he chuckled in response to a query based on his outstanding athletic reputation. "After you've been out a few years they sort of forget the details of what you did."

On graduation from the military academy, Gillmore found he still wasn't through with football for he was promptly assigned, though a second lieutenant of field artillery with a bachelor of science degree, to serve the academy as assistant football coach for the 1925 season.

After that he reported for his first troop duty in his native California, with the 76th Field Artillery at the Presidio of Monterey—which happened to be his birthplace.

During his two years of service there he spent the football season of each year coaching the West Coast Army football team.

Subsequent service has included a tour of duty with the Philippine Scouts; division artillery commander of the First Armored Divisions on the Anzio beachhead in 1944; a similar assignment with the 101st Airborne Division in France, and assignments in Japan, Korea, Thailand and Greece. He holds the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Honor, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, and Parachute and Glider Badge.

Senator In Hospital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Maurine B. Neuberger (D-Ore.) underwent surgery yesterday for removal of what preliminary examinations indicated was a cancerous growth. She was in satisfactory condition.

A tumor was removed from the wall of the large intestine during an operation at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital.

Mrs. Neuberger was elected last year to the Senate seat of her late husband, Richard L. Neuberger, who died of cerebral hemorrhage in March 1960.

Marinwood Decisions Reaffirmed

Renaldo Emini, newly elected president of the Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Assn., last night was appointed to the fire commission at a meeting of the Marinwood Community Services District board.

At the meeting, attended by about 30 persons, the board reaffirmed all the decisions it had made since the district was formed. Regarding the bond issue election planned for Jan. 16, chairman Howard Council asked whether the district wanted a three-proposition vote instead of a two-proposition measure.

About two weeks ago the board voted to ask residents to vote separately on whether they wanted to acquire land and build a community center and firehouse and whether they wanted a swimming pool.

Last night Council asked whether residents wished to vote separately on acquiring and landscaping land, on erecting a community building and on building a swimming pool.

But after some discussion Council's motion died for want of a second.

A bond issue election for more than $400,000 with firehouse, swimming pool and other facilities all in a single package-deal proposition failed in September.

Alcohol Called Major Factor In U.S. Crime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alcohol plays a major role in crime, a San Quentin prison psychiatrist reported today.

Dr. David G. Schmidt, in a talk prepared for the Commonwealth Club, estimated that 50 per cent of all new arrivals at San Quentin have a drinking problem.

And as many as 70 per cent of the men who return after violating parole have problems with alcohol.

During the prohibition era, only 7 per cent of the men who came to prison had alcohol as a factor, said Schmidt.

But the psychiatrist, who has studied thousands of alcoholics, said a return to prohibition is not the answer. And neither are jails, he added.

"The prevention of alcoholism is difficult, because it does have a satisfying effect on the individual," he said. "The emphasis needed here is to make the individual aware of the factors that are important in the organization and balancing of one's personality, so one can remain a moderate drinker and not become an excessive drinker."

Berliners Escape

BERLINERS (AP) — Seven East Berliners escaped during the night, West Berlin police reported but East Berlin police almost captured one recent refugee who was drunk at the wrong place.

The man, who fled recently from East Berlin, reeled up to the Friedrichstrasse crossing and stepped a few inches over the line. An East policeman seized his arm. Three West Berlin customs inspectors and a West Berlin policeman grabbed the man and pulled him back.

School Stand Reaffirmed By Bishops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops have declared they remain unanimously opposed to "any form of general federal aid to education that discriminates against children attending non-public schools."

This declaration yesterday was described as a reaffirmation of the bishops stand last March which was a major factor in the failure of the Kennedy administration's school aid bills to reach the House floor for debate in the last session.

In March, the bishops announced they favored federal help for parochial and other private schools as part of the general school aid program.

Some questions had been raised publicly over whether the bishops were unanimous in their position on federal aid to schools. And they had been expected only to touch on the issue in their over-all policy statement to be made public at the end of their annual meeting here.

Instead, they placed emphasis on their stand by issuing a separate statement through the National Catholic Welfare Conference — the agency through which the church hierarchy deals with matters of general interest at a national level.

The conference said the bishops had authorized the statement "in view of the concern over federal aid to education" as soon as their action had been taken, instead of waiting to include it in the general statement.

TAX EXCUSE PROPOSED FOR FIRE VICTIMS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposal that victims of the recent Los Angeles fire be excused from paying taxes on their destroyed homes is being studied by the state.

The proposal was made by the Los Angeles City Council to Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday. It asked that the state take steps to change a law that requires assessments made in March to remain in effect throughout the tax year despite any subsequent loss of value.

Such a change would have to be made by the legislature.

$1,200-Theft Reported In Corte Madera

A total of $1,200 worth of articles, including nine men's suits, were stolen from a Corte Madera home last night.

Alfred Henry Kirchner, 38, of 351 Chapman Drive, called police early today to report the burglary. He said he left home at 6:30 p.m. yesterday and returned at 12:30 a.m. today to find the house had been entered.

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said entry was through a window. Prymarks were found where the screen had been removed. The window was not locked.

Kirchner, a salesman for Ames Ford Sales of San Rafael, said the $1,200 was a "conservative estimate." Missing, in addition to the suits, were 50 blank checks, credit cards, a .22-caliber pistol, camera and lenses, and a pair of binoculars, he reported.

'Coming-Out Party' Tonight For Kaufman's In Hub City

Mozart Kaufman will hold a "coming-out party" tonight to celebrate completion of additions to Kaufman's Department Store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

Coupons will be handed out from 7 to 9 p.m. and a drawing for prizes will take place tomorrow.

The party will show how work started last April has more than doubled the size of the former premises, adding 6,300 square feet.

Of special interest is the fact that this is the first move in building toward San Anselmo's master plan in which it is expected that the city business district will eventually face Sir Francis Drake Boulevard rather than San Anselmo Avenue as at present.

Kaufman won special permission by unanimous vote of the San Anselmo City Council for extension of his store across Corte Madera Creek to the present Greyhound property which the city expects to acquire and clear, providing room for another street.

No effort was made by Kaufman to gain an entrance fronting on the Greyhound property and he went ahead with new construction with no definite assurance that the new plan would go through. His attitude has been one of faith that everything would work out. Meanwhile he has the extra room.

Twenty-one huge pre-stressed four-by-50-foot five-ton concrete beams were put across the creek from the rear of the earlier structure as foundation for the work now completed.

Ralph E. Murphy and Sons of San Rafael did the building.

THE LADY AND THE JAGUAR A short, short story: the lady saw the Jaguar 3.8. She liked its lithe lines, lovely leather upholstery, walnut paneling, roomy four-door convenience. Her husband went for its mighty roar (over 120 mph!). And so, together they bought it and drove happily ever after. Let this happy ending happen to you. Come see the Jaguar 3.8 today. (Or, if you wish, tour Europe in a Jaguar and save. We can arrange delivery of your new Jaguar in almost any major European city.)

NOVATO AND SAN JOSE

Here Are Legal Steps For Unifying School Districts

(This is the last of a series of four articles on various aspects of the proposed unification of Novato Unified and San Jose Elementary School District, on which voters in the two districts will ballot next Tuesday.)

By THERON A. NEWELL

When voters in San Jose Elementary School District and Novato Unified District go to the polls in the special unification election Tuesday, they will decide whether the two districts should be unified into one new district under California law.

The legal steps for uniting the two districts are well set out in state law.

The new district would have its own set of trustees, with given authority to organize the district for the coming school year, but not to spend any money until July 1.

The new unified district could sell the bonds of any elementary or high school district of which it is composed. Therefore, the new district could sell the bonds voted by the San Jose District, but there is a legal question as to whether it could sell bonds of Novato District—since that is already a unified district, neither an elementary nor high school district.

State also favors newly organized unified districts with a "bonus," a 5 per cent override on state funds for the first year, decreasing 1 per cent each year through the next four years. This amount has been figured to total approximately $250,000 for a unified Novato-San Jose district.

The new district would also receive more money for children living on federal property than the San Jose Elementary School District does now.

The unsold authorized bonds of the Novato District, if not salable under the law, would be written off. No indebtedness for them would result.

The unification election was called after citizen groups and both school boards had given considerable study to it. This method of uniting the two districts was favored because—among other reasons—it gives the San Jose District voters a voice in choosing the board of trustees.

Trustees of the San Jose District voted unanimously in favor of unification. The Novato board voted 3-to-2 in favor, with trustees Earl Marshall and William Kirk opposing. The augmented county committee for school district organization also voted in favor of unification, 9 to 4. The state board of education approved in setting up the election.

The same issue has been defeated twice before by the voters, in January and September, 1959. Both times it carried in Novato but was defeated in San Jose. A majority in each district must approve to make unification possible.

In September, 1959, the proposal failed by only six votes in San Jose and carried overwhelmingly in Novato.

If this election fails, what then?

There are two other ways by which San Jose Elementary School District could be combined with the Novato Unified District, said Edwin L. Blackmore, assistant superintendent of schools.

One method would be for Novato Unified District to annex the San Jose District. This would require a petition for annexation signed by over 50 per cent of the registered voters in the San Jose district. The petition would be presented to the county board of supervisors, who would then set an election on it. (One elementary school district can annex another by such petition without an election, but this does not hold for annexation of an elementary district by a unified district, according to the county counsel.)

Annexation would simply do away with the San Jose District. The present board of trustees of Novato District would remain in office. The Novato board would have to honor contracts entered into by the San Jose board with teachers and administrators, and teachers in San Jose schools would retain tenure rights.

Annexation would bring no bonus from the state. The Novato board could, of course, go ahead with sale of its bonds.

If Novato District annexed San Jose, the present bonded indebtedness of each district would have to be paid off by residents of that district, unless leveling of the bonds—making all payable by the entire district—were approved by two-thirds vote at a district-wide election.

A third method of getting the San Jose District into the Novato District would be by boundary change. Because the district boundaries cannot be changed to take in the entire district, this would require splitting of the present San Jose District. The part not annexed to Novato would remain as the San Jose School District unless annexed to neighboring Dixie Elementary School District.

Region Eight Farm Bureau Aide Named

Edward Browne of San Francisco has been named as California Farm Bureau Federation field secretary in region eight, it was announced today by federation president Louis A. Rozzoni.

Region eight includes Marin, Del Norte, Humboldt, Napa, Mendocino, Sonoma and Lake Counties.

He replaces J. R. Nelson, who has served in the post for the past three years and is being transferred to region nine, which includes Alameda, Amador, Contra Costa, Sacramento and Solano Counties.

Browne, who recently completed a 10-month internship with the Farm Bureau, is a graduate of Nevada State College and attended Hastings Law School in San Francisco.

Yule Decorations Judging Set Dec. 22

Judging of outdoor Christmas decorations for Greenbrae homes will be held on Dec. 22, announced Mrs. Patricia Willat, secretary for the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

Mrs. Willat said the judges and number of prizes to be awarded are not yet known. Last year Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sadler of 76 Almenar Drive won first prize of $50. Sixteen prizes were awarded last year.

No Rec Meeting

No quorum was present at the Strawberry Recreation District board meeting Wednesday night; therefore, a new meeting date will be announced within the next few days, secretary Mrs. James W. Gowen said today.

Secondary Tests Set At Dominican

Secondary school admission tests will be given at St. Louis Bertrand Hall at Dominican Convent Lower School in San Rafael on Dec. 9, it was announced today.

The tests, administered by the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., are comparable to college entrance examinations. They are designed to test a student's ability to understand what he reads, his ability to do problems in arithmetic, knowledge of words and ability to use them.

There are no passing or failing marks. The student's score indicates how his performance on the test compares with others at his grade level.

Approximately 200 independent schools throughout the country require applicants for admission from grades seven through 11 to take the examinations.

Applications for the Dec. 9 test must be received in Princeton by Nov. 25.

Mill Valley Artist Wins Poster Award

Bruce Butte of 9 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, commercial artist and partner in the San Francisco advertising firm of Butte, Herrero and Hyde, shared in four first prizes his company won at the annual Art Directors and Artists awards in San Francisco this week.

Butte's firm won awards in two outdoor poster categories, the Foster and Kleiser award for best poster of the year and a first prize for lettering.

Pollution Unit Moves On Houseboat Sewage

Marin County provided more work for the state attorney general yesterday when by resolution the Regional Water Pollution Control Board in Oakland instructed its staff to confer on possible legal steps to force Sausalito's arks and houseboats to quit dumping raw sewage into bay waters.

County supervisors were advised last week that the State Bureau of Hospitals is consulting the attorney general about possible termination of license of the condemned Marin County Hospital.

The water pollution board accepted a fifth quarterly progress report from the Marin County Health Department, the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and the City of Sausalito, but decided it did not show enough progress in the matter of cleaning up waterfront sewage discharges.

It directed that the next quarterly report be submitted before next Jan. 15. It should, said the resolution, ask the city and the district to include information which might be useful in case legal action is taken. The board wants names of of owners of the waterfront structures and also of owners of property to which the craft are attached.

Board members said they would like to make clear that the arks and houseboats are targets only insofar as they dispose improperly of sewage by dumping into the bay. Several firms are building and selling craft in the Sausalito area, they said, which is all right except that sewer tie-in seems lacking.

Since the board took its ark-houseboat census of last February in the Sausalito area, it was brought out, from 10 to 15 new craft have appeared. Though a sewer line has been reported under construction, nobody has been connected to it yet.

The board approved a resolution amending a cease and desist order against Belvedere to give more time to comply with instructions to discontinue raw sewage discharge. The amendment extends the time limit to next July 1, with full requirements to be met Aug. 1.

Requirements were approved as to waste discharge by R. C. Briggs and Clarence and David Leveroni onto land north of Novato and east of Highway 101.

Jr. Scout Leader Training Camp Set

A junior leader training camp of Miwok District of the Marin Boy Scout Council will open tonight at Camp Tamarancho above Fairfax, continuing through Sunday.

Patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders of San Rafael and Novato area troops will participate, with Sgt. Donald Franklin of Troop 27, Hamilton Air Force Base, being scoutmaster of the camp. Sergeant Franklin will be assisted by young men who attended a two-week junior leader training camp in New Mexico last summer.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Nicasio 'Country Auction' Should Prove Lively Affair

This Sunday's "Country Auction" at the Rancho Nicasio should provide some lively developments, to listen to Nick Kobseff who is promoting the affair from 1 to 5 p.m. for the Nicasio Mothers Club.

Among items to go on the block are antiques, homemade cakes, candies and canned goods, butter, eggs, apples oranges, live turkeys, dead turkeys, a donkey, two heifers, a bed slept in by Teddy Roosevelt, innumerable doodads and dinners at several of the Marin restaurants. Jim Fortado, a 4-H leader from Stockton, will do the auctioning.

Everyone's invited—and better bring your station wagon. There's no telling what your return cargo may be.

PAULINE PRICE who has taken over the operation of the Borden's Fountain at Fourth and Tamalpais, San Rafael, is making it available for breakfasts, hot lunches and dinners throughout the week—from 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays; noon to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

On the hot meal side she'll veer to steak sandwiches, roasts, specialties and hamburgers and says it should be a businessman's Mecca for lunches not too expensive.

New name: Dave's Fountain. Mrs. Price used to run the fountain at the Sausalito Pharmacy, has her nephew Dave Bibeau associated with her in this operation.

MONIE MULCAHY, organist at Sabella's will take off again next week on one of her President Cleveland Christmas cruises to the Orient, to return after the first of the year. This is her third trip and Angelo Sabella is getting reconciled to it as a regular occurence.

CRABS—at this writing, negotiations were still deadlocked, so maybe Franchini's West End Villa won't have its traditional crab chioppino tonight, nor Sabella's its crab retailing and fresh speciality items, advertising to the contrary. But who could tell? Ads have to be placed in advance.

THE DUCK POND at Franchini's Chateau has increased its population by some 35 fowls in the last few months—new figure is now estimated at 140. Many of the additions have been grown up Easter presents declared surplus.

Which reminds me—the grown up spectators are as numerous as the kids and just as insistent for bits of bread from the restaurant tables to use for feeding.

Now we hear that Niki Franchini has taken off this week to go skin diving in Mexico and do underwater photography.

COMMERCIAL ARTIST John Checkley of Greenbrae has 40 or 50 of his paintings on the walls of Skipper's, Sausalito—they'll be there about a month. Many are familiar San Francisco and Marin County scenes and landmarks. Some think his work resembles watercolor though it's done in oil.

Along the line look for a redecorating of Skipper's to make it like a Moby Dick waterfront place.

WES MARTIN, owner of the Ranch House, San Anselmo, says he's given up trying to match other fleshpots, entree for entree. Neither he nor his cook Jack Hansen can keep up with the new dishes, so Jack has been instructed to prepare the old dishes better than anyone else—or else.

JIM BIGELOW of Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon, says their first reservation for Thanksgiving dinner next week came from none other than the founder, Sam Vella . . . No more "dancing in the rain" this winter for Nero's Room, Nave Lanes, Ignacio. According to Bob Nave the new retractable dome is just about finished . . . Tiburon Tommie's new upstairs addition, the Maori Skyroom," is expected to be ready for a grand opening on Tommie's anniversary, Dec. 14 . . . Door and dance prizes at Cloud Five's Skyroom in Novato are popular attractions there—but so are Ruth Overly on the organ and Don Flash on the drums . . . Newest entry in the restaurant profession: Roger Phillip Poli, one week old; his father, chef at La Petite Auberge, has been passing out cigars.

San Rafael Man Struck By Auto

Karl J. Nilsen, 67, of 1206 Third Street, San Rafael, suffered a fractured leg and hip and pelvis injuries last night when he was struck by a car while walking across the intersection of Third and B streets.

He was admitted to San Rafael General Hospital where his condition was fair.

The driver, John Southmayd, 42, of 121 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, was cited for failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

Patrolman P. D. Green said Southmayd was driving west on Third Street and Nilsen was in the crosswalk of Third and B when he was knocked down. Southmayd said a car in front of him blocked his vision.

Drunken Driver Draws $193 Fine

Mrs. Barbara Kip Curtis, 35, of 614 Spring Street, Sausalito, must pay $193 fine and remain on six months probation for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced her yesterday for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 in San Rafael on Monday.

Robert Smith Bush, 29, of 41 Bothin Road, Fairfax, drew $166 fine and six months probation. Bush was caught on Fourth Street in San Rafael on Monday.

FILM FARE

A Touching Disney Tale For Rafael

By LES DARD

What's showing around Marin County this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

One of Walt Disney's most engaging pictures, "Greyfriars Bobby," comes to the Rafael Theater on Sunday.

It is the simple, touching story of the little terrier whose loyalty to his dead master won him the love of Edinburgh, a citation from Queen Victoria and a statue in his honor that still stands in the Scottish city.

All this happened a century ago. Years later, Eleanor Atkinson wrote the story in "Greyfriars Bobby," an animal classic and now a classic family film.

The plot, simply: Bobby's master, an old shepherd (Alex MacKenzie) dies a lonely death in an Edinburgh tenement, but with enough money in his pockets to pay for burial in Greyfriars churchyard, among the nobles.

The faithful Bobby sleeps every night at the grave, to the great displeasure of caretaker Donald Crisp. The dog's intense loyalty soon breaks down Crisp, then his wife (Kay Walsh), and Laurence Naismith, a bachelor restaurateur who feeds Bobby. Neighborhood children adopt the dog.

Matters come to a crisis when a policeman questions Bobby's ownership, a trial results and is carried all the way to the Lord Provost. This worthy's decision will soften the hardest heart.

Bobby is as lovable a pooch as we've seen, and every performer is admirably suited for his roles.

SEQUOIA THEATER

A thrilling battle between men and nature is featured in the adventure drama "Devil at 4 O'Clock," opening Sunday at the Sequoia.

Spencer Tracy stars as an embittered priest on a south Pacific island, who has turned to drink. Three convicts passing through include one tough-talking young atheist from Jersey, Frank Sinatra. The two immediately square off against each other.

When the island's volcano violently erupts, the natives flee and only the convicts and Tracy's closest friends volunteer to help evacuate the children in his mountain leper hospital. All involved undergo a kind of regeneration.

Performances by Tracy, Sinatra, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Cathy Lewis, Barbara Luna and Kerwin Mathews are all excellent.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Holly Golightly, the dainty, daffy Manhattan miss who behaves like a call girl but somehow clings to virtue, will steal your heart in "Breakfast at Tiffany's," now on-screen at the Tamalpais.

Audrey Hepburn stars as Holly, heading up a fine cast and a fast-paced movie almost sure to please the grown-ups. George Peppard plays a writer neighbor of Holly who manages to make the girl take a second look at life.

Patricia Neal plays Peppard's wealthy patron. Other favorites in the cast are Buddy Ebsen, Mickey Rooney and Martin Balsam.

NOVATO THEATER

Back with us this weekend at the Novato is last summer's fine treat, "The Parent Trap."

This is the Disney comedy in which pixyish Hayley Mills plays two roles—twins. It's the story of two identical young ladies who run across each other at summer camp and discover they are really twins separated in infancy when their parents divorced. They set out to undo this wrong, and really run riot.

Maureen O'Hara plays the mother, Brian Keith the father.

The second feature is "Tom Thumb."

FAIRFAX THEATER

There are a couple of gory moments to terrorize and titillate in Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho," now on the Fairfax screen.

Janet Leigh plays a larcenous beauty who steals $40,000 and skips town to join her lover, John Gavin. On the way she stops off at a motel, and strikes up a friendship with the keeper, Anthony Perkins. All this is very well, but suddenly there's murder . . . right before your eyes.

Even the good-guessers will be baffled by this one, right up until the last horrifying moments.

LARK THEATER

We've been having a big run on British comedy in the past few years, and "Dentist in the Chair" is one of the newest.

It is set in a dental college, of all places, and takes a very light-hearted view of larceny. The story concerns a crook who takes off with dental equipment in error. Trying to undo his mistake, he attempts to peddle the loot to students.

The result is barely-controlled anarchy, and some resounding slaps at entrenched authority.

MOTOR MOVIES

Jack Lemmon stars as commander of the Echo, a wreck of a ship which tangles with the Japanese during World War II. The picture is now on-screen at Motor Movies.

Ricky Nelson plays Lemmon's straight man in this Navy farce. The Echo is assigned to confuse the Japanese, and Lemmon emerges triumphant.

Co-featured is "Time Machine," a science fiction piece based on the H. G. Wells story about an inventor (Rod Taylor) who devises a time machine, takes a look at the years ahead, then comes back to somewhere near our time.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Comedy and anguish share the bill this weekend at the Tiburon Playhouse.

"Battle of the Sexes" is a whimsical British comedy starring Peter Sellers as head clerk in a sleepy Scottish tweed firm invaded by a beautiful but officious American efficiency expert, Constance Cummings.

"The Savage Eye" is a prize-winning picture that relates the year-long hell of a young divorcee (Barbara Baxley) in Los Angeles.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL FINALE AT KENTFIELD

Tars Shoot For Second Place Tonight

Second place in the Golden Valley Conference will be at stake for the College of Marin Tars tonight when they take on the American River Junior College Beavers in the season's finale at Kentfield.

Game time at College of Marin stadium is 8 o'clock.

The Mariners, after a stunning 28-14 upset victory over Shasta College before a partisan homecoming crowd last week, now own a 4-4 season record and are 2-2 in conference play.

Going into this final week of the season, Marin is in a three-way tie for second place with Yuba College (a team Marin beat 21-20) and Shasta. Sierra College, which downed Marin 20-18 in the final three minutes of their game at Kentfield, has outdistanced the pack and is now fixed in first place with three wins, no losses, and one tie.

The record itself bespeaks the best season a Tar 11 has had since 1956 when former head coach Harry Pieper guided the Mariners to the championship and was himself named junior college coach of the year.

The win over Shasta was the first at home this season and in fact the first home victory in several years.

For head coach Dick Read, who is in his first year of junior college coaching and only a year removed from the same position at San Rafael High School, the campaign has been see-saw but highly gratifying.

"Whatever happens in this next game I am proud of this team," said Read. "True, our prospects and performance have been high and low. But the important thing is the team's desire to play football. They've never quit for a minute."

American River, while positioned at the bottom of the conference with a 1-3 record, enters this week's game with some high ideas of its own after crushing Napa College 22-6 last week. It was Napa that actually killed Tar hopes for a crack at the conference lead when it defeated Marin 28-18 at Napa two weeks ago.

At the season's start, American River was touted for a winning year. With a turnout of more than 60 players, it wasn't hard to see the reason. The Beavers, however, had trouble getting started. They were hit heavily by injuries and ineligibility. The team has picked up strength in the last several weeks, and by winning this week would draw Marin into a third place tie.

The Beavers will bring in 35 players, 10 more than Marin, and from scouting reports will considerably outweigh the Tars in the line.

Significant in the Shasta victory was the ability of the Tars to take command in the first half of play. All season long Marin has been a "second half" team, and has seemed to respond to their opponent's scoring in like kind rather than striking first and early.

The contest was by far the team's strongest showing, and there was actually little doubt of game command after the middle of the first quarter.

Probably the major figure in the win was sophomore quarterback Ron Blum, who came to full flower as a passer, runner, punter and play caller. The former Marin Catholic star, who climaxes his junior college football playing days this week, was outstanding in all departments. He completed 11 of 23 passes for 163 yards, and two touchdowns. He did all Marin's punting, averaging 49 yards per kick, and showed himself to be strong, alert and elusive in running the quarterback option play.

Most pleasant surprise for the Tars was the hard running of halfback Ron Cole, who has

49ER CAMP SHROUDED IN SECRECY

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have revamped their defensive lineup for Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears but they're keeping mum about the surprises Coach Red Hickey is working up for his offense.

One thing that seems certain, though, is that surprises are to come.

The 49er camp at Redwood City was surrounded by canvas curtains this week, guards checked everyone who approached, and even youngsters were asked to move along down the street.

For the 49ers, who haven't won a game in a month, the Bear tilt is a big one.

High in the speculation about Hickey's scheme to trap the Bears is the possibility that he may return to the T formation. The 49ers have been using the shotgun, a short punt formation, and Hickey has declared he intends to stay with it.

But that doesn't mean he has to.

With Bobby Waters, one of Hickey's three alternating quarterbacks, probably out for the season with a knee injury, Hickey must revise his offense somewhat. An injury to either John Brodie or Bill Kilmer would have the 49ers hanging on the ropes.

CLEVER RUNNER

Kilmer has been better than Brodie in the shotgun formation because the rookie from UCLA is a powerful, clever runner. Brodie, with his experience and superior passing ability, is a sharper T quarterback than Kilmer.

This raises the possibility that Kilmer may take over the shotgun portion of the 49er offense and Brodie may resume operating a revived T.

On defense, rookie Roland Lakes goes to the right end post, Charlie Krueger moves from right end to right tackle, replacing Monte Clark, and rookie Carl Kammerer goes to middle linebacker, replacing Bob Harrison. Clark has a pinched nerve in his neck and Harrison has rib injuries.

Hickey announced earlier in the week that Abe Woodson would return to the defensive backfield, replacing Jerry Mertens. C. R. Roberts will take over Woodson's job in the offensive backfield.

SEALS VS. FLYERS

Ice Hockey Debut In Cow Palace Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Seals, who have played 14 Western Hockey League games while waiting for ice hockey, make their for iceh ockey, make their home debut tonight against the hottest team in the league.

The Edmonton Flyers have 10 victories, a tie and two losses.

The Seals have won 4 and lost 10 on the road.

Two of the Seals' losses were at Edmonton.

Dennis Riggin of the Flyers, the leading goal tender in the league, suffered an eye injury last week and is expected to be out of action for a month.

Does that give the Seals a break? Not much. The Flyers, top farm club of the Detroit Redwings of the National Hockey League, asked Detroit for help and the Redwings sent them Hank Bassen.

The Flyers are considered the fastest club in the WHL and their trio of Roger DeJordy, Len Lunde and Chuck Holmes comprise the loop's highest scoring frontl line.

But things aren't entirely black for Coach Max McNab and his Seals.

The San Franciscans have been developing steadily if not spectacularly.

They beat the Los Angeles 3-2 Saturday night, which incensed Blade Coach George Agar to the point where he fined every Los Angeles player $100.

Which suggests something about these Seals.

They're either underrated—or a bunch of troublemakers.

League Team Lacks Center, And Fullback

The 11-man, All-Marin County Athletic League football "team" was announced this morning.

The team included three halfbacks, three tackles, no fullback and no center. Novato High, MCAL undefeated and untied champions, had three players selected and so did co-cellar team, San Rafael High.

MCAL runner-up Drake High had one player honored and along with Tamalpais and Redwood, and co-cellar team Marin Catholic had two players selected.

Old Dutch Still Leads Senior Open At Posh La Quinta

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — San Francisco's Dutch Harrison is still leading the way in the Senior Open Golf Championship as the field goes into the final 18 holes.

Harrison shot par 72 yesterday over the Eldorado Country Club course and posted a 54-hole total of 205.

Ralph Hutchinson of Bethlehem, Pa., posted the low score of the day, a 68 at Bermuda Dunes, and finished in second place with a 54-hole total of 208.

The veteran Chick Evans of Chicago came up with a hole-in-one at the 165-yard second at Eldorado, but he isn't among the top 10.

Today's 18-hole round is being played over the La Quinta Country Club layout.

Halas And Hassles Go Together; Great Showman At Kezar Sunday

HANLEY

Pro football's greatest showman makes his annual visit to Kezar Stadium Sunday. That would, of course, be George Halas, founder, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas and hassels go together like ham and eggs. He has been hissed and booed more than Erich Von Stroheim ever was in the days of the silent movies. He is an unparalleled genius when it comes to playing the villain's role, a master of sideline pantomime and a needler beyond compare.

At one time or another fans all around the NFL circuit have screamed hysterically at him. He so provoked one loyal 49er fan, named Dunn, in Kezar three years ago that Dunn rushed out of the stands and took a poke at him. Ever since Halas always has solicitously inquired, "And how's my good old pal, Dunn?"

HALAS HAS never been bashful in offering officials a bit of help on close calls, particularly along the sidelines where he loves to stroll from goal to goal. There was a time when he was suspected of having mystical powers over them, especially on his home lot at Wrigley Field.

But, even if there were any truth in that myth, it all happened in a bygone era. Certainly it was before 1960 when Wrigley Field fans saw a startling sight during the 49er-Bear game there last year—a referee stepping off a 15-yard penalty against the Bears for a sideline remark by Halas.

"THE OFFICIAL was mistaken," said Halas. "The remark was made by someone else. I merely turned to him and asked: 'You surely didn't call that official a--- ---- ----, did you?'"

Two years ago Bobby Layne and Buddy Parker were unhappy about the officiating in a 21-27 Steeler loss to the Bears. Parker spoke in words seldom used by a coach and Layne's words weren't the kind usually used by a quarterback.

"So long as Halas is allowed to roam up and down the field at will and scream at officials, the Bears will get the better of the calls," said Parker.

"I HATE TO lose any game," said Layne, "but I especially hate to lose when the Bears get away with knocking down my receivers. That seems to be an accepted custom in Chicago where they get away with anything."

Halas brushed off those squawks with a "tsk, tsk" that implied Parker and Layne should be ashamed of themselves for saying such things.

LSU Meets Over Rose Bowl Bid It Has Yet To Get

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Whether Louisiana State will accept a Rose Bowl bid—should it get one — may be decided Saturday when the university board meets in special session.

The problem will be to revamp a custom of not playing teams with Negro athletes.

The Tigers, ranked fourth in The Associated Press poll this week, already have turned down a Sugar Bowl invitation. And there has been support in some quarters to abandon the anti-interracial athletic tradition if the Rose Bowl bid comes through.

Unidentified LSU officials reportedly gave assurances to Big Five Commissioner Tom Hamilton earlier there would be no racial problem if LSU did get an offer from the Rose Bowl.

Chairman John J. Dowles of the LSU board, in calling the session, did not make public the agenda but said it was possible some member might bring up the racial issue.

PX Manager Gets 3 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli yesterday sentenced Raymond A. Doyle, 33, former manager of the Army post exchange at Fort Mason, to three years in prison for embezzling $3,260 on Sept. 11.

Doyle had pleaded guilty. He was arrested near Salinas after being stopped on suspicion of a traffic violation.

FBI agents said they still have not solved the $3,300 robbery of the exchange on June 28. Doyle was the only witness.

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—To many Marinites, Leon A. De Lisle Sr. is Mr. Public Official. He has been their county auditor - controller since January, 1937. In that capacity, he has been a hard worker. But, more than that, he has been a man with ideas, and with the courage to support those ideas. He's been in the headlines of your Independent - Journal frequently as an advocate of such programs and projects as the data processing bureau within his department and the new Marin County Civic Center. In tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine, reporter Randall Gould will tell you something of the background and the principles of this remarkable Marin public servant and civic leader.

ONE OF A SERIES — Each week an Independent-Journal staff writer explores the character, achievements and human side of one of Marin's outstanding personalities — some of whom are all too little known by their neighbors.

NOW 49ERS ARE HOLDING SECRET MEETINGS

Bears A Collection Of 'Who's He?' Stars

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The greatest collection of "Who's He?" football players in the country—the Chicago Bears—take the field in Kezar stadium to meet the going-no-place San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

While the Bears slaughtered foe after foe it is noticeablle that in the lineup are some guys who a decade ago, or even yesterday, weren't noticed outside Pumpkin Center.

It's all a credit to George Halas' great — and first-scouting system.

While most teams gun for the All-Americans, Halas has a system that beats the bushes for "hungry" football players. On this year's squad, for instance, are men from Florence (Alabama) Teachers, Idaho, Florida A. & M., Trinity, Morris Brown, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles State, and other schools more-or-less unknown in most metropolitan centers.

How the Bears got hold of such fine talent from small schools is a mystery to most people—but not to Halas. He has every little hamlet in the country under scrutiny one way or another.

TIP AT TRACK

"We got Willie Galimore from Florida A. & M., on a tip from a jockey at Hialeah Race Track," says Bill Fay of the Bear staff. "Phil Handler of our coaching staff was at the track one day, got the tip from the jockey—and we came up with Galimore, who is our leading ground-gainer."

The story of Harlan Hill, the great pass receiving end who now plays on the defense, probably is better known. Hill hails from Florence Teachers College in Alabama.

Clark Shaughnessy, technical advisor to the club was in the South for the Senior Bowl game. A friend told him that the best player in the South wasn't even playing in the game—name of Hill.

GREAT MOVIES

Shaughnessy sent the message to Halas, Halas asked for the movies from the school and took one look at Hill.

"He's either the fastest man ever to play football or else the competition is very slow," said Halas — and promptly signed the talented end who became the greatest pass catcher in Bear history.

Charley Bivins, a 6-2, 212 pound halfback from Morris Brown, was picked up No. 7 in the draft on the recommendation of a scout. Roger LeClerk of Trinity in Connecticut was No. 15 on the 1959 draft.

Stan Farrington, one of the club's top pass receivers, was the No. 11 selection in 1960—on the advice of a former player and a scout. He's from Prairie View, Tex., College.

And so it goes down through the list. A couple of lads from University of Idaho, Stan Fanning and Art Anderson, were chosen "just because they looked like big strong animals, standing around the 6-5 mark and weighing in the neighborhood of 250 pounds."

Which proves, of course, that your All-America clippings mean nothing when you get in the game of professional football.

Cal's Go'n'a Meet Hard Knockin' Jays

BERKELEY (AP) — California meets Kansas on the gridiron for the first time tomorrow.

The Jayhawkers come to Berkeley with a 5-2-1 record and they've won their last five in a row.

The Bears, with one victory and one tie in eight innings, are weary and figure to be heavily out-manned.

The Jayhawkers aren't bigber but they're faster and there are a lot more of 'em.

Don Pierce, a fellow who used to play center for Kansas 20 years ago, now is their advance publicity man. He reeled off the names of nine fine backs and a host of quick, hard knockin' linemen.

But he only described three men as good — quarterback John Hall, halfback Curtis McClinton and guard Elvin Basham.

"Phew," exhaled Cal Coach Marv Levy. "All three of those guys have been nominated for the coaches' All-America. Is that what it takes for 'em to be called good?"

Cal plans to start Larry Balliett at quarterback, Jerry Scattini and Jon Mason at the halves and veteran George Pierovich at fullback. Pierovich is reported ready to go full steam after injuries.

Cal devoted much of its work this week to defense and even scrimmaged, an unusual move for this late in the season.

"Most of our problems have been in connection with our defense," Levy said, "and we've been trying to correct them."

The Bears are in for a tough workout.

Suddenly Hot Cougars Take On Stanford

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford's Indian's hope to end a four-game losing streak tomorrow against a Washington State football team that's suddenly come alive.

The Cougars, with just two victories in eight games, beat Oregon 22-21 in a thriller at Corvallis last week. And they did it with a powerful running game.

The Cougars, a good passing outfit, have the nation's leading pass receiver in Hugh Campbell, a junior from Saratoga, Calif., virtually in the shadow of Stanford Stadium.

Campbell has caught 44 passes for 601 yards, topping the nation's collegiate receivers in both figures. Campbell set major college records last year, as a sophomore, when he grabbed 66 passes for 881 yards.

SOPH QUARTERBACK

A sophomore named Dave Mathieson took over the quarterbacking for veteran Mel Melin last week against Oregon and led the Cougar victory march. He threw just 10 times, completing five. Fullback George Reed tallied three touchdowns a week ago.

Mathieson will start against Stanford but Melin, who threw for 1,638 yards last year, is expected to play too.

Red Sears will be Stanford Coach Jack Curtice's quarterback. After gingerly counting his injured, a list of about a dozen, Curtice said Danny Spence and Gary Craig will be Stanford's starting halfbacks with Ed Cummings at fullback.

The Stanford defense has been better than its won-lost record might indicate. The Indians are ranked eighth among the nation's pass defenders this week, quite possibly because they do so much passing in practice.

A.F.'s FALCON FOUND—IN USN BOQ LOCKER!!

ALAMEDA (AP) — Fauntleroy, the Air Force Academy's falcon that disappeared after Saturday's California-Air Force football game, has been found.

No one at the Alameda Naval Air Station professed to know where Fauntleroy spent the past several days. He was discovered tied to a clothes rod in a closet of the bachelor officers' club there.

"It sure surprised the men," a club spokesman said. "We don't know where the falcon had been but it had been eating and drinking."

A humane society officer confirmed that Fauntleroy was in fine shape.

And the Air Force was just happy to have the mascot back.

"A fine example of inter-service cooperation," commented an academy spokesman.

been a standout pass receiver throughout the season but up to this time was not noted as a runner. "It's really simple," said Read. "Cole has not run as much as the others simply because our quarterbacks have not called plays to his side very often. Blum really called on him against Shasta."

Read was also high in his praise for the Tars' offensive line play. "Our backs had some fine running room with the spaces our offensive linemen opened for them," Read said.

Other spohomores who will be playing their last game include Bob Brown, end; Bruce Robertson, fullback; Ron Simmons, end; Geoffrey (Tiny) Dunham, tackle; and Jim Fisher, halfback. Fred Corson, center, who was injured early in the year will also graduate this year. Each of the sophomores will share game captain status against American River.

The team will have to be satisfied with part time service from regulars Scott Moriarty, fullback; and Bob Whelan, tackle. Both suffered muscle injuries in action against Shasta.

Amateur Radio Club Nominations Tonight

The second nomination of officers for 1962 will be held tonight by the Tamalpais Amateur Radio Club, President Henry Alvernaz announced.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Veteran of Foreign Wars Hall on Machin Avenue in Novato. The agenda will also include a proposed change in by-laws and an auction of radio equipment.

COUNCIL ACTION

Raiders Get Home Field In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Pending construction of plush Oakland Coliseum by 1963, the Oakland Raiders today were assured of a temporary home.

By a vote of 6-1, the city council yesterday approved a plan to relocate a small area now named Exposition Field, install 23,000 seats, and bring the Raiders back to their side of San Francisco Bay.

It was believed that the cost of the re-location, $249,000, could be regained through rental to the Raiders, parking rights, flower shows and so forth.

Mayor John Houlihan said he had received verbal assurance that the Raiders would definitely stay in Oakland.

Meanwhile, back in cold Boston, the Raiders prepared for tonight's joust with the Boston Patriots. A crowd of 18,000 was expected to sit in.

The Boston coach, Mike Holovak, said yesterday that his team had been working especially hard on stopping flanker Charley Fuller, who has averaged a remarkable 25 yards per catch this year.

"We only had to look at movies of Fuller in action against New York and Buffalo to realize that he is a dangerous receiver," he said.

The Raiders have been noticeably tougher since the heart of the offensive line, Jim Otto, Wayne Hawkins, and Willie Smith returned. They have provided blocking for Tommy Flores to get off his passes.

Unfortunately, Flores' tosses have been dropped repeatedly of late by a variety of Raider receivers. Coach Marty Feldman has been stressing pass receptions in drills this week.

Lavorante Will Fight Patterson Anywhere, Anytime

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A group of Buenos Aires sportsmen have approached Paul (Pinky) George, manager of Alejandro Lavorante, with a proposal to match the Argentinian challenger with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

George disclosed yesterday that he received an offer from Lozaro Koci, a spokesman for the group, to meet Patterson some time next year if the champion is agreeable.

The South American group said they would be willing to stage a Lavorante-Patterson fight, either championship or non-title, and that it would be held at Mar Del Plata, a resort near Buenos Aires.

"We would be ready to meet Patterson anywhere and at any time," George said.

Bruins Favored Over Huskies In Big 5 Feature

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Coast football teams are in for a tough weekend of intersectional games tomorrow while toothless Washington invades rugged UCLA in the only Big Five game.

Kansas, with a five-game winning streak, meets California at Berkeley, Southern California travels to Pittsburgh and Oregon meets powerful Ohio State at Columbus.

Stanford, with a long injury list, hosts a Washington State team that suddenly came alive last week on the strength, surprisingly, of its running.

Fresno State, finest of the West's small college teams with an 8-0 mark, hosts traditional rival San Jose State before going on to the Mercy Bowl and a Thanksgiving Day date with Bowling Green.

Brigham Young is at Oregon State.

Cleveland Trades Temple To Orioles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland second baseman John Temple, the only player ever selected for the all-star starting lineup in both the National and American Leagues, was traded to the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

Baltimore gave up Harry Chiti, a catcher in the minors last season, and two players to be named by Dec. 15 to get Temple, who is expected to solve one of the Orioles' problems for the coming season.

Giant Publicist In Hospital For Possible Surgery

Garry Schumacher, public relations director for the San Francisco Giants, will know in two or three days whether he is to undergo surgery for an intestinal disorder.

Schumacher entered St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco last Saturday and was undergoing X-ray examinations this week. To date no surgery may be necessary, reported Giant publicity director John Taddeucci, "but we will know for sure by the end of the week."

Also last week, a daughter, Mary Patrick, was born to the wife of Charles S. Fenney, the club's vice president and general manager, at the Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

Peace Questionnaire Circulating In Marin

A questionnaire to determine the most effective way of working for peace was being circulated today among Marin women by members of the Marin County Women for Peace Committee.

The questionnaire, which asks the extent of participation which can be expected of signers, suggested methods of insuring peace and asking for additional ideas, was drawn up at a meeting of more than 30 women last night at the home of Mrs. Rembert Kingsley on Hillgirt Drive, Ross.

The committee has scheduled a public meeting at her home on Nov. 29, at 10 a.m. Mrs. Kingsley said.

The group also sent a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Dagmar Wilson of Washington, D.C., the women credited with originating the Women's Strike for Peace movement.

Further information on the committee may be obtained from Mrs. Sylvia Boorstein, 45 Laurel Grove, Kentfield, or Mrs. Jean Suntzeff, 64 Presidio Avenue, Corte Madera.

Novato Planning Unit Meeting With Council

Discussion of its meeting with the Novato City Council next Tuesday took up the main portion of Wednesday night's study session of the Novato City Planning Commission.

The city council called the meeting to discuss the costs and length of time required for the planning commission to complete the master plan. The commission has asked the council to freeze all building in the downtown commercial area for six months while the plan is being prepared.

The only phase of the master plan discussed at last night's meeting was multiple dwelling zones. No action was taken on this.

There will not be a meeting of the commission next Wednesday.

Building Permits Reach $284,000

Building permits totaling $284,000 were issued by the Marin County building inspection department during the week ending last Friday, it was announced today.

Of the 26 permits issued, 11 were for new dwellings and four were for dwelling additions. Included were two swimming pools, one cocktail lounge and restaurant and one auto court. The largest single permit was for a $50,000 commercial building to be constructed by contractor George Davi on Del Ganado Road in Terra Linda.

Stories Of Success And Failure; Marinite Bags 300-Pound Bear

STEVENS

They say that virtue is its own reward. That indicates that Joe Navarro, of the Sports Center in Castro Valley must be a virtuous hombre. Otherwise, well here's the tale: Joe and a friend, Al Gelyke, went fishing recently in the Suisun Bay. Action was slow until Al inadvertently knocked Joe's favorite rod overboard. All efforts to retrieve the rod failed, until the two boys who had a full day's fishing finished, started to make their last cast (Joe had rigged up a spare rod). Al hooked onto the lost outfit, brought it in, Joe grabbed it and brought the line in hand over hand. At the end of the line was a nine-pound bass. Oh, yes, Joe had a 17-pound beauty besides.

ANOTHER STORY? Sure, this one a tragedy: Roy Erwin of the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael went out after pheasants the opening weekend. Worked hard for three windy days in the Maxwell area and came home with only two of the ringnecks. Roy told me the high winds kept the dog from scenting the game and caused the birds to stay well hidden.

STILL ON a story-telling spree. This one an epic tale of a successful encounter with a bear. The hero? Edward Williams, of Mill Valley. The villian, a 300-pound she bear, five and one-half feet tall, cinnamon colored. The place? South Fork of the Feather River on the rim of a deep gorge. Ed tells it this way: "I saw clawed bark on a tree and knew there was a bear or bears about. I followed the trail about 300 yards. Rusty, my Collie dog was around a bend in the trail. My father-in-law, Mr. Johnson, was 15 yards away. I was crawling under some brush when I heard a noise. I was still on my knees but cracked my 30/30 just as a bear came running at full speed ahead of the dog. She was only 10 feet away when she spotted me and came to a halt, half turned as though to take a chance with the dog instead of me. Her head was turned half away, but I saw her eyes open wide in surprise. I pulled trigger. The bullet struck the bear six inches below the back behind her shoulder. It came out on her right side and broke her backbone. She started to topple over the edge of the gorge but some brush stopped her fall about 40 feet down. It was sure a tough job getting her up and back to the cabin. According to the officer at the checking station at the Oroville sheriff's office, this was one of the first and very few bears shot in Sutter County."

CONGRATULATIONS to Tony Barness who so far is top rod in the Reel Rod-Benders bass derby. Tony registered a 15-pound, 8-ounce striper caught in Frank's Tract on Monday. I note that Tom Sato is running second with his 12½-pounder taken in the Suisun Bay.

AS HOPED for, bass fishing on the Marin side of the San Pablo Bay has steadily improved. Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching reported 63 stripers to 18 pounds coming in on Sunday. Most of them taken from the Shell Bank. Among the local lights who made the grade are Mack McLaughlin with a pair of 12-pounders and one of 18 pounds, Fred Reiglhaut and son brought in four fish to 13 pounds from the Pump House sector and Ken Wallman and friend unloaded two legal limits to 10 pounds.

REGARDING THE action in Richardson Bay, Tony Caruso, who has been checking that area several times a day, told me only a few herring have come in. Some fish were caught (nice ones) last week, but only a few. Tony expects the seasonal run of herring to arrive any day now. Also Tony (of Caruso's place at Sausalito) reported Frank Sargent and his boat the Aileen accounted for five limits of stripers to 12 pounds taken trolling in Racoon Strait on Tuesday.

PROSPECTS FOR a grand and glorious weekend of fishing in the Bay and Delta regions are very bright. Here's hoping you get your share. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

HOLE-IN-ONE BENEFIT SET

A new car will be first prize in the Marin County Lions club's hole-in-one contest for CARE to be held Dec. 2 through 10, announced Al McNair, deputy district governor.

The event will be held at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, east San Rafael. The hole, especially constructed for the contest by club architect Terry Van Groter, will be a 150 yarder.

First prize will be a 1961 Volvo sedan. Benefits will go to CARE, an agency for overseas relief.

Kiwanis' Raider Day Set Dec. 3

The San Rafael chapter of the Kiwanis International in Northern California will join with 92 other chapters of the organization to celebrate "Kiwanis Club Day with the Raiders" Dec. 3, at Candlestick Park.

During the halftime of the 1:30 p.m. game between the Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, TV stars will entertain, said Paul Leahy, president of San Rafael Kiwanis.

Part of the proceeds of the game will go to the club's fund for under-privileged children.

Mad Racing Whirl Still Spinning

By AL MATSON

The mad merry-go-round of racing every Sunday continues this weekend with the Corinthian Yacht Club's second Regatta in their five-race series.

The same starting time as stipulated in the first race will be in effect, i.e., initial group will get the show on the road at 11:30 a.m. and the same starting line between the Club Flagstaff and a marker buoy, approximately one-fourth of a mile to the southeast.

Weather permitting, it is quite possible that the great participation of the first regatta will be equaled; 179 starters, an all time record. This is the 10th year of the Corinthian mid winters and the heavy turnout reflects the sentiments of many of the skippers; the club pioneered winter racing and is deserving first consideration in the three-pronged campaign now underway.

To the winner goes the spoils and tomorrow night the sailors who battled their way to victory in the Small Yacht Racing Assn.'s seasonal program will descend upon the Sausalito Yacht Club to collect their hard-won trophies.

The actual presentation will be enhanced by a dinner dance, a buffet affair, will be served at eight bells. Following the award distribution, captain Dick Hart will mount the poop-deck, pipe his crew of music makers to attention and there will be dancing till the wee sma' hours.

BRAVE GRIDDER—Trevor Benedict, 13, could barely walk due to severe physical handicaps when he turned out for the Redwood Junior Giants Pop Warner football team three years ago. Because of determination and courage, next week he will play in the Boise, Idaho, Bronco Bowl Thanksgiving Day game as a star tackle for Redwood.

Marin Lad Licked Handicap To Star With Warner Champs

A plucky boy who triumphed over severe physical handicaps to become an outstanding junior football player will be making the trip to Boise next week with the Redwood Giants of Corte Madera-Larkspur, champions of the Pop Warner League.

Trevor Benedict, 13-year-old tackle on coach John Pagliaro's pennant-winners, could barely walk when he turned out for the Giants three years ago. Trev had a serious muscular ailment, but he was determined to play.

Painfully jogging around the track for the strenuous physical conditioning that Pagliaro requires, the 10-year-old hopeful "just never quit, and asked no favor either," the coach recalls.

Young Benedict's willpower gradually overcame his weakened muscles until this year he played a key role in every game, stopping virtually every smash aimed at his end of the stalwart Giants' line. His spirit was nothing less than inspiring to the undefeated eleven, which racked up nine opponents and scored 241 points to 71 while doing it.

The invitation to Boise's Bronco Bowl on Thanksgiving Day is the second for the Giants in three years. In 1959 the 123-pounders from Marin County defeated a Boise club 34-14.

Unstoppable in the North Bay, the Corte Madera-Larkspur boys are sure they'll be unstoppable in Idaho on Turkey Day.

A helping of the Trevor Benedict brand of gumption could prove them right.

More Mercy Bowl Benefits Organized

MODESTO (UPI)—Los Angeles won't be the only site for the Mercy Bowl next week.

Station K-T-U-R in Turlock and the Yosemite Bowling Alley of Modesto today announced plans for a 24-hour "mercy bowl" drive Nov. 25, the Saturday after the game by the same name will be held in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The drive here will be for the same cause, help for the injured athletes and the families of the victims in the crash which wiped out most of the Cal Poly football team last year.

KTUR will broadcast for 12 hours straight from the alley, soliciting donations. In addition, 40 per cent of all advertising revenue the station takes in during the day and 10 cents per line for all games bowled at the alley will go to the Mercy Bowl fund.

Johnny Murphy, now chief scout for the New York Mets, won 93 games and lost 53 as a pitcher with the New York Yankees.

THIRD & C STREETS SAN RAFAEL

AS long as anyone can remember, there has been a family store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue.

In 1915, Jacob Albert began it. His son, Harry, not much older than the century, was its first manager.

All the neighbors shopped there for drygoods, a term that covered a multitude of merchandise. It was "dry" if you couldn't eat it, drink it, squeeze it out of a tube, use it to paint a barn, plow a field, or shoe a horse.

There were long-legged wooden stools for the ladies to perch upon when they selected dressmaking patterns that called for yards and yards of pongee, poplin, or alpaca. Muslin was bought by the sheet length, outing flannel by the bolt. "Ready-mades" were built to last forever; for, in the tiny unsophisticated town of San Anselmo, a housedress was new for at least a year, and a Sunday suit was good for a decade.

In 1918, young Harry went to war, but returned to manage bigger and busier family stores and keep an eye on the little one in San Anselmo. For 36 years, nothing was changed there but the light bulbs, until, in 1951, Harry Albert, now a grandfather, doubled the "little one's" size and gave it a fine new facade.

Meantime, another young man prepared to go to war. He was a southerner named Mozart Kaufman, and he had never heard of Marin County until the Air Corps introduced him to Hamilton Field.

One bright and beautiful day soon after his arrival in Marin, Lieutenant Kaufman met Harry Albert's daughter Lois. Exactly four weeks later, they were married.

Almost immediately, Mozart was shipped to the Aleutians, then to Europe where he somehow survived being shot down over France, 30 days in solitary confinement in a Frankfurt Interrogation Center, and 10 months in a German prison camp.

He survived to buy the family store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue, and an empty grocery store across the street that served for a time as a warehouse for the department store's merchandise.

So it was in 1952 that Kaufman's Department Store began. Two years later, the warehouse across the street became the handsome modern Store for Men and Boys that it is today.

But, for all its fine new front, the department store's interior, with its dark wood paneling and sombre pillars, still retained the flavor of the dear old "drygoods concern." The merchandise was bright and new, and of excellent quality, as always, but there was simply no place to put it, much less show it off to good advantage.

Even so, the neighbors came around to shop for the good things they wanted, and to be waited on by the world's pleasantest people (There never has been nor ever will be an overwhelming or a brittle salesperson at Kaufman's).

But Marinites are Moderns (multiplying like mad!) who deserve a department store to match, so—

Like the small dark caterpillar that remodeled itself inside, and came out of the cocoon a big, bright, beautiful butterfly, the small dark Kaufman's-that-was has been remodeled inside, and doubled in size.

Tonight, a big, bright, beautiful department store will come out of the cocoon of remodeling; for tonight is Kaufman's Coming-Out Party.

Of course you're invited. Come for pleasure, and if you're lucky, for profit; for nothing will be sold, but some beautiful door prizes will be given away.

(Tomorrow you can buy out the store. New and distinguished lines of merchandise have been added, so, if you can't resist 'em, don't say we didn't warn you.)

Meantime, we'll look forward to seeing you—tonight, from 7 till 9.

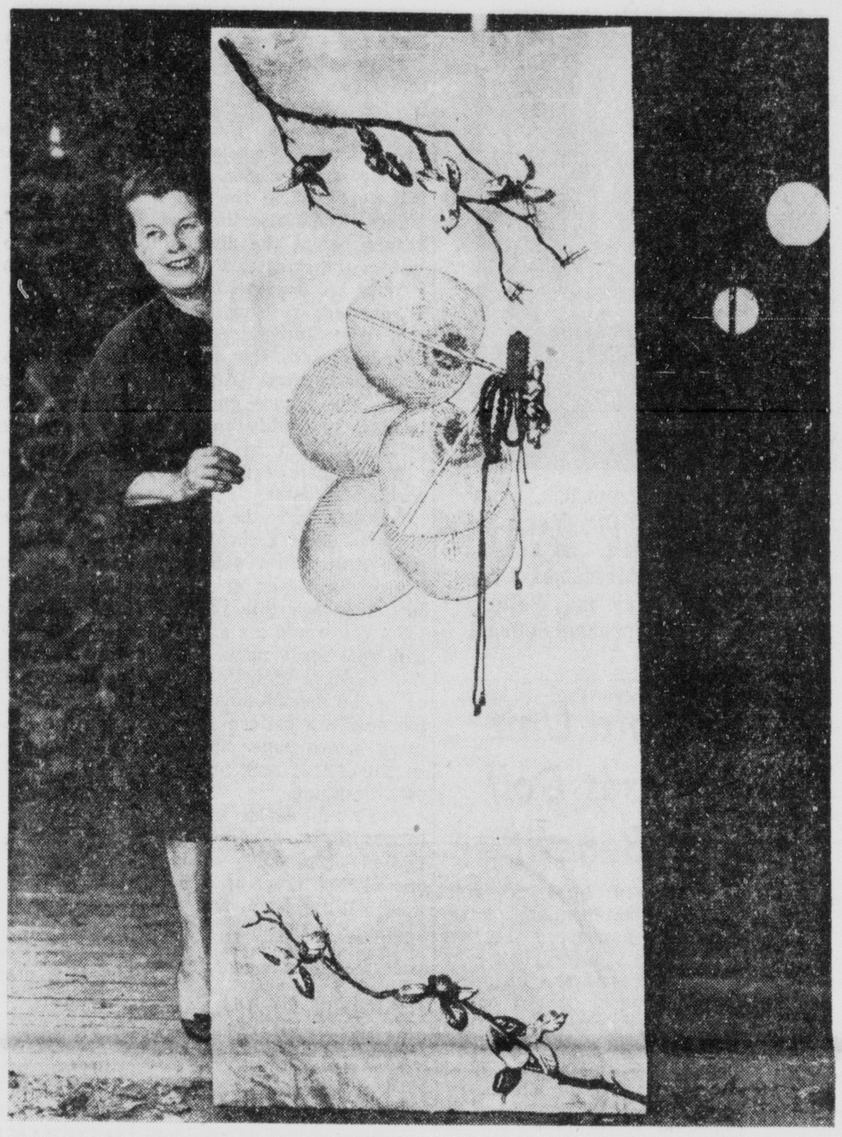
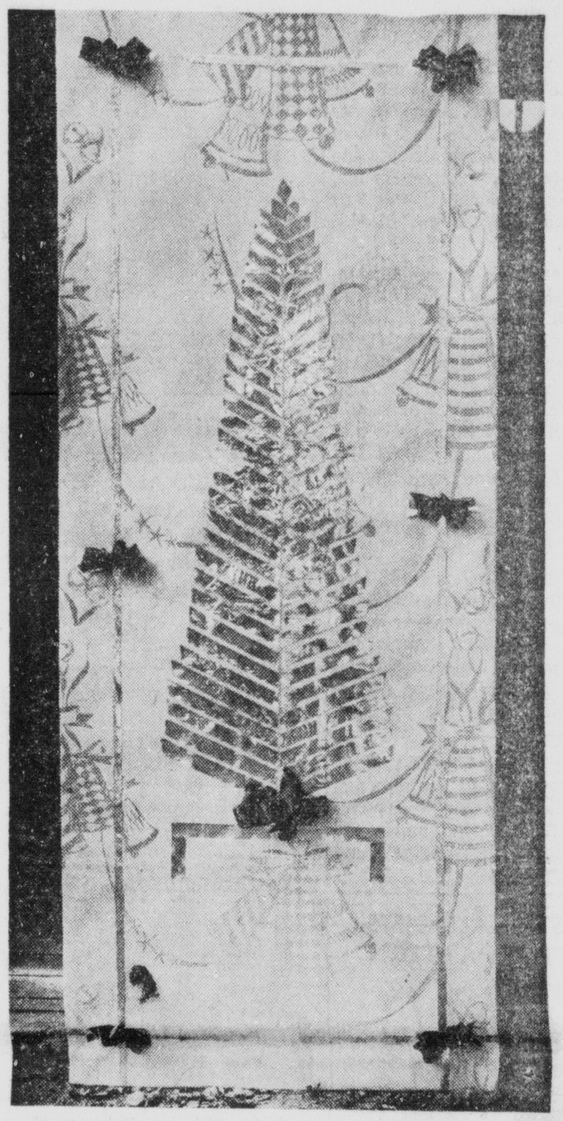
Preview Of 24 Doors And Tea—

'CHILDREN LIVE here' might be indicative of this door decorated for the Christmas season with a background of glitter cloth bell paper with apple green teasel wreath and styrofoam kitten. The door was done by Decorations Guild member Mrs. Henry E. Picard.



THE ORIENTAL MOTIF is carried out in this door arrangement by Guild president Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey. It features fans in three colors with driftwood branches, artificial flowers and a gold Japanese figurine.



FOR EITHER interior or exterior use is this door decorated by Mrs. H. W. Laster. The transitional door is done in glitter bell paper with metallic silver tree and red satin bows.

Decorations Guild To Premiere New Christmas Event

By PATRICIA ZINN

Another first for the Art and Garden Center and Marin will be introduced on Dec. 1, 2 when the Decorations Guild at the Center premieres "Twenty-four Doors and Tea."

The new event, originated by Mrs. Frank Stratford of Ross, member of the board of directors at the Center, will feature 24 doors decorated for Christmas by the Guild. The advance look at unusual decorations will herald the start of the sale of holiday decorations and will be climaxed with the Guild's Greens Sale on Dec. 15.

Exterior and interior doors, including back and front, kitchen, powder room, nursery and Dutch will be offered in the Northgate Building from 1 to 9 p.m. for the two-day sale.

Previews of the event featured an Oriental motif and make use of such materials as wicker trees, teasels, fruits, natural pods and pine cones. Both the ultimate and the elegant in paper backgrounds are included in green rice paper, knotty pine and yellow satins.

Various members are presenting surprise issues in door decorations, all of them using the interesting paper fabric and appliques of the dried arrangements for which the Decorations Guild is so famous.

Mrs. Henry E. Picard of Kentfield, a long-time active Guild member, will decorate the tea table with her own copper tea service and tea cloth of tangerine glitter fabric with green fish net covering.

Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey, president of the Guild is chairman of the presentation. Directing the arrangement of displays on the doors are Mrs. Tuckey and Mrs. Marion Ludlow.

Mrs. Winston Jones and Mrs. Stanley Steer will decorate a Sugar Plum Tree to be shown at the sale and also later at the Greens Sale.

Committee members include Mesdames Francis L. Burt, R. P. Forster, M. W. Milot, C. J. Bergstrom.

Mink Coat Is More Than Status Symbol

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—When you see a mink coat in production, you will appreciate more than its price tag.

The "anatomy" of a mink coat is more than skins created into a status symbol; it also is a result of many man hours by craftsmen.

Thirty years in the industry lie behind Leo Ritter, boss and chief designer for Ritter Brothers. It was at this firm that I went behind the scenes for a look at the production of millions of dollars of luxury per year.

Let us begin with that mink coat and what goes into its making.

First comes the fur—skins sold at auction from mid-December through the end of January. At auction, they go to the highest bidder, just as a piece of fruniture or a painting would go to the highest bidder. The furrier has had a chance before the auction to inspect the skins closely.

Skins are bought either raw or dressed; raw means that they come directly from the animal; dressed, that the pelts have been cured. After purchase, the furrier grades the pelts as to quality and color, matching them in terms of their ultimate destination — coat, stole, jacket.

Say that you're the customer about to order a custom-made mink coat. First you would work with Ritter or another furrier in selecting the style. Then you would get a head-to-hem coat made up in muslin. Any changes in fitting would be in the muslin stage. From the muslin a pattern is made, using brown paper about the weight of that used for parcel post wrapping.

You would decide with your furrier the type of mink you wanted—it probably would be one of the ranch-bred mutations. Ritter said that wild Labrador is the most precious of all minks, but there are only 1,600 to 1,800 Labradors trapped a year and the mink is smaller than the ranch-bred.

Ritter said there are only five or six Labradors made a year, and it wasn't too long ago that a San Francisco store advertised one for $35,000.

You can buy a mink coat for much less. Ritter said some are available for around $1,650, but "the woman who knows what she is buying will pay a little more; say $2,950."

RANCH-BRED

The ranch-bred mink is the most plentiful fur, and the Mutation Mink Breeders Association has registered 12 trademarks as basic mutations. But its "mink color wheel" lists 34 shadings on these from the standard dark ranch to demi-buff.

Once you have selected the skins, the cutter goes to work. Gills and head are removed from the pelts; the skin is split down the center, for this way, one half goes into one side of the coat, the other half in exactly the same position on the opposite side, for perfect matching.

Each skin is numbered on the inside to the place it ultimately will go on the pattern; then another, more complicated process begins. Each section of the pelt is cut on the diagonal into strips, then sewn together again with the finest cotton or cotton - and - silk thread.

This elongates the skin: "letting it out," is the industry term for the process. Ritter said this makes for more beautiful shadings in the fur and a more beautiful finished product.

NAILED DOWN

These re-sewn strips of mink then are nailed (with nails not much bigger than straight pins) to the pattern, with the numbers on skin and pattern corresponding. The nailing is to the pattern lying flat on a wooden slab about the size of a dining room table. Once all the fur strips are in place, the board is propped vertically so a "drying" or curing and setting process can begin. This takes at least 48 hours, said Ritter.

Now, another expert takes over, trimming away any ragged edges of fur, and sewing in horizontal strips of tape so that your mink coat won't have any sag even 10 years hence. Now, the coat is "closed"—that is, the parts all are sewn together.

Then comes a cleaning in sawdust. The fur is dumped into a ripidly revolving bin of the stuff. Then it goes into a clean cylinder and a blower removes any residue.

Your mink coat now is ready for the tailors who line it and add hooks and buttons. Finally comes a pressing. A craftsman uses something like a curry comb and a warm iron to give the finished "glaze" and shape to the fur.

"By this time," said Ritter of a mink coat, "we have made anywhere from 55 to 155 animals look like one."

A JANUARY wedding is being planned by Ellen Catherine Rynders and Charles E. Fisher Jr., both of Mill Valley. (Don Faulkner photo)

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rynders of Mill Valley. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, and is employed by Wells Fargo American Trust Co. in San Anselmo. She is the sister of Fred and Edward Rynders of Mill Valley.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher of Mill Valley and the brother of Mrs. Allan Kreyer of San Francisco, and Mrs. Charles Kuenzel of Cincinnati, Ohio. He also is a Tamalpais graduate and is a salesman for Dorothy E. Fisher Realty Co.

The couple plans to be married Jan. 13 at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

If Entertaining At Home Hosts Are On Hand Early

When entertaining at home the host and hostess should be ready to receive their guests in the living room at least 10 minutes before the hour for which the guests have been invited.

The guests should always speak to the hostess first, the host next, and then the other guests. When a guest brings friends, they are introduced at once to the hosts, as soon as the greeting is over. The host or hostess should then introduce these friends to some of the other guests; or, at a small party, to all of them.

At a luncheon or dinner party, the hostess starts the procession to the table with the announcement "Shall we go in?" She then guides in the guest who will sit at her right. If there are no place cards, the hostess directs each guest to his place at the table.

At a tea (or afternoon coffee) party, the refreshments may be served as soon as the first guests arrive. If there are men and women at the tea, and a host as well as a hostess, the host and the other men should wait on the women guests.

A cocktail party is the most informal way of entertaining. Refreshments are served as the guests arrive and there is no set hour at which guests must arrive.

At informal dances, the host and hostess stand within hailing distance of the door. After about 30 minutes, they start dancing and only keep an eye on the door to greet new arrivals.

At both semi-formal and formal dances, the guests are announced and the host and hostess stand by the door to receive them. At a very big dance, the guests of honor are expected to stay in the receiving line with the host and hostess for an hour or more.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D
Guidance Counselor

It's Time That Parents Had Their Say On Schools

Are you satisfied with your children's schools? What changes could be made to improve them? How can schools become more effective?

Will you write to me, answering these questions?

Senators and admirals often criticize our schools, but so far nobody has spoken for us parents. We're closer to schools than the big shots. We know our children better than they do. It's time we had our say.

Put on your thinking cap. Express your opinions in detail. What especially good things have happened to your children? What bad things? Have there been odd and unexpected occurrences? What could be done to improve their education? And the education of their classmates?

Address your letters to Richmond Barbour in care of this newspaper. You might ask thoughtful neighbors who don't see this column to write, too. Their ideas will be welcomed.

Be sure to sign your letter, and give your address. Thank you, sincerely!

(Q) "Is stuttering hereditary? As a boy I stuttered badly. Now my son is beginning. He is 5." L.A.

(A) Stuttering as such is not inherited. However, a predisposition to the emotional problems which can lead to stuttering may be inherited, one way or another. A happy, healthy, successful life is the best preventive. Take your boy to a qualified speech therapist for help.

High points of her trip were her visits in Hartford, Conn., with her daughter, Mrs. George Wright and her husband and three children, and at Ann Arbor, Mich., with her son, William Stapp, and his wife and three children.

She also visited her brother at Columbus, O., a niece in Milwaukee and the Ira Couches in Omaha, Neb. The Couches are known in Sausalito through their visits with her.

Fund Raising Idea

Charity-minded women who go in for bake sales as means of raising money for church or other funds, might take a cue from a group of neighbors in Syracuse, N. Y. who have come up with a new way of finding customers outside of their immediate neighborhood. They don gala costumes and drive their gaily decorated and cake-laden station wagons to all parts of the city.

Ballet Aquacade Becomes Unit Of Marin General Auxiliary

After 16 years under Junior Theater sponsorship the Ballet Aquacade is now on its own as the fourth and largest branch of the Marin General Hospital Auxiliary.

The June event is now wholly a fund raising activity for the hospital, a trend that began 10 years ago when the hospital was built and the former sponsor, the Ross-Kentfield-Greenbrae Unit of Junior Theater of Marin, began to donate much of the proceeds for pediatric equipment at the hospital. However, part of the proceeds covered expenses of the free summer theater program for children. During the 10 years that the hospital has been in operation the Junior Theater donated about $10,000 to it.

Originated and directed by Mrs. Ralston Hodgson, Ballet Aquacade will present its 17th annual performance June 9 and 10.

When it was decided that the hospital auxiliary would launch the new branch, a coffee hour was held Friday at St. John's community house in Ross. Eighty-five prospective members responded and were addressed by Mrs. Hodgson, William Turner, Marin Genera hospital administrator, and Mrs. John M. Kyle, from the auxiliary.

The augmented official new branch includes Mesdames Hodgson, Douglas Pease, William Turner, Marin General Hodgson, Douglas Pease, president of Ross-Kentfield Junior Theater, William Cuneo, Gordon Cuneo, John Barrie Jr., William Costa, James Heynemann, Roger Kane, Terres Ronneberg, Fred Enemark, D. F. Morrell and Thomas Gilboy. The liaison committee from the hospital auxiliary, all former associates of Ballet Aquacade, are Mrs. Jules Becker, 1959 chairman; Mrs. Howard Burns, swim coach and Mrs. John O'Connell, production staff.

Luncheon Tomorrow

Mrs. Marguerite Layton of San Rafael is taking reservations for the luncheon that will be given tomorrow by Northern California Alumnae Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta at the Alta Mira Hotel. Miss Myrna Hughes will speak at the noon event on "Creative Teaching in the Educational System of Great Britain."

Check Floor Wax Before Buying

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Check that floor wax you're buying, warns Jean Heath of Cornell University's New York State College of Home Economics.

Miss Heath said, despite the variety available, floor waxes are one of two kinds — spirit solvent or water emulsion.

Spirit solvent waxes do not build up around the edges of a room. When the new wax is applied, it dissolves the old wax and picks up the dirt in it.

However, Miss Heath warned, spirit solvent waxes can be used only on raw wood or cork floors. They soften asphalt and rubber tiles.

Designers Turn Attention, Talent To Laundry Areas

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Designers and architects have turned their talents to laundry areas.

A manufacturer of automatic wash machines and dryers put the designers and architects to work on the problem. The reason: many new homes have no basements and laundry equipment must be installed in full view in kitchen, bathroom, utility room, hall, spare bedroom or possibly garage or covered patio in warmer climates.

Naturally laundry areas in these upstairs rooms must be more compact and attractive than in the basement.

The designers' and architects' plans for laundries in these rooms include designs for various geographical areas, houses and apartments, new and remodeled homes.

One plan calls for installation of the laundry in the dinette by replacing a built-in buffet with a laundry center wall, complete with built-in storage. Another plan, for a retirement home, features three pass-through clothes bins in the wall between hall and utility room, saving steps.

In a kitchen laundry plan, an island sink divides cooking and laundry areas, and doubles as a kitchen sink and wash tub.

Another plan involves the use of a laundry "carousel." Automatic washer, small sink and dryer are mounted on a turntable which revolves to expose a toy storage area.

Here are some of the factors designers consider in choosing the best room for a laundry area upstairs and making it attractive:

The kitchen is a practical site because it allows for interspersing washing with other jobs.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Nov. 17, the 321st day of the year with 44 more to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1800, Congress convened in Washington for the first time. The session was held in the north wing of the capitol. The only portion of building then completed.

In 1869, the Suez Canal in Egypt was formally opened.

In 1881, Samuel Gompers organized the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada at a meeting held in Pittsburgh.

In 1951, the pro-Soviet World Federation of Trade Unions openly advocated Communist infiltration into non-Communist labor organizations to hinder Western rearmament.

A thought for the day: Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, said: "Soap and education are not as sudden as a massacre, but they are more deadly in the long run."

Shelter Controversy Danger Is Divided American People

It appears to us that the greatest danger of the current fallout shelter controvery is the possibility of serious division within the United States itself.

"Peace" proponents have designated the shelter program as a symbol, elevating it to a status in the defense picture far above its actual importance.

Proponents of shelters have therefor solidified their positions. Thus are forming two hard-shelled camps, sniping at each other over the heads of a concerned, confused and fearful general public, caught in the middle.

Lacking from the scene is any real leadership. There are scientists in both camps. There are religious leaders in both camps.

From Sacramento comes information about the need for fallout shelters from a Civil Defense office which hasn't built one for itself.

From Washington has come practically nothing, except high sounding speeches from the highest officials.

So the people are milling first this way, then that way. They are being called "immoral" and "warmongers" if they want to build shelters. They are called "wild eyed idealists" or "Communist stooges" if they don't. The terms "defeatist" and "traitor" have been applied indiscriminately by both sides on the other.

Obviously, such a situation is good neither for the peace effort, the defense effort, nor the already taut nerves of the common man.

Fallout shelters were developed merely to protect their occupants from fallout. Fallout was pointed out as the big danger of nuclear explosions as far back as the Bikini tests. And "peace" advocates were quick to point this out then.

The shelters are not designed to, nor will they protect from bomb blast, radiation, fire, lack of oxygen, or a half dozen other possible effects of nuclear warfare. They are shelters from fallout only.

If people understand what they are building and make up their minds they want to put the money and effort into this much protection, we can't see any good reason why they shouldn't. In fact we would encourage it.

At the same time, we would urge such people not to think they have done their share by protecting themselves that much.

The biggest job is to see that the shelter never has to be used.

We also would warn those who decry construction of such shelters that they haven't done all they can if they merely write a letter to Nikita Khrushchev or their congressman urging an end to war.

It's not that simple.

It is just as dangerous to write a letter and then sit back and think the job is done, as to build a shelter and then assume you've produced safety.

Bringing true peace to the world is a long, hard process. It is going to take long, hard negotiating, probably for many years. No single act, like unilateral disarmament or an uninspected atomic test ban, will bring peace.

The most important things for us to do are to calm the hysteria which has, to a great extent, been brought about by the fallout shelter debacle; to put that program in perspective, join forces again and unite our efforts in the real goal of us all — peace and freedom around the earth.

The Map Game At Tiburon

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Up to a year ago, one could rely with some confidence on the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan as a guide in predicting the future development of the area. On the surface, it appeared that the master plan had been enforced with the appropriate zoning and that the county board would uphold it with integrity and intelligence.

Today, Tiburon is at the cross-roads. The projected road system is disintegrating into a series of narrow, substandard cul-de-sacs. The amount of land set aside for apartments under the master plan has already been doubled and an additional 117 acres is scheduled to be heard by the county board after the Dec. 5 election.

The planned commercial zoning requirements for the business district have yet to be enforced and have been bypassed again and again by variance. Even the parking has been handled by temporary, makeshift solutions.

Irresponsible citizens now while away their time at the "map game." They draw maps chopping off the choicest parts of the peninsula tax base for annexation to adjoining communities. Even such innocuous organizations as the local chamber of commerce are fair game for the map players.

So far, the community leadership to deal with these problems has been lacking. The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce has an outstanding record of negative accomplishment over the past year. The Tiburon Coordinating Council has been inept and ineffective. The various property owner groups are myopic in outlook and geared only for spasmodic bursts of activity.

It is hoped that an increasing awareness of our immediate problems will bring an awareness that incorporation could be an effective vehicle for safeguarding the tremendous potential of Tiburon.

Incorporation should be decided by ballot and soon!

Dance Teachers Are Trained

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You are undoubtedly unaware of the fact that the ad on behalf of the Arthur Murray studio appearing in your Nov. 4 issue, has already been protested as misleading and unfair by the National Council of Dance Teachers and its member organizations.

This ad originally appeared in the Oct. 17, 1961, issue of The New York Times and was later published by other newspapers indicating a nationwide campaign by the Murray organization.

Although the ad is misleading on two major counts, I will restrict myself to one point which can be factually verified. This is a boxed note in the ad which states:

"CAUTION—Most dancing schools were started by people without adequate training in the teaching of ballroom dancing.

"At a studio licensed by Arthur Murray, Inc., you are assured expert instruction because every teacher is carefully chosen and thoroughly trained before he can qualify to teach you." . . .

Where are the facts to prove such a wild statement? On what grounds, statistical or otherwise, can the Murray managers claim that "most" independents are without "adequate training"?

In Marin County, so far as I know, the undersigned is the only independent specializing only in adult ballroom dance instruction.

Qualifications include:

1. For American Free Style, Latin, etc. Certification from: Dance Educators of America, Inc. Accredited Member No. 686.

2. For International Style —Slow Foxtrot, Quickstep, Waltz and Tango. Certification from: Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing, London, England. (Association Exam. —Commended rating, and full membership accredited No. RB 2854/20.)

3. Adjudicator for: International Style, and American Free Style—National Smooth Dancers of California, Inc., Peninsula Intl. Dance Club, etc.

Other than Marin County, I would say that what facts are available are all in favor of the independent dance teachers . . .

The small independent dance school and independent instructors do not have the funds to publicly advertise like the Murrays . . .

How then can the independents exist unless they can sell superior ballroom dancing at lower cost? Actually, the clientele of the independent is built up through word of mouth advertising. A quality teacher who can produce superior ballroom dancing does not have to use high pressure selling tactics, good dancing practically sells itself . . .

SARCASM SOLVES NOTHING

Do you know the origin of the word "sarcasm?" It comes from the Greek verb "sarkazo", meaning "to tear flesh."

Perhaps these dictionary definitions will give a better appreciation of "sarcasm."

"A keenly ironical, scornful, or taunting expression; cutting and reproachful language; that form of irony in which the speaker is actuated by scorn.

All of us are tempted to be sarcastic under aggravating circumstances. And we yield to the temptation at one time or another.

A biting remark at home, work or in a social gathering is bound to "tear flesh." And often the wounds are slow to heal.

It requires only a slight effort and a moment longer to blend gentleness with firmness. And you will be blessed by both God and man if you add a divine note of peace to a world sorely in need of it.

"If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man." (James 3:2)

Grant, O Holy Spirit, that I may learn to be gracious when tempted to be curt.

It Takes A Heap Of Courage To Be A Fat Man These Days

NEW YORK (AP)—It takes real courage today to be a fat man.

The fellow who packs a paunch is one of the unsung heroes of our times. He is the great nonconformist of this generation, and his protuberant tummy is a badge of distinction, a token of true bravery flaunted in the face of the calorie-counting mob.

Anybody today can be skinny and stroll the land like a rampant beanpole. All you have to do is do without what most of mankind has struggled for over the last million years—food.

The dieters who go through this agony and wind up looking like a walking exclamation point may or may not be saints. But why do they have to regard all fat men as sinners—and their mortal enemies?

Every time these emaciated wretches meet an honest fat man they poke bony finger in his chubby stomach and say things like:

"You're putting it on again, I see."

It is high time the fat men of America formed themselves into a protective society to guard themselves against detractors. They should carry a neon-lit sign on their stomachs saying.

"Please do not touch. Contents valuable."

A fat man, if left alone, is generally one of nature's noblemen. His crime, if any, is that he simply enjoys the good things of this world—and doesn't mind showing it. He is no hypocrite.

SECRETLY, he probably has a quiet pride in his large, economy-size stomach. It has many advantages. You can't beat it for showing off a Phi Beta Kappa key, and it makes a wonderful shield in pushing one's way through a crowded bus.

All fat men ask is that they be left alone to go through life enjoying peace of mind—and a piece of cake, too. Their motto is, "Live and let live."

BUT SKINNY people won't let them. Skinny people can't stand the sight of a comfortable, contented fat man.

It's about time fat men started fighting back. Our suggestion is that on a given day of each month—and at a certain hour—every fat man in America should turn around and fall down on the nearest dieter and smother him.

BENNETT CERF

Early in Robert Taylor's motion picture career, the budding star decided he was being underpaid and sought a raise from the Great Mogul of the MGM studio, the late Louis B. Mayer, who could weep a bucket of tears at will. He sat Taylor down and told him, "Bob, I have two lovely daughters but no son. If I DID have a son—and I would have liked him to be as handsome, brilliant, and talented as you—I would have told him, 'Son, you are now working for a great studio that one day will make you a great, great star. Don't make the mistake, my son, of demanding a raise now."

Taylor was in something of a daze when he found himself back in the anteroom. "Well," demanded his agent, "did you get a raise?" "No," admitted Taylor, "but I got a father."

Marin Teacher Invents Colored Rods To Better Teach Mathematics

The first graders in Mrs. Ruth Travis' class at Wolfe Grade School are having fun learning math.

Instead of the usual book-learning "two plus two makes four" technique, her pupils can learn math by stacking multi-colored wooden rods upon each other. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

I watched one of her students using the rods and saw the fun and understanding take place as he felt the relationship of the numbers instead of just reading about them.

THE RODS START with a blue cube, one and five-eighths inches in size, an end with a chartreuse rod 10 times longer than the "number one rod." The 10 rods are painted so they will match colors of crayons. The children can stack up the rods and write the corresponding numbers with a crayon or draw rods on graph paper.

An example of addition by using the rods: placing a blue number one rod as a base and stacking a green number two rod on top of it, the child can place next to the stack a yellow number three rod. He can feel and see that one and two together is equal in size to three.

MRS. TRAVIS' husband, Carlton, a specialist when it comes to paints, mixed up the colors himself at home. Mr. and Mrs. Travis and their five sons and daughters, who range in age from 18 to 25, all helped in the project to make the initial rods.

Mrs. Travis has received an agreement with Skaneatles Handicrafters of New York to make more sets of "Travis Rods" for children of other schools. She has already applied for a patent and her trademark is pending registration.

Some of the rods are being made by the inmates of San Quentin Prison.

She is working on having three set sizes. Her one and five-eighths inch size will be supplemented with one-half inch and one inch sizes.

Mrs. Travis points out that not only addition is learned, but subtraction and multiplication are learned as well. The child can stack up two rows of five "number one" rods and see that there are a total of 10. To the child, this is proof positive that two times five is 10.

The first grade teacher even shows how the rods can be used to aid in teaching art and music. She is trying to make a hundred and one uses for the rods, and with her enthusiasm, I wouldn't doubt she succeeds.

NEXT SEMESTER the first graders in the Kentfield School District will be tested to find the values of this type of mathematics. One of the first grade classes in the district will have no use of the rods, but will learn math in the orthodox method.

Another first grade class will use the rods for one-half day and a third group will use the rods all day. At the end of the semester the children will be tested to find which control group learned the most.

The test will indicate whether this new technique of math teaching is better than the way most of us learned.

MRS. TRAVIS has been invited to speak at the California Mathematics Council Conference at Asilomar this weekend. She is not going to the conference ill prepared.

She has drawn up charts and graphs explaining the different uses of the rods.

It's nice to know we have this kind of person in Marin who doesn't say, "If it was good enough for my father it's good enough for me."

I have heard this much too often.

Hollywood Stars Finally Beginning To Make Opinions Heard Again

LOS ANGELES — After a long night of timid silence, partly imposed by a timid industry, Hollywood stars and writers are again coming out into the open—and expressing their opinion.

For years, their voices have been frozen by fear—and not without some reason—of being branded Communist or radical or at least controversial.

But at last they're venturing into the arena of public advocacy and doing what comes naturally to show business luminaries—to say how they feel about what they think is important.

If Bob Hope can come out against cancer, Rita Moreno and Marlon Brando and Shirley MacLaine and others have decided that they can come out against nuclear testing without risking their jobs or their box-office popularity.

THIS IS EXACTLY what they are doing.

They are calling Khrushchev's 50-megaton bomb "a crime against humanity."

They are asking the government of the United States to "press steadily for ending all nuclear tests with full international inspection as guarantee against default by any nation."

They are urging "disarmament under strict control."

They are saying to all who will listen that "if war is not brought to an end, it will bring an end to everybody."

And they plan to greet President Kennedy when he gets to Los Angeles with a real star-studded mass demonstration, Hollywood-style, to bring home their earnest and passionate appeal.

THESE ARE NOT frightfully controversial objectives. Not unless it is deemed intellectually impolite to disagree with Nehru and the other neutrals who want the U. S. to accept another moratorium on tests without inspection to see how long the Soviets will keep it.

But it is not easy for top-draw Hollywood people to free themselves from the pall of intellectual repression which has ruled the motion picture and TV industries since the "Hollywood Ten" were caught in the coils of the House Un-American Activities Committee in the late '40s.

It is not my view that these 10 directors and writers who took the Fifth Amendment rather than answer questions about Communist activities were smeared by the House Committee. Rather it was the "Hollywood Ten" who smeared Hollywood and whose actions led to the extremes which have on pain of professional punishment kept show business people from exercising their rights as citizens, to extend their views publicly on public matters.

I COUNT IT ALL to the good, wholly proper and welcome, that the intellectual blight which has gripped Hollywood for so many years is lifting and that Hollywood figures have decided to be citizens as well as artists.

We don't have to agree wtih everything they say or do, but this is the time to be willing to stand up and be counted. It may well be that control of nuclear weapons is as important as box-office rating, if that is at stake.

Do your planning before you play to the first trick.

You can take seven tricks whenever you please: two hearts, two diamonds and three clubs. You must develop two additional tricks.

It's easy to rule out the spades. You can develop only one additional trick in spades. While you're doing so, the opponents can set up and run the hearts. They will take two spades and three hearts before you are ready to take your own tricks.

NO WORK NEEDED: No work is needed on the clubs. If each opponent has three clubs, you can take two additional tricks with your low clubs. There is no harm in leading out the top clubs, but also no advantage. If the clubs break evenly, you can take those tricks whenever you please. If the clubs break 4-2, you will have to abandon the suit, since one additional club trick is not enough.

We come, by elimination, to the diamonds. Here you can set up two additional tricks if the suit breaks 3-3 or if either opponent has a doubleton honor. The ace of hearts must be left in dummy as a final entry to the diamonds.

Now you have your plan. Win the first trick with the king of hearts, and cash the top diamonds. When the jack drops, lead the ten of diamonds to set up the rest of dummy's suit.

What if the diamonds failed to break so conveniently? You would know it by the time you had tried a third round of diamonds. Win the heart return and play for a 3-3 break in clubs. You hold the clubs in reserve, in case the diamonds fail to help you.

What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Your seven points will not produce a good play for game even if partner has 18 points. You are interested in game only if partner can show that his hand is stronger than a notrump opening bid.

Finding Role Of Christian Church In Nuclear Age

Tomorrow in New Delhi, India, leaders of 175 Christian denominations will gather in the third Assembly of the World Council of Churches. Facing them is a titanic question:

What is the role of the Christian Church in the nuclear age?

There could hardly be a more propitious time for a carefully considered answer to that question. The 600 or so delegates attending are well aware of its seriousness.

Not since 1954, when the second assembly was held in Evanston, Ill., has the full council met. Since that time, the world has moved into the nuclear age and the Christian Church has fallen far short, to date, in offering leadership for a fearful and confused peoples caught in a new type of terror.

There are evidences that the Christian faith is drawing closer together at this session. For the first time, the Roman Catholic Church is sending five observers to the assembly. Observers from the Russian Orthodox Church, claiming 23 million adherents, are not only present for the first time, but have applied for membership in the council and are expected to be voted into the organization.

Two other churches from behind the Iron Curtain, Bulgarian and Romanian Orthodox groups, also have asked and are expected to be admitted into membership.

In all, 21 new church denominations are seeking admittance, 10 of them from Africa.

Missing, however, will be delegates from Communist China where four denominations already are members. Their delegates have not been able to attend since the Communist regime took over China.

The job of developing a massive statement on the nuclear age role of the church will be undertaken by three large delegate sections. According to assembly leaders, the statement will attempt to define the basic task of the council in achieving unity, to decide upon the basic message of the Christian Church, and to determine what forms of service to humanity the council should continue or undertake.

In the three weeks of the assembly, the 19 committees will consider their work and policies, including discussions of disarmament, nuclear testing, family planning and racial policies.

The world today needs moral leadership as it has never needed it before in its history.

We doubt that the council will be able to solve our great problems in a three week conference. But it should be able to make a real start.

We pray for their success.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

WORD OF ASSURANCE MEANS MUCH

One boy saved the lives of three drowning girls even though he was convinced that he couldn't possibly rescue them.

"They're drowning, they're drowning, and I can't get all three of them," the 12-year-old boy shouted as he saw the girls of 8, 9, and 15 who couldn't swim.

Alone on the shore of the lake near Little Rock, Ark., was the boy's grandmother. Her words of assurance turned the tables:

"Be brave. Get the ones you can. You are a good swimmer," she said.

With that he dived in and quickly swam to the three struggling girls. He brought two safely to shore and then went after the third who had sunk. After pulling her out, he revived her with artificial respiration.

Even though you may not be able to grapple with some of the far-flung problems of our day, your encouraging word or letter of assurance may often be the deciding factor, under God, in stimulating others to persevere.

"Exhort one another every day."
(Hebrews 3:13)

Teach me, O Lord, to encourage others with ability, not discourage them.

Public Vs. Private Power Battle Looms

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Congress is likely to become the battleground for an increasing number of public vs. private power issues in the next few years.

Public and private power interests fought to a draw in the recent Congressional session over two red-hot power issues.

Public power proponents won a battle to provide funds for construction of an all-federal transmission system for the giant Upper Colorado River storage project in the Mountain West.

Private power proponents won their battle to prevent federal construction of electric generating facilities in the Hanford, Wash., plutonium reactor.

ONE REASON for the controversy: the Kennedy Administration has abandoned the Eisenhower Administration's "partnership" policy. Assistant Secretary of Interior Kenneth Holum said Nov. 7, "For eight years (we) have fought the battle of 'partnership'."

"Partnership," he said, "which proposes to sell falling water to private utilities at federal projects, ceased to exist as a national policy on Jan. 20 of this year. We believe the nation's resources should be managed in the broad public interest and not for selfish, narrow advancement at the public's expense." The present administration is stressing increased cooperation with public agencies and rural cooperatives.

THIS NEW POWER policy is viewed with a mixture of alarm and outright opposition by the private utility industry. Private utilities are concerned about the growth of public power in this country in the past 30 years. They fear the ultimate public take-over of their industry.

Their concern about further government encroachment into the private sector of the economy is shared by the coal industry. The two industries are also natural allies because the private utility industry is now the chief market for coal. Coal interests fear "unfair competition" from other sources of energy, particularly from the heavily federally subsidized atomic energy industry.

To public power proponents, including most "liberals" in Congress, including Marin Rep. Clem Miller, federal and other public development of the power resources of this country is for the general welfare and is in the public interest.

To private power proponents, including most "conservatives" in Congress, federal development of power projects, such as construction of steam plants, is a giant step toward socialism.

PROBABLY THE most telling argument raised against the Hanford project was that it was a new concept. Hanford opponents claimed that, if construction of two 400,000-kilowatt generators at the Hanford reactor were approved by Congress, the Atomic Engery Commission, for the first time, would be in the business of generating electric power for commercial sale.

So Nixon Said To McCarthy, Christopher

By CHAPIN A. DAY

'CHIP' DAY

The question hung over the Cow Palace Monday night. At the lower honor table, but well off to the right end, far from principal speaker Richard M. Nixon, sat San Francisco Mayor George Christopher. Much nearer the center, but at the upper table behind the speaker, sat Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy. Nixon greeted both: had his picture taken shaking hands with both. Then posed with Christopher on one side and McCarthy on the other, his arms crossed and shaking hands with both. The question still hung there:

Will the former Vice President endorse either for lieutenant governor?

Actually, only McCarthy is an announced candidate. But few indeed of the political observers in the Cow Palace believe the mayor won't be announcing before too long: probably right after the first of the year.

Earlier in the day, at his press conference, Nixon had been quite emphatic. There would be, he said, "no ticket; no agreement." Both McCarthy and Christopher are "good men" he said, and he would meet with each of them before leaving San Francisco.

Later that evening at the Bohemian Club, he did get a chance to talk with McCarthy, and presumably with Christopher, too. He complimented McCarthy on the moves he had made so far toward getting the GOP nomination, particularly for the efforts he had been making in Southern California. And he told McCarthy:

"I have friends on both sides and I'm not going to participate in your campaigns." McCarthy took the plural to mean both his and Christopher's.

THIS WEEK, though, the Christopher For Lieutenant Governor Committee was formed, urging Christopher to run and pledging their support to him as "California's No. 1 candidate for lieutenant governor."

In the 145 names of committee members, only two were listed as being from Marin, both San Anselmo.

One was Elmer S. Worlund, immediate past chairman of the Marin Republican County Central Committee; the other, J. Lee Chaille, husband of Marjorie Chaille, who is scheduled on Dec. 5 to be elected president of the Marin Federation of Republican Women.

McCarthy's reaction to the new committee: he is "pleased with the enthusiastic and good hearted people pledged to my candidacy throughout the state." They have, he said, "two great qualities: enthusiastic interest in my candidacy and financial capability for a proper campaign."

THE REPUBLICANS are still talking about the boo-boo of Edgar D. Osgood, chairman of the San Francisco Republican County Central Committee. He led the pledge of allegiance to the flag like this:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of American, one nation, under God, indivisible . . . "

Maybe "the republic for which it stands" has become a democracy.

ODDS AND ENDS:

One Republican candidate, who wasn't there the other night, promises a visit to Marin. Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight writes he is "again engaged in an exciting and stimulating campaign" and he hopes "in the near future I will be able to make a personal call."

We hear that Democratic Assemblyman Carlos Bee of Hayward, Assembly speaker pro tempore, is taking a second, hard look at the job of state superintendent of public instruction. Incidentally, trust you noticed Virgil Hollis has officially decided not to run for the office, as we said.

County GOP leaders David Winslow and Gerald Misner are scheduled to go to Eureka Tuesday, to caucus with other county chairmen, as Winslow says, "to put some life into the Republican First Congressional District Committee. Clem Miller take note.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Murder story plot: A madly jealous wife lures her husband to a bridge that spans a mighty river near their home, stabs him with a hatpin, and watches his body disappear beneath the waters with a satisfying plop. Then she seeks sanctuary with her mammy 20 miles away.

That very night, however, there is a great flood, and the river overflows its banks. The husband's body is washed up by the raging waters on the lawn in front of the house where the wife is hiding.

See what's unusual about all this? It's the first time in all the annals of murder yarns where the scene of the crime returns to the murderer!

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Sports Writers Partial To Drake

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The 1961 MCAL football season has come to a close. Once again, as in year's past, the biased partiality of your sports writers and your newspaper has become evident.

Your coverage of the Drake-Tam game was 100 per cent Drake. True, they won the game, and to them the honors belong. But Drake was not the only one who crowned a homecoming queen that night. Why picture only their queen? If space did not allow you to publish both Drake's and Tam's queen's pictures, then in fairness to all, you should have published none. Also, one of Tam's players was seriously hurt in the game, but not even a mention of this appeared in your story.

Very little publicity is given to athletic achievements in Southern Marin, be it high school or Pop Warner. Why?

Do we here in Southern Marin pay less for our subscriptions or individual papers? Is circulation here so below that of central or Northern Marin that you feel it is not worth the effort? Or are you simply as your name implies, the "INDEPENDENT" Journal?

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By WAT TAKESHITA

Things Could Be Different After Dec. 5 In County Courthouse

Dec. 5 this year could well be the turning point in the political atmosphere of the county courthouse. That's the day when Southern Marin will go to the polls to decide whether Supervisor J. Walter Blair should be replaced by attorney Peter Behr.

There appears to be more at stake than just that one position. For example, if Blair is defeated, the present supervisor majority (Blair, William Fusselman and George Ludy) would be broken, and the weight could shift to the other side.

AMIABLE County Administrator Alan Bruce keeps smiling as he works away in his little cubbyhole and won't let on a thing. In fact we haven't said more than a passing "hello" to him in the last four months.

But unless my appraisal of the man is incorrect, this is what I foresee: If Supervisor Blair wins the recall election on Dec. 5, it's a pretty good bet that Administrator Bruce will be looking for another job. Because even if the administrator's position remains, the supervisors could continue to bypass him on every occasion and give him such a brushoff that I don't think a man of Bruce's caliber could take it smiling. He would no doubt want to be more usefully occupied.

THEN AGAIN, County Clerk George Jones's decision whether to run for another term will be coming sometime after Dec. 5. Just because Jones is a pretty good friend of Blair's, some political pundits are already speculating that Jones is waiting for the outcome of the Blair recall to decide whether he will seek to remain county clerk for another four years.

But this speculation about Jones's decision hinging on the recall outcome should be scotched right here and now. Because Jones himself has told me the recall has nothing whatever to do with his decision. The county clerk is waiting until the first of the year because six months is plenty of time to campaign if he decides to run again.

MY BOSSES probably don't know it yet, but a competitive newspaper has sprung up overnight right under the noses of the I-J. In the city hall right across the parking lot, editor Aurora Leveroni has published the first edition of the San Rafael City Employees Assn. newspaper. It's so new that it doesn't even have a name yet. Its star reporter and shining light is blonde Jeanette Canziani.

SO MANY of the sheriff's squad cars were out of action this week that Frank Keaton donated his 1921 Model-T, completely equipped with flashing light and sheriff's emblem, for the "emergency."

The sheriff himself took it for a 25-minute "test spin" and coaxed it as far as a half block away, where the parts began to disintegrate and the jalopy gasped its last. The remains are being handled by Keaton.

DEPUTY TED Hughes was shopping for a hind quarter of beef hanging from a rack. When the clerk swung it around, it slipped off the rack and struck Hughes on the leg. Officer Hughes, who has been hit and kicked by many a live drunk, declared: "First time I've been kicked by a dead steer."

Should Criticize Government

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In one of your recent letter columns someone wrote "We are the government."

Unless explained, this statebecomes a dangerous half-truth. Under its cover the government could tax us 100 percent, tell us what to eat, what to wear, when to get up, how to think, etc. It would be foolish for us to object for after all "we" would just be deciding these things for ourselves.

Government agents could search our homes anytime of day or night. They wouldn't even have to knock. Why knock on your own door?

We (as individuals) might already be in when "we" (as government) entered and we might still be at home, though slightly shaken, when "we" left.

It is obvious that the government is not the individual.

I believe it is more accurate to consider government under ideal conditions as our agent or representative, to whom we have assigned certain well-defined tasks and given a limited amount of authority barely sufficient to carry out these tasks.

Thus it makes sense to occasionally criticize our various governments, since everybody knows that an agent might occasionally fail to carry out the instructions of those who appointed him and start acting on his own.

Leon De Lisle: Little Man, Big Ideas

By RANDALL GOULD

It seems safe to surmise that few Marinites are possessed by firm conviction that fate destined them to become auditor-controller of their county. But Leon A. De Lisle Sr. is such a man. Fortunately it happens that auditor-controller is just what he is.

"I don't believe I could have one anything else," says De Lisle with an air of mild surprise, mixed with placid resignation.

FORTUNATELY he likes what Providence arranged for him and virtually forced him into at the very time he was about to head up a roofing business in the county where he has lived most of the time since 1906.

The inevitability discerned by De Lisle may be a little hard for others to note at first glance. He had tried many things and disclosed a variety of talents. And still seems today more the artist than the bureaucrat.

As he sits at his courthouse desk there is an elfin sort of twinkle about this little man with big ideas. He's not the heavy boss type. One could perhaps imagine him a draftsman searching for an inspiration. Among many other things he has indeed been a draftsman — and a successful one.

But today he drafts projects, taking immense pleasure when they pan out and refusing to be disconsolate when they don't. He has quite a name for mixing into all manner of county affairs. Not always does he receive a warm reception but one thing is sure—people respect his restless mind.

"Some of my friends like to say I'm a crusader," confesses De Lisle apologetically. "Could be something to it, I guess. I have a lot of notions and I like to try to help things get done better."

IF OTHERS don't always agree with him, and if the De Lisle notions sometimes meet a cold shoulder, their author can shrug it off cheerfully. He figures he's doing pretty well on the percentages.

De Lisle might easily have followed in the steps of his English-born father, Alfred Henry De Lisle, as a civil engineer. He learned the work and did a lot of it during boyhood which began with his birth in Stockton May 8, 1893.

After kindergarten and the start of elementary school for Leon, the family, to which was added a younger brother Ernest now in San Jose, began moving frequently. Young Leon was to attend grammar schools in six cities including San Rafael which he first saw in 1900.

The father's work with the Southern Pacific Railroad was what kept the De Lisles on the move. But schooling received an added spice of variety because of the father's strong personal convictions.

"He had his own views on education and he never stopped studying till his death at 74," De Lisle recalls. "He learned about such things as chemistry (he hoped it would help him find California gold) and astronomy as hobbies.

"Because of his positive ideas he took me out of school for three years. For one thing, he didn't want me to be vaccinated, though finally I was, and he didn't want me to wear glasses. But also he tutored me.

"FATHER WASN'T satisfied till I got to the 24-times table, which I've since forgotten. He set up a special reading course. A result of all this was that I was using logarithms, and trigonometry and geometry in grammar school. In San Rafael I went to the old B Street School, across from where the Independent-Journal is now located.

"My mother was Anne Fraser, born in Scotland, and she could do problems in her head. Then she'd ask 'Why do you need algebra?' She was a terrific reader, interested in nursing, dramatics, many things."

Young Leon found himself doing railroad surveying during his later grammar school and his high school period. Not only did his father teach him, but he was doubly fortunate in working under "one of Marin County's fine engineers, George M. Dodge" so that soon he could run a transit and level and work out railroad curves as well as deal with land surveying.

"One of the very fortunate things about my life," says De Lisle, "is that the people I've worked with have always taken a tutoring approach. Some folk have a bad time. But I was lucky."

Those roving years brought many exciting experiences to the impressionable youth. The family was living in San Francisco at the time of the 1906 earthquake and fire but Leon happened to be with his father, by then chief engineer for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, up at Guerneville on the Russian River the night before the big shock.

A train was thrown over on its side at Point Reyes Station and damage was great all along the line of the San Andreas Fault. Father and son sat on the "cow-catcher" of the only available engine which was sent out to examine the damage to trestles.

A BIG OIL tank had burst at Fulton, Sonoma County," De Lisle recalls. "Oil flooded everything and only the rails showed above it. We went right on to Santa Rosa, and from there we saw the smoke of San Francisco burning.

One train was sent south and only we railroad men were allowed to go. From the ferry Eureka we could see Van Ness Avenue as a chaos of flames and smoke. We went on foot up from the Ferry Building through side streets and found our family in a park, though our flat didn't burn."

These experiences and his heady tastes of adult work led to a briefly painful period when young Leon started at the University of California in Berkeley. He was to study civil engineering, about which he thought he already knew quite a lot.

"The hard truth is that I was too smart for my britches," he confesses now. "I thought I knew more than my teachers. It was my mistake, and it didn't last long."

But his university experience spanned only two years, during which he kept books in vacation time for Pacific Gas and Electric and displayed a knack for drafting. Another possibility tempted him greatly.

An uncle who was a barrister in Vancover, where his parents had been married, arranged for him to join the firm and read law. This was practically settled when World War I upset matters.

Leon's father wanted him to enlist with the Canadians but at last he volunteered in San Francisco for the renowned "California Grizzlies." But instead of ordinary field artillery work, he soon found himself instructing fellow-soldiers in mathematics and other subjects, later giving special instruction to 180 men. He spent 19 months in the army without getting overseas but went to officers' training camp in Kentucky and emerged from service a second lieutenant with additional promotion on the way but never delivered.

AFTER A BOUT with influenza, Leon returned to the PG&E where an early promotion put him into drafting and cost accounting. Then

De Lisle Happy In His Job

County Auditor Enjoys Working For Marinites

AT HOME, Marin County Auditor-Controller Leon A. De Lisle Sr. and Mrs. De Lisle relax, above, with coffee and newspaper. The De Lisles live at 421 Center Blvd., San Anselmo. Mrs. De Lisle was once an assistant in her husband's office. And for exercise, at left, De Lisle can be seen taking his bulldog, Buster, for a walk, although the dog seems to have as much to say as owner about their direction. (Independent-Journal photos)

he became an engineering draftsman at the Sausalito headquarters of the Northwestern Pacific, only to return later to PG&E.

"I was always studying a course of some kind," says De Lisle. Preparation for auditing eventually led to work with Western Sugar Refinery, a Spreckels subsidary whose directors knew too little about its workings.

This was a responsible assignment where De Lisle's job was to study the complete administration, department by department. On a basis of his eventual department report a complete realignment was affected. It was his chance to learn much, including something of politics -- "this was a very political group, with the directors watching all the jobs."

Because Joe Fallon, an old-time school chum, decided to run for recorder, partly because his father Tom was county treasurer, De Lisle got his first taste of Marin political life by helping Fallon win the office. De Lisle then became a recorder's assistant.

"But I couldn't take it and I quit after five and a half months," De Lisle recalls. "There was no challenge, just indexing stuff. It wasn't for me."

Leon joined his father who had gone to work for a building and construction firm headed by the late Frank Allen Sr. This meant experience in keeping corporation books, designing and other works as the firm built up to handling as many as 40 jobs at a time.

GRADUALLY, though young Leon got out because he had developed ideas of going into business for himslf. Finally he entered real estate with his old friend, John J. Sheehy, and the firm of Sheehy and De Lisle did well until the depression struck.

"I'd known Eugene J. Connel, then county auditor, since our knee-pants days," says De Lisle. "One day I was walking down Fourth Street in San Rafael and I heard Gene wanted to see me. Jobs were hard to find and there was no real estate moving, so I hustled over and went into the auditor's office where I worked part time until 1933.

"Gene started right in to train me from the day I began. By the day he died in January of 1937 there wasn't a thing he did for which I hadn't been trained.

"He knew he had a heart condition, and he even told members of the board of supervisors that I had his recommendation as his successor over older men. I took him home the day he died. After his death I began to get calls asking 'Could you handle the job if you were appointed auditor?' "

De Lisle put in no application. He had been quietly building up "a beautiful drafting business" and although earning only $5 a day at the courthouse, he and his first wife, father of his son, Leon A. De Lisle Jr. of San Rafael, were able to keep a maid. His prospects were good and there was the matter of that roofing business he might head.

BUT A CALL from George S. Jones, then as now county clerk, took him to the supervisors and they wound up by choosing him unanimously after his nomination by Frederick Thompson, brother of the famed author Kathleen Norris, who was initially opposed to him.

"He had it in mind that he wanted a CPA, but the others sold him on me," is how De Lisle puts it.

"I went home and my wife cried. She said I didn't belong in politics. But I threw the other businesses out to take the $300-a-month auditor's job."

Congratulating him editorially, the San Rafael Independent of Jan. 12, 1937, paid tribute to his late chief and to De Lisle's qualifications in general, declaring:

"No better choice could have been made by the supervisors in selecting a man on whom they can confidently lean, to carry on in the stead of one whose experience was of inestimable value and whose judgment was near-infallible in the financial affairs of county government"—a description his friends feel would well apply to De Lisle today.

That he made good was shown by the fact that the voters retained him in office the following year, 1938, and every four years since.

Just before the last election in June of 1958 the Independent-Journal indicated that no disillusionment with him had overtaken the press.

"It looks like De Lisle will lead all the way by a wide margin," commented the I-J, "and that suits us just fine . . . Each term he serves adds to his experience and makes him even more valuable to the county."

A GREAT DEAL of joy and sorrow had come De Lisle's way during the interim between these journalistic pronouncements. On the personal side, sadness had come through the death of his first wife. (A stepson, Scot Tilden, is a Marin landscape gardener.)

As time passed, a "courthouse romance" developed and De Lisle terminated eight years' service in his office by Mary Henderson through the pleasant means of promoting her from aide to wife. This was on April 4, 1946.

The present Mrs. De Lisle is a lady of intelligence and gusto, though she is currently slowed down by a broken leg which she explains as follows: "I came home with some groceries, stepped on a tomato, and went into orbit."

De Lisle himself has a habit of going into orbit, though not as disastrously.

To recount all his exploits as auditor would be impossible, but some have made real Marin history. There was, for instance, the time he was asked in 1950 to make an audit of the ailing county fire department.

This resulted in a "firing of the fire chief" and the I-J of Dec. 22 devoted its whole editorial page to De Lisle's report of departmental irregularities, admonishing its readers that "the time it takes to read these documents in full is time well spent."

Anybody who asked De Lisle for an audit should have learned long before that no slouchy job would result. Back in 1939 he had been turned loose on the "unsavory conditions' of the county farm. No specifications were laid down and De Lisle went over the farm like a fine-tooth rake, giving then-Supervisor T. F. Bagshaw material for a 12-point reform program to clean up what had become known as "a cesspool of politics."

On the constructive side,

PX Manager Gets 3 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli yesterday sentenced Raymond A. Doyle, 33, former manager of the Army post exchange at Fort Mason, to three years in prison for embezzling $3,260 on Sept. 11.

Doyle had pleaded guilty. He was arrested near Salinas after being stopped on suspicion of a traffic violation.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

A WEEK OF GOOD READING

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—To many Marinites, Leon A. De Lisle Sr. is Mr. Public Official. He has been their county auditor - controller since January, 1937. In that capacity, he has been a hard worker. But, more than that, he has been a man with ideas, and with the courage to support those ideas. He's been in the headlines of your Independent - Journal grequently as an advocate of such programs and projects as the data processing bureau within his department and the new Marin County Civic Center. In tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine, reporter Randall Gould will tell you something of the background and the principles of this remarkable Marin public servant and civic leader.

ONE OF A SERIES — Each week an Independent-Journal staff writer explores the character, achievements and human side of one of Marin's outstanding personalities — some of whom are all too little known by their neighbors.

THE DATA PROCESSING Bureau is the pride and joy of Auditor-Controller De Lisle. Its creation was "a dream come true" for the veteran county official. Here with Arleigh Sewell, right, who heads the bureau, De Lisle looks over a new type of IBM computer tape which the county is now using. (Independent-Journal photo) which De Lisle prefers to seek, he was a staunch booster for the civic center project. As a member of a supervisor-appointed civic affairs committee he assisted in choice of the late Frank Lloyd Wright as architect.

THERE WAS to come a day when he told the supervisors of the present board that they could stop work on the new administration building, but that they couldn't get him to release civic center-budgeted funds for any county hospital purposes. That crisis blew past.

In some respects De Lisle is reminiscent of the ancient censors who advised Chinese emporers candidly, with guaranteed immunity. He never hesitates to speak his mind freely, a habit he started with his first term. One newspaper of 1938 headlines "Le Lisle Warns of Dangerous Method Of Handling Road Work" and details his admonitions that no single supervisor should try as hitherto to exercise jurisdiction over expenditures in his district.

Recent instances have included his support of "austerity budget" concepts last spring, harking back to 1938 proposals that the supervisors adopt a "requisition" or "encumbering" plan to hold departments inside a fixed budget total. Throughout his career he has been interested in workable taxes and he headed a citizens' committee on business taxes as far back at 1930.

He is likely to come up with timely ideas on any topic of county interest, as witness his proposal last February that San Rafael General Hospital be purchased as a county hospital in preference to rebuilding in Lucas Valley. The list could be multiplied endlessly.

But of all his efforts and achievements, it seems fair to say that creation of the present data processing division within his department has been perhaps closest to the De Lisle heart.

"That is his dream come true," comments wife Mary. "The set-up he has now was his goal for close to 20 years during which he worked toward a modernized automatic system of county accounting."

So many other matters have taken his time and attention that it is hard to see how he managed so much. During 1942-44, for instance, he had the added duties of rationing administrator for the Office of Price Administration in Marin County—a period when, he says, "nobody in the office ever heard our big Seth Thomas clocks tick, we were so busy and there were so many people talking and phone bells ringing."

Avocations have never been forgotten and Marin's auditor has taken pleasure in such studies as drawing and sculpture at the California School of Fine Arts, along with learning Spanish.

LONG STUDY of what could be done toward the present data processing by "automatic brains," or the next thing thereto, led De Lisle to feel that to be justified, at least the tax set-up and the assessor's office must be included. Some resistance was found; Clerk Jones has not boosted such gadgetry, though automatic processing of many phases of his work including elections would seem to offer a tempting prospect.

"We could have gone in before we did," says De Lisle. "The system finally went in easily when I was convinced I could sell it to the board of supervisors four or five years ago."

What started with IBM machinery now seems in process of slipping into even more stupendous electronic achievements, with rental equipment already at work. School districts have patronized the department heavily and a recent

Peace Questionnaire Circulating In Marin

A questionnaire to determine the most effective way of working for peace was being circulated today among Marin women by members of the Marin County Women for Peace Committee.

The questionnaire, which asks the extent of participation which can be expected of signers, suggested methods of insuring peace and asking for additional ideas, was drawn up at a meeting of more than 30 women last night at the home of Mrs. Rembert Kingsley on Hillgirt Drive, Ross.

The committee has scheduled a public meeting at her home on Nov. 29, at 10 a.m. Mrs. Kingsley said.

The group also sent a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Dagmar Wilson of Washington, D.C., the women credited with originating the Women's Strike for Peace movement.

Further information on the committee may be obtained from Mrs. Sylvia Boorstein, 45 Laurel Grove, Kentfield, or Mrs. Jean Suntzeff, 64 Presidio Avenue, Corte Madera.

Novato Planning Unit Meeting With Council

Discussion of its meeting with the Novato City Council next Tuesday took up the main portion of Wednesday night's study session of the Novato City Planning Commission.

The city council called the meeting to discuss the costs and length of time required for the planning commission to complete the master plan. The commission has asked the council to freeze all building in the downtown commercial area for six months while the plan is being prepared.

The only phase of the master plan discussed at last night's meeting was multiple dwelling zones. No action was taken on this.

There will not be a meeting of the commission next Wednesday.

Scout Leaders Set Meeting

Cub Scout leaders from throughout Marin will gather at Terra Linda High School at 1 p.m. tomorrow for their first Cub Scout Leaders Powwow.

The meeting, to last to 4:30 p.m., will be designed to give leaders know-how and skills in the program of cub scouting, said John M. Carney of Terra Linda, council leadership training chairman.

In charge of sections will be Mrs. Lee Avedano of San Rafael, games; Mrs. Barbara Graham of Corte Madera, handicraft; Gordon Osborne, ceremonies, stunts and skits, and Storrs H. Smith, council Scout executive, pack management. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stockhouse of Marinwood have arranged a "midway" of games.

Building Permits Reach $284,000

Building permits totaling $284,000 were issued by the Marin County building inspection department during the week ending last Friday, it was announced today.

Of the 26 permits issued, 11 were for new dwellings and four were for dwelling additions. Included were two swimming pools, one cocktail lounge and restaurant and one auto court. The largest single permit was for a $50,000 commercial building to be constructed by contractor George Davi on Del Ganado Road in Terra Linda.

computation of results in three county departments indicated that the data processing bureau had saved them $109,805 during the past fiscal year.

What is sought isn't a profit for the bureau headed by Arleigh Sewell, but convincing demonstrations of savings and efficiency for the county.

De Lisle has learned to delegate duties to trained assistants, incidentally. Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell is his man with the supervisors and this energetic Irishman has disclosed diplomacy as among his many abilities.

Office procedures have been revolutionized, with many ideas brought from other counties and states. Yet De Lisle's deputies have always come back with great sense of pride in the workings of their own office.

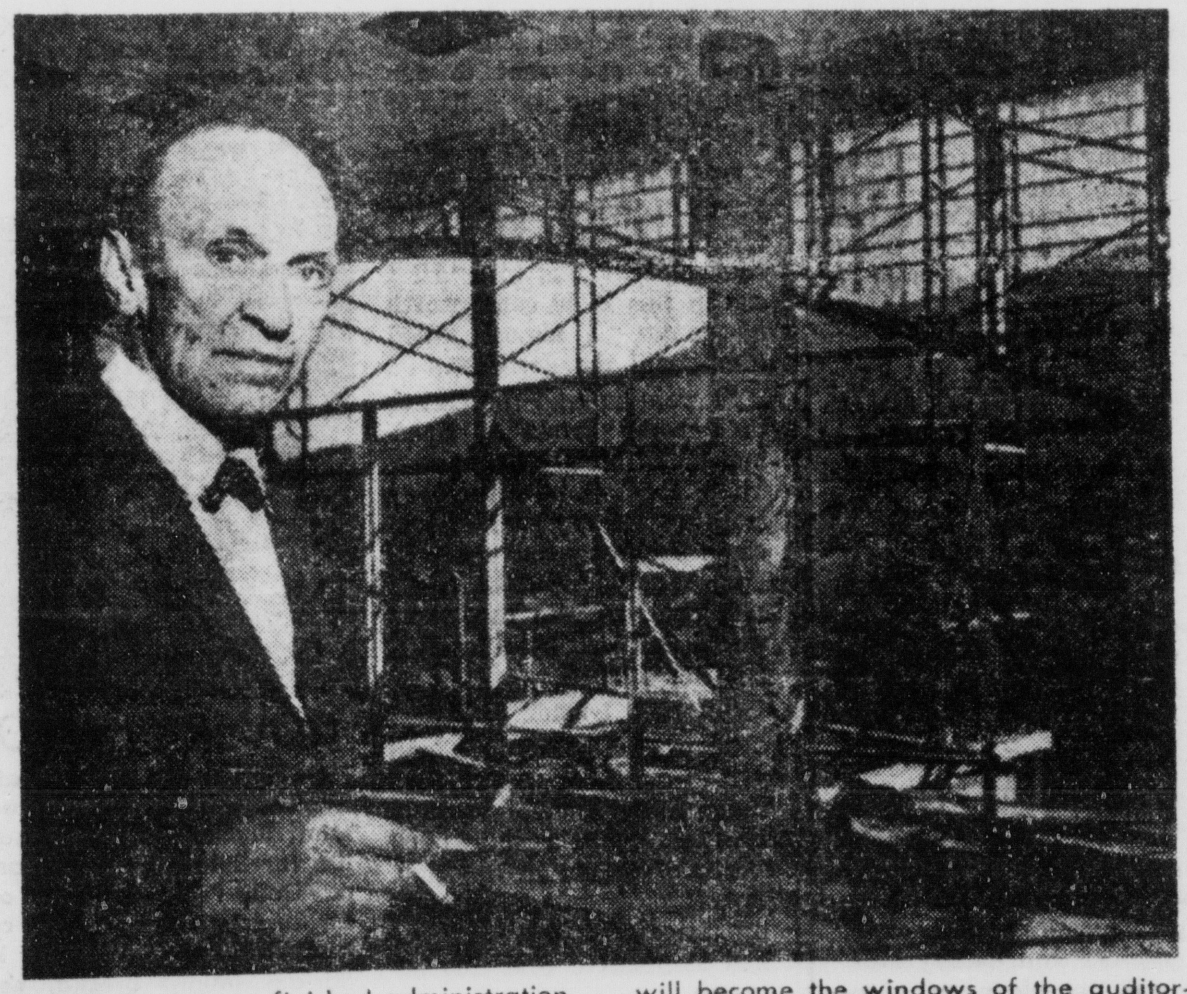
Having weathered many battles, De Lisle has learned that there is point in standing aside from them when he can. Good ideas can come as well while raking oak leaves at his home at 421 Center Blvd., San Anselmo, as at his desk in San Rafael, with more fun.

A MEMORABLE sight is De Lisle attached to his big bulldog Buster, endeavoring to establish which direction the two proceed.

Along with his enjoyment of such simple affairs, in contrast with the complex of his official duties, De Lisle is able to bring philosophic perspective to his life at its present stage.

"I was sorry," he recalls, "that my deal to study law fell through. It has seemed to me I would enjoy law. But it isn't creative.

"I like to create things. So I believe what I am is what had to be."



INSIDE the not yet finished administration building at the new Marin County Civic Center, De Lisle peers out through what will become the windows of the auditor-controller's office when county officials move into their new quarters. (Independent-Journal photo)

EMPLOYEES of Mimi Brecka Inc. are hard at work in their quarters in the loft of the Industrial Center Building in Sausalito's Marinship district. They are turning out custom-made clothing for little girls—clothes that are especially designed and made to appeal to children in the 3-to-6-year age group. It is Marin's only garment-making factory and a business that has grown to its present proportions since Mrs. Miriam Brecka of Sausalito launched it two years ago as a one-woman enterprise. In the photo, left to right, are Mary Mike, "Mimi" Brecka, Arthur Oehler, Daisy Warren, Mae Cunningham and Henry Mares.

Clothing That The Kids Enjoy—

That's The Objective Of Mimi Brecka, Inc., The Only Garment-Making Factory In Marin

By BRUCE COLEMAN

In an old loft in Sausalito five people sit cutting, stitching and sewing happily behind a set of dirty windows overlooking Richardson Bay.

They are making aprons, pinafores and smocks for girls in the 3-to-6-year group. They sew the clothing using lots of reds, stripes and plaids and with lively designs such as walruses, ostriches, trains and caterpillars.

It is fun for these stitchers and, according to Miriam Brecka of Sausalito, fun for the children who wear the custom-made clothes they produce.

MRS. Brecka is Mimi of Mimi Brecka, Inc., and co-owner of this, the only garment-making factory in Marin.

"The idea when I started was to make things that the kids enjoy. And it's worked.

"For example, I have seen kids 'pat' an animal, such as a terry cloth lamb on their smock, because they like 'their' animal and smock," Mrs. Brecka said.

One 5-year-old youngster told Mrs. Brecka how she liked the caterpillar which was appliqued on her smock.

"Mimi, it looks like apples with feet."

MRS. BRECKA said a psychiatrist friend believes that when a child wears something she enjoys, she is more likely to take care of it. "They find importance in wearing things they like. They can identify with these things."

Mrs. Brecka is something of a magician at clothes making. Sewing since a child, at one time she made custom suits in Chicago on a small scale.

Two years ago she went into the clothing business on her own for the first time with no equipment, no orders and no assistants.

Today she has four persons working for her in the loft of the Industrial Center Building in Marinship. She has 100 accounts and last year her firm turned out 3,500 garments. She does all of the overall design work.

Orders go to companies such as I. Magnin's in San Francisco and to Neiman-Marcus of Dallas, Tex., which Mrs. Brecka calls "the God of the retail world."

Mrs. Brecka, smiling, attractive brunette, tells of the first day she went to San Rafael to try to sell her products.

"I HAD four samples," she said. "I wanted to see what reaction I would get. At the first place I was told 'All I see in this is 40 cents worth of denim.' I almost killed him," said the designer.

"I went around the corner to Dorothy Fricks at Housman's and got my first order. Then, I didn't have anybody working for me so I had to come back here and make it. Four days later, Miss Fricks said she had sold the whole works and asked me to do it all over again."

"In 1959 I made $135."

"I went to Magnin's and got an order. A friend took some to Los Angeles. On the first of March I got $1,000 worth of orders in one day. Then I got people in to work. By the end of last year we had shipped to over 100 accounts."

Mrs. Brecka says her business of which she is one of three partners, is a lot of fun. But, she said, it's hard work, too.

"MY DRESSES are novelty things."

"The market is glutted with straight dresses. These are custom made, almost everything is lined. Retail prices run between $8 and $20.

"And one important thing is that these come out of

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

"Did Carelessness Damage My Tablecloth?"

Your lovely tablecloths were stained without being used! You took them fresh from the linen closet shelves saw the stains and feel the laundry must have stained them.

Here is what happens frequently in such cases. Celluloid or other plastics containing nitro cellulose can cause this damage. When stored near tablecloths in linen closets, they have been known to decompose in warm, restricted air, releasing nitric acid which scars the cloths.

Chemical damage occurs also from the customer's own medicine cabinet or kitchen aids, according to the Better Business Bureau which has studied such complaints. Metal polish, porcelain cleaners, peroxide, and many astringents contain corrosive ingredients. Their stains cause chemical deterioration and the weakened areas become holes when the fabrics are laundered, even if a stain is not apparent.

You will get better wear from clothing and other fabrics if you are careful to keep your garments and linens away from our modern plastics, detergents, medicines and beauty aids. It was not cleansing carelessness that stained your tablecloths.

AS long as anyone can remember, there has been a family store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue.

In 1915, Jacob Albert began it. His son, Harry, not much older than the century, was its first manager.

All the neighbors shopped there for drygoods, a term that covered a multitude of merchandise. It was "dry" if you couldn't eat it, drink it, squeeze it out of a tube, use it to paint a barn, plow a field, or shoe a horse.

There were long-legged wooden stools for the ladies to perch upon when they selected dressmaking patterns that called for yards and yards of pongee, poplin, or alpaca. Muslin was bought by the sheet length, outing flannel by the bolt. "Ready-mades" were built to last forever; for, in the tiny unsophisticated town of San Anselmo, a housedress was new for at least a year, and a Sunday suit was good for a decade.

In 1918, young Harry went to war, but returned to manage bigger and busier family stores and keep an eye on the little one in San Anselmo. For 36 years, nothing was changed there but the light bulbs, until, in 1951, Harry Albert, now a grandfather, doubled the "little one's" size and gave it a fine new facade.

Meantime, another young man prepared to go to war. He was a southerner named Mozart Kaufman, and he had never heard of Marin County until the Air Corps introduced him to Hamilton Field.

One bright and beautiful day soon after his arrival in Marin, Lieutenant Kaufman met Harry Albert's daughter Lois. Exactly four weeks later, they were married.

Almost immediately, Mozart was shipped to the Aleutians, then to Europe where he somehow survived being shot down over France, 30 days in solitary confinement in a Frankfurt Interrogation Center, and 10 months in a German prison camp.

He survived to buy the family store at 540 San Anselmo Avenue, and an empty grocery store across the street that served for a time as a warehouse for the department store's merchandise.

So it was in 1952 that Kaufman's Department Store began. Two years later, the warehouse across the street became the handsome modern Store for Men and Boys that it is today.

But, for all its fine new front, the department store's interior, with its dark wood paneling and sombre pillars, still retained the flavor of the dear old "drygoods concern." The merchandise was bright and new, and of excellent quality, as always, but there was simply no place to put it, much less show it off to good advantage.

Even so, the neighbors came around to shop for the good things they wanted, and to be waited on by the world's pleasantest people (There never has been nor ever will be an overwhelming or a brittle salesperson at Kaufman's).

But Marinites are Moderns (multiplying like mad!) who deserve a department store to match, so—

Like the small dark caterpillar that remodeled itself inside, and came out of the cocoon a big, bright, beautiful butterfly, the small dark Kaufman's-that-was has been remodeled inside, and doubled in size.

Tonight, a big, bright, beautiful department store will come out of the cocoon of remodeling; for tonight is Kaufman's Coming-Out Party.

Of course you're invited. Come for pleasure, and if you're lucky, for profit; for nothing will be sold, but some beautiful door prizes will be given away.

(Tomorrow you can buy out the store. New and distinguished lines of merchandise have been added, so, if you can't resist 'em, don't say we didn't warn you.)

Meantime, we'll look forward to seeing you—tonight, from 7 till 9.

Sausalito. Sausalito is beginning to develop quite a name."

The area where children's clothing is made is something of a Santa's sewing shop. There are three rows of machines behind which the band of operators sit and hum away at zigzags, overlocks, seams and button holes.

On the floor are threads and cuttings in bright colors. On a long table are boxes of buttons. Old fashioned irons stand around to be used as weights. Patterns with numbers hang from the wall and dress forms stand around, headless, between racks of bright garments and cutting tables.

THERE is a table where the smock makers have their coffee. One large box is piled high with scraps which are to go to charitable organizations. Another box is full of selvage, used to tie bundles.

The large windows overlooking the bay are dirt-streaked. "I had them washed once," said Mrs. Brecka. "It cost $50 and in two weeks they were just as dirty. So I leave them."

Sewing machines are leased from Irma Hazard of Sausalito. Miss Hazard had a school of dressmaking in San Francisco for 30 years and is Mrs. Brecka's pattern maker.

"If you don't have a good pattern maker, you're sunk," she said.

MISS HAZARD is one of several Sausalitans who work for Mrs. Brecka in what the latter calls a "community project." John Sutton, who works next door to the factory, does silk screen designs which are used on garments. Block maker Bix Bailey makes blocks and Marjo Imlay makes designs. Both are of Sausalito.

Away from her sewing machine, worker Mae Cunningham says that between she and Mrs. Brecka they produce the walruses.

"I make the stubble, the French knots," said Mae. "Mrs. Brecka makes the whiskers. Neither one of us can do the opposite jobs."

THEY like to tell of how, sometimes, when in a big hurry to finish an order, they sew one part of a garment to another part thus losing it.

"We get frantic," said Mrs. Brecka.

Or of the time they shipped four dozen smocks with little red school houses on them without the "eye brows."

"Of course, the people who got them didn't know the difference. But we felt sorry about it," said Mrs. Brecka.

The mascot at the loft is "Bugle" the beagle. The day we visited he had to sleep on a scrap of denim since Mae had taken his bed home to be washed and forgot to return it.

"Bugle's mad at Mae," said Mrs. Brecka.

MAE, who is from Corte Madera, is an operator as is Daisy Warren of San Anselmo. Mary Mike of Sausalito is a finisher and Art Oehler is cutter and production supervisor. He lives in San Francisco but Mrs. Brecka said "We'll get him to move over." Oehler was once a student of Miss Hazard.

Mrs. Brecka said, "Me? I'm a bookkeeper, stenographer, designer, operator, cutter, errand boy."

"We live in an animal world really," she added.

"ONE of the problems in the animal world, though, is interpreting what the stores ask for. Like that worm can be called a worm, a caterpillar or apples with legs."

"Once someone asked for the lamb calling it a bull. They called the ostrich a giraffe. I say, 'Mae, have you made those worms yet?'"

"The thing that drives me nuts is trains. Each engine, boxcar and caboose has windows which must be done separately. Each piece drives me crazy."

"The most satisfying thing I have is the response from children wearing this stuff."

She even has designed an artist's smock made of unbleached muslin with a blue tie. On it are handprints of a Sausalito child.

"It's fun for the kids," she said.

INTO THE MAILBOX in front of the Industrial Center Building in Sausalito go some shipments of childrens clothing from Mimi Brecka Inc. which is headquartered in the loft of the Marinship building. The mailer is Mimi herself—Miriam Brecka, co-owner of the business.

IN HER NATIVE BRAZIL, she was Therezinha Mattos, daughter of a Rio de Janeiro attorney. And she appeared frequently on television as she is doing here.

Gigi Plans To Bring Bit Of Rio To Marin County

Gigi presents "Carnaval in Rio."

The announcement is well ahead of the presentation date—which will be sometime in February or March of 1962. And still lacking before the entertainment plans jell are: A production, a theater, a cast, and a sponsoring organization.

BUT IF anyone doubts that "Carnaval in Rio" will take place, let him take note that on the credit side there is Gigi and an idea. And if he doesn't think that is enough, he doesn't know Gigi.

Gigi is Therezinha Mattos Sill, or, at home in Corte Madera where she presides as the wife of the manager of the Corte Madera branch of the Crocker-Anglo Bank, Mrs. Beverly Sill.

Husband Beverly, whose public service contribution is a story by itself, and their three children aid and abet Gigi in her projects.

Let's go back a bit. Gigi, nee Therezinha Mattos, is the daughter of a Rio de Janeiro attorney. After careful schooling Therezinha appeared on television in Brazil, first as an actress and then in the production of TV shows.

Beverly Sill attended an international convention in Rio and came home with the prize. A promise from Therezinha. They were married in 1956. You still have to struggle to understand Gigi's English except when she gets excited. Then you just give up.

Gigi got her nickname in a very mundane manner. While learning to bowl at Greenbrae Lanes she had an affinity for the trenches on either side of the lanes. This is called rolling a gutter ball. It shows on the score sheet as a "G". Hence G.G. She also plays tennis and skates.

In 1960 Gigi gathered her first amateur group in her new country and coaxed, scolded and encouraged it into a presentation. Presented at the Corte Madera Recreation Center before the Lions Club, it was a roaring success.

HER NEXT presentation, "Carnaval in Rio" is in production. All of the background music has been taped in Brazil. The chorus is in rehearsal every Wednesday night in the nursery at Greenbrae Lanes. The script is being prepared. She has the assistance of Arminda Crespo, formerly with Fanchon and Marco and others; France Tartarian, who teaches and dances Afro-Cuban; San Rafael's Belrose Studio; Novato's Jean Scott Studio, and Jean Simpson who makes costumes.

All Gigi needs is: A sponsoring organization to benefit from the proceeds; a theater or hall with adequate facilities, and a few more talented amateurs, preferably male.

"It is bound to be a success," says Gigi. At least we think that's what she said. She was excited.

Marin's Disappearing Indian Sites

Bulldozers And Untrained Amateurs Are Taking Heavy Toll Of This Resource

There are more than 300 known archaeological sites in Marin County, according to Norman Wilson, archaeologist and assistant supervisor of Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

Of that total, one-third has already been destroyed, and most of the remainder face eventual destruction unless steps are taken to preserve them or their contents, Wilson adds.

"Although Marin County is rich in archaeology, virtually every Indian site is doomed to eventual destruction unless people do something about it," is the way he puts it.

One reason for the critical situation, he explains, is that "the Indians knew a good building site just as well as our people today do. So many of our homes are being built in the same locations once used by Indians. And when the bulldozers come, valuable artifacts are ruined."

Wilson stresses that the Southwestern Anthropological Society, in which he is active, does not always advocate "saving" the known Indian sites. "But it does want a chance to salvage artifacts before they are destroyed," he says.

MARIN, Wilson notes, has a pre-history that may go back several thousand years. Sites that have been found to date are probably two or more thousand years old. But, he says, there is no reason to believe that there are not much older sites in the county that have not yet been discovered or identified. Archaeologists have recorded and excavated sites in other parts of this state believed to be 20,000 or more years old.

"The rising sea level which followed the melting of the glaciers of the last ice age may have covered up many of the oldest sites along the Marin sea coast," says Wilson, "but there is a good possibility that very old sites are yet to be identified in the inland valleys."

Wilson says that although the coastal Miwok Indians lived in Marin County at the time the first explorers arrived here, there is reason to believe that other groups and different cultures have lived in Marin for many thousand years. Determining the nature of these cultures is one of the more vital problems concerning archaeologists of the area. And the rapid destruction of village and burial sites in the county are diminishing the chances of the scientists to unravel this problem.

"Since Indians enjoyed living in the valleys and along the coasts where present Marin citizens also build their homes, the destruction of old village sites is especially severe and has been so for years," the archaeologist reports.

Wilson also notes that the sites that could have proved for certain, once and for all, whether Sir Francis Drake made his historic landing in San Francisco Bay, as so many scholars believe, have been virtually wiped out by the heavy use of land along Marin's shoreline.

WILSON adds that archaeological sites on the Pt. Reyes Peninsula may possibly be saved by future federal ownership although many have already been destroyed. Even those sites that seem safe now in the remote reaches of the ranches of northern Marin County may become in jeopardy in the future.

Wilson sees an Indian village as being "like the clues in a good detective story. Once it is moved or destroyed it is gone and it becomes valueless. Then the mysteries which is would have unveiled may remain unsolved forever."

One of the basic techniques used by archaeologists is the careful recording of information about the position and depth of features discovered in his excavation. With this data and a careful study of objects recovered he later can reconstruct the life habits and resources of the group. By careful comparison with other collections and reports he can often determine relationships with other areas and establish the age of the find.

This careful study is impossible, Wilson points out, in a site turned over by heavy equipment of land development and can become very confused or impossible in a village site dug by persons without any control who are only looking for souvenirs.

"Many people do not realize that archaeological values are a resource of our land no less valuable than a stand of redwoods or an untouched tidal pool," says Wilson. "The

THIS, SAYS Norman Wilson, archaeologist, is the proper way to go about excavating for artifacts. Experts have done the work at a Contra Costa County site. They have succeeded in uncovering the artifacts in as undamaged a condition as is humanly possible. And they have kept a detailed and accurate record of their finds in the sequence in which they have been uncovered.

HERE WE HAVE an example of an archaeological site which had been ruined before archaeologists learned of its existence. The locale is on the delta near Stockton. Artifacts there were estimated to be 4,000 years old. But bulldozers preparing the land for a housing development and amateur artifact hunters—"pot hunters," Norman Wilson calls them—destroyed most of the historical and scientific value of the relics.

A Plea To Preserve Our Indian Artifacts

Archaeologist Warns That Marin Is Needlessly Wasting This Resource

one difference is, of course, that the Indian site when destroyed can never be replaced even by the most careful planning and protection of the conservationist as can a redwood grove or a natural scene. We cannot hope to save all archaeological sites in the path of progress but we should be aware of their great value to the knowledge of our past and give the archaeologist the chance to record and study these evidences of the human past before they are destroyed.

"In many cases where extremely valuable archaeological sites are discovered they should be saved and protected with the same positive force that we use to protect our few parks and stretches of coastline so that the future generations can enjoy them and learn about the record of first peoples of Marin.

"Had we been careful we might already know the exact landing place of Drake and Cermeno instead of wondering if these great historic spots are fill under some shopping center."

WHAT SHOULD you do if you should find an archaeological site?

Wilson offers this advice:

"Since all archaeological sites are not known, it is important that the person who discovers the site, whether it be a shell mound, village site, burial ground or any other evidence of Indian occupation, should report it to the proper authority.

"In Marin County you could notify by mail the State Park Archaeologist, P. O. Box 2390, Sacramento. He keeps records of archaeological sites throughout the state. You could write the Department of Anthropology, at San Francisco State College. The University of California at Berkeley, although not actively recording sites, could refer the information to the proper authority.

"The person who reports the site may have an archaeologist visit the site or he may have a site record sent to him to be filled out. This form records information about the site that makes it possible to give evaluation to the site for future information or for immediate investigation.

"If at all possible, the site should not be disturbed until an archaeologist visits the area and has a chance to investigate it. In the case of sites being destroyed by land development where it is impossible to halt the destruction, a collection of artifacts should be made from the site with special note given to keeping items that are found together in separate boxes or bags. An attempt should be made to record size and depths of the site and depths of any burials or artifacts found. If any other persons should find things at the site that they will not give up, they should be recorded by sketch and notes. All bones from burials should be kept together and placed in brown paper bags and notes and details should be penciled on the bag as to depth and position and any objects found with them.

"If you have collections of artifacts from archaeological sites in Marin County, they should be recorded as to where they were found, were they found in groups with other objects and try to list the groups. Often many items were buried with human burials and should be so recorded.

"In the case of projectile points, shell ornaments, stone pipes and any other objects of interest, they should be sketched by simple line drawing showing scale, and this information sent to the state park archaeologist in Sacramento. He is not interested in obtaining these collections but rather in gathering information about the county's archaeological resources. He will in turn, if possible, give you information about your collections and in many cases may want to make a more complete record of your finds. The archaeologist likes to discourage private collecting because it cannot help but destroy many of the valuable features of Indian sites such as house floors, burial patterns cultural changes, etc., which the untrained person rarely ever recognizes or records in his search for the fancy objects which catch his eye."

WILSON SAYS that it is hoped that California will have in the future many trained persons capable of unraveling archaeological problems in the proper manner—"many of them dedicated amateurs."

"There is no reason," he says, "why, with some training, many of the interested persons in this county, acting under the supervision of one or two professional archaeologists, could not save many of the archaeological values now in the path of destruction."

"These must," Wilson believes, "be many fine collectors of Indian artifacts in our county who would find it more interesting to dig up the past, discovering new and interesting facets to the ways of the Indians. They could help contribute to the collections of public museums so that all can see and learn this great story, instead of adding to their own collections which are never enjoyed by more than a few and deprive the scientist of badly-needed information."

Wilson did his undergraduate and graduate work in field archaeology at Sacramento College. He was a field foreman in several archaeological digs in central and northern California. He taught archaeology at Sacramento State Sollege, then worked at the California State Indian Museum in Sacramento for a year and a half. For another year and a half he was an exhibit planner for the history section of the Division of Beaches and Parks, planning the Marshall Gold Discovery Museum and other exhibits within the park system.

He came to Taylor Park in Marin in December of 1960 as the assistant supervisor.

One of his pet projects was his part in 1959 in the founding of the Central California Archaeological Foundation. He terms it "a unique experiment on how to get archaeological work done."

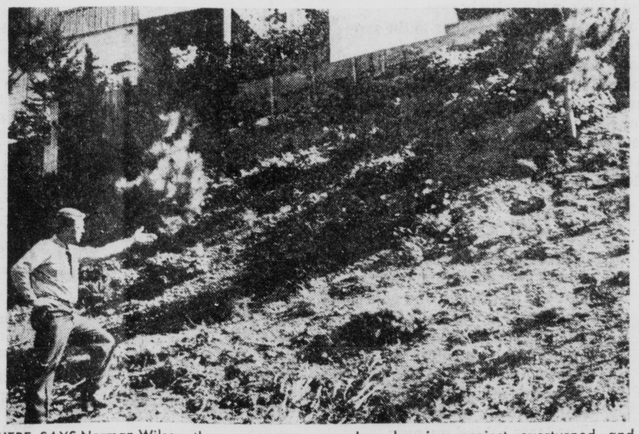
The foundation consists of a dozen professional archaeologists whose main purpose is to raise funds to rescue artifacts from sites about to be destroyed. Funds come from various public-spirited organizations.

FOR INSTANCE, one industry was engaged in constructing a pipeline from the Oregon border to San Francisco. The foundation asked it to provide funds for an archaeological survey to be made before the digging began. The industry agreed. And the foundation was able to hire archaeologists who discovered two ancient Indian sites in the path of the pipeline that would have otherwise been destroyed and the contents lost.

This is the kind of thing that Wilson and his fellow archaeologists would like to see more of. Including right here in Marin.

And, they warn, every day that such programs are delayed, a bit of Marin history is likely to go down the drain, the victim of the bulldozers or the fumbling hands of amateurs.

A DELIBERATE piece of destruction ruined artifacts here. Contractors building a levee turned a deaf ear to the pleas of archaeologists that they be allowed to first salvage artifacts. Instead the bulldozers went ahead. Here, too late, archaeologists finally get a look and find only remnants of artifacts remaining. (State Indian Museum photo)



HERE, SAYS Norman Wilson, there was once the remains of an Indian village that might have yielded a wealth of historical information to the archaeologists. But a Belvedere housing project overturned and moved the earth — and the valuable artifacts with it — and the archaeological data was lost forever to science. (Independent-Journal photos)

AN OUTCROPPING containing Indian artifacts along the Tiburon Highway receives the attention of Norman Wilson. Wilson pointed out evidence that amateurs had already visited the spot, pecked away at the outcropping and undoubtedly removed many of the old Indian pieces. Thus archaeologists were deprived of another opportunity to learn about Marin history.

VIOLINIST David Abel will be the guest artist next Friday night when the Marin Symphony Orchestra opens its tenth annual concert series in the Marin Catholic High School auditorium at Greenbrae.

San Francisco Artist Will Open Concerts

A young San Francisco violinist will be the guest artist when the Marin Symphony Orchestra opens its 10th annual series of concerts this coming Friday evening at 8:30 at the Marin Catholic High School auditorium in Greenbrae.

For David Abel, it will be a repeat engagement with the Marin Symphony. He played in its 1956 Livermore Memorial Concert under the direction of William Van der Burg.

Now in his mid-20s, Abel has achieved a meteoric rise to the top ranks among the younger violinists. Critics have praised him for his musical judgment and his poetic insight.

He was born in the state of Washington but now makes his home in San Francisco.

He studied first under Naoum Blinder, concertmaster of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, and made his debut with that orchestra at the age of 14. He has appeared with, in addition to the San Francisco Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Los Angeles Symphony and the Ravinia Orchestra in Chicago. During the current season he will also perform with the Honolulu Symphony and he will be featured soloist in the national tour of the Minneapolis Symphony under its new director, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski.

He is well known to radio and television audiences, having made appearances in both the East and West.

Friday night he will play the "Concerto in D Major for Violin, Opus 61," by Beethoven.

Also on the program will be Glinka's overture "Russlan and Ludmilla," Ravel's "Mother Goose Suite" and Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait" with Dr. Robert Loper narrating.

Stan Freberg Tells How The Gobbler Lost Out

By JOHN SUNIER

STAN FREBERG PRESENTS THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA — with Billy May's music, Paul Frees, narrator, and the Jud Conlon Singers—Capitol Stereo SW 1573.

With Thanksgiving coming upon us, it might be interesting to learn from this original musical review that the turkey was supposed to become our national bird, but was mistakenly substituted for roast eagle with all the trimmings at our first Thanksgiving Dinner! This is just a dash of Stan Freberg's satiric view of early Americana, created specifically for the stereo disc.

The liner notes promise that careful listening to this record will disclose why Mr. Freberg flunked American history in high school. The first of four albums (this one sub-titled, "The Early Years") making up a history spectacular, this is according to Freberg, "The most significant contribution to American history since Grant took Custer."

Most listeners' favorite seems to be "Take an Indian to Lunch This Week" with its message on the mendacity of many integration efforts. The Declaration of Independence is logically graced with the tune "A Man Can't Be Too Careful What He Signs These days." The stereo effects are very clever and funny and contribute greatly to the overall production, which is done up in real style, to say the least.

LEONARD BERNSTEIN DISCUSSES HUMOR IN MUSIC — Columbia Stereo MS 6225.

This is another in a series of Bernstein lecture on disc, and the first in stereo. As on his famed TV programs, the uniquely talented Bernstein talks to his audience, plays examples on the piano, leads the orchestra in short snatches, and even sings himself.

His view of the comic in music will enrich the listening experience of all music lovers. His charm and easy informality are used to present his lecture painlessly.

Most of the second side of the disc is taken up with an un-cut performance of Richard Strauss's "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks" by Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic. After the lucid explanations prior to the music, all sorts of new insights are found during the listening experience. This broadening lecture on what he calls "the game of notes" stands as an altogether successful educational project and reminds me of his "What Is Jazz?" also on Columbia and highly recommended.

MARIN POETS' CORNER

BIRTH

Invisable wings
Brush a moistened brow,
And through the darkness
Entering a rapidly beating heart
Comes the voice of God
To soothe a soul;
To lift it above the surrounding ache and pain;
To loose it to the ethereal ectasy of creation.
Then . . . Hark! A cry . . .
The moistened brow is dry.
Eyes, now clear from pain, open
To behold . . . a new born babe.

SAN RAFAEL — FRANCES VON AHN

INTO DRIFTWOOD

I am beached on high sands of the tide brittle, barren
and I click in the salty breeze.
No green will again whisper to the sap to cry its flow along the thickening, quickening branch;
nor will I nest a shape feel a feathered pulse in hidden crotches.
Unlichened and bleached by the tumult of the seasons
I am boned to the moon's slow rhythm to spread my silver on the wind.

ARROWS IN THE AIR, 1959 — DAVINA KOSH

I HAVE NO WORDS

I have no words to comfort grief,
Nor is my hand's touch sure
To send its warmth and give relief.
I have no ready cure;
I cannot say "Time will erase . . . "
Or, "Things are better so."
I know how well time stops its pace,
How fires of hope burn low.
But, oh, if you could feel my heart,
The tears behind my eyes,
You'd know my grieving is a part
Of what within you lies.

BOOK REVIEWS

Some Help In Understanding The Spirit Of Today's Asia

THE ARC OF CRISIS by Claude A. Buss, Doubleday and Co., 492 pages, $5.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

The somewhat awesome title and subtitle of Stanford University Professor Claude A. Buss's volume—"The Arc of Crisis: Nationalism and Neutralism in Asia Today"—may tend to frighten off the potential reader. It is unfortunate if it does so; for Americans have need to understand Asia, and Buss's book does much to bring such understanding.

In dispassionate, factual manner, Buss discusses what Asians think of the United States—and why; the aims, aspirations and compulsions of the peoples of the world's most thickly populated sector; the varying governments and attitudes in the nations of Southeast Asia and Indonesia.

The "Spirit of '76" stirs Asians. But United States policies (or lack of them) in the years since World War II have disillusioned these same Asians. At the Bandung conference of 1955, where 29 nations met to plan cooperation for the future, it was not pro-western diplomats but Mao Tse Tung of Communist China who emerged as the hero. "Never had Asian opinion of the United States been so low!" writes Buss. "China was regarded as a dove of peace, the United States as a screaming eagle or snarling lion. In exactly 10 years—from 1946 to 1955—we had plummeted from the heights to the depths."

"The Arc of Crisis" explains why this happened, and what has happened since.

In Asia—as still more recently in Africa—millions upon millions of people have emerged suddenly from the murky twilight of colonialism into the blinding light of independence.

If the United States is to continue to exercise world leadership in this situation, she needs greater understanding of the eager but troubled peoples of these newly independent nations than she has shown to date. Her diplomats and politicians are handicapped because the American public at large knows and cares so little about the "Spirit of '76" as transmuted to the 20th Century and to other peoples. "The Arc of Crisis" provides enlightenment—and makes interesting reading as well.

TOUCH FOOTBALL by Dean Stanbury and Frank DeSantis, Sterling Publishing Co., 128 pages, $2.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Touch football has long been an American sport, but it has enjoyed something of a boom in popularity of late because of the Kennedy family's well-published addiction to the game.

Certainly it has some definite advantages. It does not pose the injury threat of regular tackle football. It does not require elaborate gear. It does not require as large or well-kept a playing field. As the authors point out in this book, it can be played by adults in their 40s as well as children. And even the girls and women can join in the fun.

Certainly it offers one means of whetting your appetite for athletic competition and healthful exercise.

In this book, the authors go into the game comprehensively. Covered are the rules, the fundamentals, tactics, formations, special plays, league organization, etc.

We don't think it is necessary to go into the game this deeply in order to enjoy it. On the other hand, if you do find its more technical aspects interesting, we see no harm in reading and studying this book.

HAVOC by William Bixby, Longmans, Green and Co., 180 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Dick Steinheimer.

"Be praised, my God, for our Sister Mother Earth who sustains and governs us . . ."

This idea of the earth governing man was expressed by St. Francis of Assissi. The concept of violent natural disasters governing man in a similar way is the theme of the new volume Havoc.

Bixby, drawing on a number of sources, describes in quotes and narrative scenes from the world's greatest earthquakes, tornadoes, hurricanes, volcanic eruptions, floods and avalanches.

He concludes with brief reference to the basic unsolved problems facing the earth sciences, i.e. effect of man increasing the carbon dioxide content of the atmosphere, effects of the interchange of waters through the Bering Straits and across the shallow Greenland shelf and other such questions in oceanography and biology.

Perhaps the most graphic description of man's terror in the face of the earth's movements is in the description of the avalanche that destroyed the Alpine village of Blons in 1954.

Here man had constructed homes in natural avalanche canyons and though destruction did not come for several centuries, it came in 1954.

THE PASSION OF GABRIELLE by Malcolm Stuart Boylan, Crown Publishers Inc., 256 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

A sizeable portion of author Boylan's cast of characters is comprised of spies and political opportunists. And the book centers around a struggle for power on a Caribbean island just coming into independence. But don't be fooled by that. This delightfully off-beat novel isn't the usual intrigue and adventure yarn by a long shot.

Boylan writes with a wonderful tongue-in-cheek manner that emphasizes the humor of his situations without in any way detracting from the very human qualities of his characters. And at the same time he manages to preserve some suspense, although, most certainly, this is secondary to other aspects of his story.

The Caribbean setting is excellently handled. And we think you will enjoy meeting the voodoo temptress who sets out to win the presidency of the new nation; the music-hungry Negro priest who is her nemesis; the dwarf with the basso voice; the Calypso-singing one-legged beach rat and all the other colorful personages who appear in these pages. Most of all, we think you will enjoy Boylan's witty and refreshing style of writing. It is most certainly a welcome change of pace from the melodramatics encountered in most spy yarns. And it makes for "fun" reading.

FOR CHILDREN

Madeline: Now She's In London

MADELINE IN LONDON by Ludwig Bemelmans, Viking, 56 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Lee Adams.

"In an old house in Paris that was covered with vines Lived twelve little girls in two straight lines . . ."

And so begins again, in a serene, orderly, unsuspecting fashion, the latest disaster of Madeline. Of course, she doesn't mean to, but, nevertheless, she manages once more to totally disrupt the institutional life of the orphanage—to say nothing of the Spanish Embassy's protocol. How would YOU like a horse from the glue factory in YOUR garden?

Naturally, the children would love it!

This book is no exception to the rule that whatever tends to set parental hairs on end will more than likely win the hearts of children.

Simple rhyme (not always distinguished, but always humorous) combined with an abundance of pictorial color, and the incorrigible moppet herself, make for another memorable episode with Madeline.

Dog Lovers Will Like This Book

THE STORY OF DOGS by Dorothy Shuttlesworth, Doubleday and Co., 58 11-by-8½-inch pages, $2.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

This is one of Doubleday's generally excellent series of nature books for young people. But so well done is it that it will have a strong appeal for dog lovers of all ages.

It might be noted, however, that the text is aimed at the person who is not knowledgeable in the field. Experts will learn little or nothing new from the text. But the person who likes dogs but is not deeply informed about them will find the book excellent.

And even the experts are certain to "flip" over the superb illustrations which have been provided by G. Don Ray. Many of these pictures of the various breeds are in color. Miss Shuttlesworth supplements the art with text detailing the characteristics and backgrounds of these breeds. And she tells the story of the dog from his prehistoric ancestors to today's highly bred animal.

STEREO HI-FI

The next series of articles will review the various components normally used in a stereo home music system. The heart of the music system is the stereo preamplifier-amplifier usually combined into one unit. This component contains all of the knobs necessary to provide the user complete control of volume, tone, choice of program material (that is selection of phono, radio, tape, etc.) and necessary equalization and acoustic compensation.

The function of the preamp-amp is to accept all of the components used for program source such as record player, radio FM-AM tuner, and tape recorder, and amplify these signals from their extremely low level to the high power levels required to operate the loudspeaker systems. The preamp section of the unit is the control section described in the first paragraph.

Modern amp-preamp units are of the stereo variety; that is, they really consist of two amp-preamps mounted on one chasis with one set of controls instead of two separate sets of controls. The stereo amp-preamp, usually called an integrated amplifier, feeds sound signals into two speaker systems.

Integrated amplifiers range in price from approximately $90.00 to $300.00. Visit our Hi-Fi Stereo store for more information and demonstration of the integrated amplifiers.

You, Too, Can Have Fall Color

Just Rely On Berried Shrubs As Brighteners

If there's fault to be found with California's climate, it would have to be in the lack of fall foliage color it produces in our gardens. Unlike gardeners in the East we have to scratch for bright leaves at this time of year.

There's never a lack of Holiday decor, however, when you grow the colorful berried shrubs that thrive in these parts. And the gardener who relies heavily on them will be rewarded.

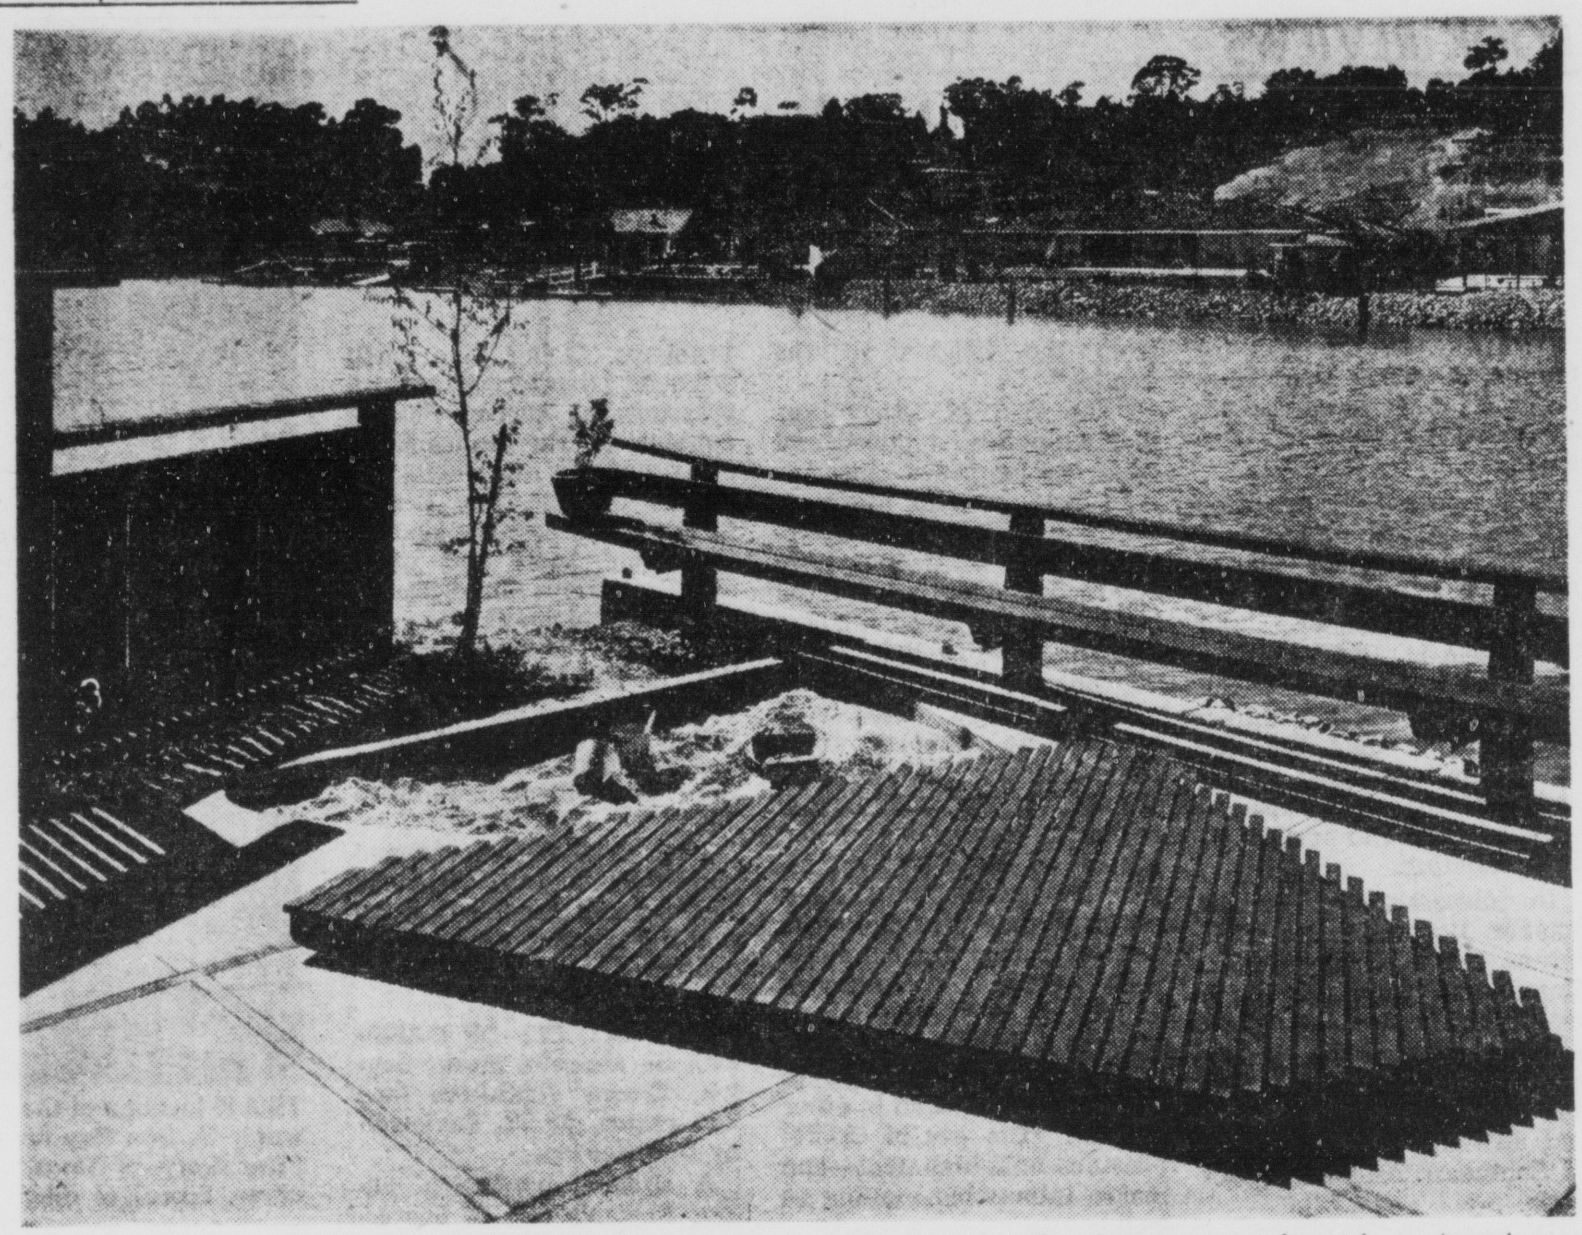
Pyracanthas—those prolific shrubs — produce bright berries by the ton. Cotoneasters are less bountiful but no less colorful when their overall mass is considered. Hollies love our climate and such lesser lights as Heavenly Bamboo or our native Christmas Berry are also welcome additions to the autumn scene.

Given the choice of one only of the above, you'd have to choose Pyracantha. By planting several of its many varieties you can have berries through many months. The orange-berries Pyracanthas start toward the end of summer and the later reds are still showing color well into the new year. Visit a nurseryman's showyard this month and choose Pyracanthas while you can see the berry colors.

Cotoneasters are less vivid than Pyracantha and therefore less adapted for cutting, but a screen of the tall Silver Leaf Cotoneaster can provide a background of color to the entire garden. You could build a fall garden around it.

Holly for your Christmas wreath or mantelpiece is available in so many different forms it's a good idea to seek advice from your nurseryman as to the varieties best suited to your garden. Certainly English Holly is the best known, but the showy Buford's Holly is better adapted to some areas.

Heavenly Bamboo contributes berries and some vividly colored foliage to the fall garden, and both are excellent for indoor decor. As for the Christmas Berry, it is one of the Yule season's most decorative contributors. You can cut it in the wilds, but why not have it in your garden. It makes an excellent border shrub during the months when its berries are absent.



ONE INTERESTING FEATURE of the Stan Carlson garden on the San Rafael Canal, designed by Katy and Paul Steinmetz, is the sandbox which can be covered to keep out animals. The Steinmetzes planned a slatted cover that is light in weight yet sturdy enough to support a person. And when it covers the sandbox, it lends an interesting texture to the garden area. Plants For Dried Bouquets May Be Found In Your Backyard

The use of dried plant material for fall and winter bouquets is an American tradition. And it has carried over into California despite the fact we can cut fresh color through 12 months of the year. We make our annual late fall treks into the country in search of dried pots and grasses for the Thanksgiving table.

All too often, though, Californians overlook possibilities in our own backyards. So many flowers can be cut and dried for use in bouquets, either in conjunction with the natives we gather or by themselves.

How many of you might think of drying Zinnias and Larkspurs or Marigolds! Probably not many at all. Yet all of these and many more can be cut from every garden, dried by hanging upside down and used in table centerpieces.

The most useful of all flowers for drying is the Fernleaf Yarrow. Its flat yellow heads fade to the burnished color of old gold and last forever and a day. You can plant it now for cutting next summer.

Hydrangeas are also number one candidates for drying. The massive heads of either pink, blue or green Hydrangea flowers make extra special arrangements when dried. These, too, can be planted now for cutting next summer.

English Lavender is not the showiest of flowers, but its use in dried arrangements imparts the most heavenly of fragrances. The common Strawflowers, or Everlastings if you prefer, are also wonderful when dried.

The commonest way of drying cut flowers for decoration —and certainly the method recommended for beginners —is simply to cut the flowers at the height of their bloom and hang them upside down in a well ventilated room. A garage, attic or basement will do, so long as it is dry.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Do not lift Dahlias or late Gladiolus until after the tops have ripened off. A few will take their time in doing this.
- Bermuda grass lawns may be raked vigorously with a steel rake and seeded over to a winter rye grass which should keep them green.
- Unwanted roses should be removed now to make way for new varieties next month. Turn the old soil well and work in plenty of steer manure.
- Plant Cyclamen to replace Tuberous Begonias — in pots or in the ground.
- Prune Geraniums back hard if you haven't already. Move pot bound Geraniums up to a large pot size.

Eye-Catching Space Savers

In gardens of limited space, espaliered plants are often a necessity. But need alone should never dictate their use, for you can share the pleasure of their company in gardens of any size.

Espaliered plants are eye catchers—always interesting, often beautiful in the patterns they form against fence or wall And the gardener who creates a unique design is definitely a garden artist of sorts.

Beginners who would grow their own espaliered shrubs are not advised to start from scratch unless they've had some experience in training shrubs through pruning. Much better that they cut their teeth on shrubs already started in espalier form. Every nurseryman offers these shrubs—usually good-sized in five-gallon cans.

HERE'S WHERE Sir Francis Drake, according to many historians, sought shelter in June of 1579. Now Drake's Bay Estates (circle shows location) marks the first man-made improvement of the historic locale in the nearly four centuries since its discovery. Homes are already going up in the new residential and recreational community.

Homes Are Going Up Along Drake's Bay

For the first time in the nearly four centuries since Sir Francis Drake legendarily careened the Golden Hind on its sandy shores, beautiful Drake's Bay is now the scene of a spectacular new residential and recreational development.

Along the rolling hillsides overlooking the crescent haven and down the white stretch of Limantour Spit, across from the famed white cliffs of Pt. Reyes, homesites are being sold to those who would live in the quiet solemnity of one of nature's masterpieces.

The developers, Drake's Beach Estates, Inc., a group of Marin County businessmen, are firm in proclaiming their intent to create a usable beauty spot without marring a natural setting. Their aim, they say, is actually to enhance the beauty that is already there.

Drake's Bay Estates is a 10-year dream of the firm's originators. Negotiations leading to incorporation were begun in 1956 and completed last

THE VIEW is always worth time and attention at Drake's Bay Estates. In top photo William Watt, left, shows visitors the view from one of the homes under construction. year. Early this year, homesites were laid out and sales started. To date, nearly 100 sites, from 7,500 square feet to a half-acre in size, have been purchased — mostly by Marinites.

CHARLES E. Cody, California Spray Chemical Co. executive, and his wife, San Rafael residents, have the distinction of being the first to build a residence at the historic locale. Their rustic weekend home was furnished and occupied by them last month. Two other homes are nearing completion and two more have just been started.

Site purchasers — mostly persons desiring weekend, summer or winter, or retirement homes — must arrange for their own construction. But basic architectural plans are provided by the Estates management, if desired.

"Drake's Bay Estates," says the corporation's spokesman, Benjamin P. Bonelli, attorney, "will provide a striking example of the beauty that can be achieved when imagination and ingenuity are coupled with a fabulous natural setting."

The "setting" is now being "enhanced," he said, by creation of a 25-acre fresh water fishing and sailing lake, development of a salt water lagoon for docks and waterside living, a 70-acre pasture for owners' saddle horses, and miles of picturesque bridle trails over the Estates' 1,100-acre ranch.

HOMESITE purchasers automatically become members of "Drake's Beach Club" which eventually will offer four acres of beach pleasures plus a yacht harbor. A bayside golf course is also on the planning board. Members will have private access to a five-mile-long stretch of beach — described as having "the whitest sand and bluest water on the Pacific Coast."

Construction was completed last month on an earth dam across a year-around stream, to create the fresh water lake which will soon be stocked with bass.

A five-mile access road over Inverness Ridge — from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near the town of Inverness—has been fully paved, as have all roads within the development.

The complete water system is in, and telephones and electrical services have been installed in the first homes.

SOME 50 acres in the hillside subdivision have been converted into 81 homesites, selling for $4,250 and up. About 25 acres of Limantour Spit — dramatic finger of white beach which divides a four mile stretch of Drake's Bay from an interior lagoon—provide 88 homesites which are selling for between $7,500 and $10,000.

Apparently the biggest attraction of the new development has been the rare combination of a rugged "get-away-from-it-all" locale with accessibility. The Estates are an easy 45-minute drive from San Rafael, for example, by way of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Olema and Point Reyes Station. The turn-off over Inverness Ridge is a short distance beyond Point Reyes Station.

Yet when one is a Drake's Bay Estates, he feels as if he were "a thousand miles from nowhere." Before him are the famed white cliffs, the sweeping curve of the Bay, the quiet hills and the wild surf — a combination with a special lure for many.

DREDGING OPERATIONS are under way at Drake's Bay Estates to create this fresh-water lake only a few hundred feet from the beach. It will be suitable for swimming and small boating. And not far away from the lake is a salt-water lagoon which will be widened and deepened for boating and fishing. A third landlocked body of water, a fresh-water lake of 25 acres, is being created at the north end of the Estates and will be stocked with bass.
